NEBRASKA DEFEATS KEARNEY WITH EASE

PEDAGOGUES OUTCLASSED BY COACH STIEHM'S MEN.

NEW PITCHER PROVES A SUCCESS

Beckoff Holds Normalites Well in Hand, While His Teammates Bat Out Victory—Score 9 to 2.

Kearney Normal proved fruit for the Nebraska baseball team yesterday afternoon, the Cornhuskers winning 9 to 2. Stiehm tried out a new twirler, Beckoff, and the newcomer hurled splendid ball. In only one inning, the second, did he manifest any signs of weakening. In this session the Pedagogues scored their only runs.

Purdy pitched the eighth inning and Rodman finished the game. Haskell and Underwood were the fielding stars. The latter's unassisted double play was one of the best features of the contest. Both Oliver and Underwood hit for three bases, the fleet little center fielder also poling an opportune single. Neither team hit hard and both made frequent errors. The score:

Notes of the Game.

Stiehm now has a quintet of pretty good hurlers in Rodman, Schmidt, Purdy, Beckoff and Schmr. In fact, the team seems well equipped in every department.

Harte did not show very good form behind the bat, as he seemed nervous. However, the Normalites did not take many liberties with his pegging arm.

The visitors displayed plenty of ginger, but played rank ball at times. They made almost as many errors of

NEBRASKA IN BAD SHAPE

M'GOWAN AND RACELY NOT IN GOOD CONDITION FOR THE MEET TODAY.

With McGowan, Nebraska's hope in the quarter and half, carrying a stiff leg which may cut down his speed considerably, and with Racely, the sprinter, whose work is important on the relays and dashes, still bruised as the result of the bad spill he sustained at Drake, a spill which cost Nebraska her chances in the half-mile relay, the chances for Nebraska in today's meet with Ames are not of the brightest.

The only ray of light on the situation is caused by the announcement that Hastings will be able to enter the high jump. This man looks like the best leaper Nebraska has had in some seasons and he may be able to retrieve the Cornhuskers some points which were not counted on.

The mile race will bring the captains of both teams together. Anderson of Nebraska is considered the best miler, when in form, in the colleges, with the exception of Jones of Cornell, world's amateur champion. He is conceded a very good chance for the Olympic tryouts. Farquhar, the Ames captain, is also a star and is trained to the minute to accomplish the feat of beating Anderson, who always rounds into form slowly and who will probably not smash any records Saturday. The race should be one of the prettiest ever held in this city.

The list of officials for the meet has been announced by Coach Stiehm as follows:

Referee and starter, Dr. R. G. Clapp.
Announcer, Rob Hawley.
Timers, Condra, Dayton, Bailey.
Judges of finish, Maxey, Cornell, Wells, Dobbs.
Field judges, Skinner, Tuckerman, Collins, Hunter.
Clerk of course, Reynolds.
Scorers, O. Frank, Carl Ganz, Sam Carrier.
Inspectors, Frankforter, Weise.
Manager, E. D. Eager.

A Serious Hoax.

The sight of a white shrouded figure whose head came off and rolled on the floor was too much for a Chicago undergraduate and he suffered a nervous breakdown. The hoax was perpetrated by other students a cabbage serving as a head. The faculty is now conducting an investigation with expulsion as the possible conclusion.

MANY INVITATIONS ORDERED.

Seniors Order Thousand Leather and Two Thousand Paper Ones.

The ordering of the senior invitations, which ceased last Friday, was unusually heavy this year. Chairman Leonard reports that approximately one thousand leather and two thousand paper invitations were ordered.

The number of announcements sold has not yet been estimated, but in all probability will exceed fifteen hundred. Inasmuch as the invitations are being printed in the East, which will require considerable time for their delivery, no more orders for them can be received; the announcements, however, are in the hands of a local printer and can be ordered for several days yet.

SIXTY FARM GRADUATES

DEAN DAVENPORT OF ILLINOIS AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL DELIVERS ADDRESS.

Sixty graduates received certificates at the commencement exercises of the School of Agriculture of the State University last night in Memorial hall. Dean Eugene Davenport of the Illinois College of Agriculture delivered the commencement address, speaking on "Agriculture as a Career." The commencement was the tenth annual.

The School of Agriculture chorus furnished the music for the program, singing three numbers, "O, Be Joyful in the Lord," "Song of the Vikings," and "Our Nebraska." The Rev. I. F. Roach pronounced the invocation. Besides the presentation of the certificates, state military commissions, earned by the officers in the senior class in the cadet regiment, were presented.

Those who received degrees were as follows:

Adams, Orra Scott; Beebe, Henry Curtis; Bern, Carl Elmer; Boslaw, Frances; Campbell, Arthur Webster; Coupland, William Cressy; Croft, Paul Henry; Delano, Lois Elsie; Fishback, Ethel Grace; Ford, Edna Euphemia; Gage, James Wendell; Gingrich, Fred Jacob; Goffe, Jay Emory; Graff, Raymond Chester; Hansen, Veda Laurenza; Hill, Charles William; Hillis, Richard Gilbert; Koch, Edwin Franklin; Huston, Harry Edwin; Johnson, Gladys; Johnson, Herbert Lewis; Johnson, Roy Chester; Johnston, Forrest Raymond; Jones, Arian Hempel; Jones, Henry Albert; Jones, William Thomas; Keuten, Diedrich; Kindig, Albert Sidney; Layton, Iva Marie; Liebers, Hedwig Antonia; Lindberg, Frederick Wilhelm; Lindberg, Elnor Spurgeon; Luckey, Hattie Franke; Lynn, Laura Marie; McCarthy, Joseph Thomas; McDonald, Allen Herbert; Major, Alford Monroe; Marshall, Lella Fern; Miller, John Louman; Moore, Robert Leo; Nelson, Edwin Clark; Novotny, Jaroslav; Ollis, Ruth Eleanor; Otto, Homer N.; Otto, Roy Basting; Paulus, Frederick William; Phillipsen, Moldt Henry; Pickering, John Philip; Ring, Susannah; Roy, Edwin Earl; Schoenbeck, Helen Mary; Sell, Albert Emil; Sjogren, John Wilhelm; Smith, Charles Ray; Snyder, Russell Charles; Swanson, Philbert Oscar; Thompson Benjamin Harrison; Thrapp, Elmo Edward; Trotter, Harley Elijah; Zeller, Florence Lucille.

DELTS ENTERTAIN BISHOPS.

Churchmen Visit Fraternity Brothers at Local Chapter.

Delta Tau Delta entertained the following men at dinner Thursday: Bishop William F. Anderson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Bishop Ed. S. Hughes, San Francisco, Calif.; Bishop William A. Quayle, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Rev. W. O. W. Reynolds, Greenwood, Nebr., and Dr. Reverend C. M. Shepherd, Lincoln, Nebr.

The bishops are graduates of Ohio Wesleyan College and are here in the interest of the Methodist church. Bishop Hughes was for several years president of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and the other bishops always enjoy visits to chapters of their fraternity.

INTER-FRAT COUNCIL FACES BUSY MEETING

DATES FOR BANQUET AND DANCE WILL BE CHOSEN.

HOW PENDING REFORMS ARE VIEWED

Requirement of House Mothers Not Considered Seriously, But Sentiment Differs as to Sophomore Pledging.

A meeting of the inter-fraternity council will be held Monday night, when many important matters affecting the Greeks will come up for consideration.

As only the active men will be present, perhaps the most important of the matters will be to decide on some definite date for the inter-fraternity banquet and the Pan-Hellenic dance.

Perhaps something will be said about sophomore pledging, but this will doubtless be of minor consideration at this meeting.

Depends on Alumni Members.

With the reorganization of the inter-fraternity council which recently resulted in the doubling of the alumni representation in that body there has come an animated interest and much speculation among the Greeks as to what the increased alumni influence will have on future inter-fraternity reforms. If the attendance of the graduate men can be enforced to a greater extent than has heretofore been possible and their interest stimulated to a higher degree, the balance of influence in the body will, of course, be entirely in their hands. The main question of interest seems to be whether the new body will attempt reforms that may be distasteful to the active chapters or, from their point of view, impractical.

Among the more practical and considerate active men the new reform has met with no very great opposition. In fact, it is very generally conceded that the change has introduced into the council a maturity of judgment and degree of experience along lines upon which the body will be required to legislate that have been heretofore noticeable more for their absence than presence.

Don't Like Eastern Plan.

As to the changes which it is rumored the new council will eventually introduce, many and varied are the opinions expressed. The requirement of house mothers and the combining of fraternity accounts under the authority of a single secretary are considered very lightly and are looked upon as useless and by some as ridiculous, in spite of the fact that such methods are largely used in eastern schools.

As to the sophomore pledging rule, which is undoubtedly the most discussed "reform" among the fraternities at Nebraska, there is the greatest possible divergence of opinion, and the preponderance seems apparently to be on neither side. On one hand it is claimed that three years is not long enough to be in a fraternity, that a man should be in a fraternity his first year in school because he gets more benefit in that year than any other, that the rush week pledging rule is at present broken enough as it is and that the sophomore pledging rule would offer more of a temptation to break the rule than at present be-
