

GIRLS ATHLETIC AMBITIONS ATTRACT MALE POPULATION

INGENIOUS METHODS ARE RESORTED TO IN ORDER TO GAIN ADMISSION.

Nebraska co-ed received hearty support in their track meet from the masculine element in school. In fact, had the gates been thrown open to men a large amount of money would probably have been taken in.

Many wonderful methods were resorted to by the inventive youths in order to gain the coveted admission to the meet. Men, who had never before shown any interest in athletics, seemed suddenly possessed of an inordinate desire to see a "sixty-yard dash."

The Nebraskan office was besieged by applications of would-be reporters who wished to "cover" the meet. The size of the band was increased about fifty per cent by the addition of new musicians, some of whom did not know a snare drum from a clarinet.

Enthusiastic cheers and shouts of encouragement came from the crowded windows of the engineering building, where, for the first time in history, no one cut his lab work.

"Interest in athletics is certainly not dying out at Nebraska," said one co-ed. "Any time the athletic board needs money, all they have to do is to hold a girls' meet and they'll get a big crowd of men, at least."

DR. AVERY SPEAKS TO OMAHA HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ON HIGHER EDUCATION.

To the two hundred and seventy-five members of the graduating class of the Omaha high school Chancellor Avery delivered an address on Thursday morning setting forth the advantages of higher education. He told what the large universities of the west were doing as compared to the eastern universities and he mentioned in particular some of the advantages derived at Nebraska.

"The average man without a college education is like a ten-horse power engine," declared the chancellor in the course of his address. "It is the man who has the college education that can climb the steep hill of success, while the man of ten horse-power learning must climb in the lower altitudes."

The chancellor was induced to make the trip to Omaha through the efforts of Omaha alumni in the University, and especially by the Omaha club which is striving to bring more Omaha students to Nebraska instead of their going to eastern schools.
