

KANSAS LINE WEAK

FRESHMEN MAKE CONSISTENT GAINS IN SCRIMMAGE.

HAVING TROUBLE WITH PASS

Hospital List of Jayhawkers Receives Addition in Rambo. Fullback—Preparing Now for Oklahoma Game Saturday.

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 31.—Special to Daily Nebraskan, by E. B. Hackney.)—The varsity had an off night last night, and the brand of football displayed in the scrimmage against the freshman was what Coach Frank correctly labeled as "rotten." The line showed up miserably and allowed the freshmen backs to tear through for big gains on more than one try.

The main trouble, however, with the varsity seems to be at playing the forward pass style of game. At breaking up the opponents' flips the varsity has improved to some extent, but their attempts at using this style of play were lamentably weak. Sometimes it is the fault of the man making the pass, but when the pass is a good one the player usually drops it.

The fullback position is also causing some worry. Rambo, one of the best men at that position, joined the hospital list last night as a result of a broken cartilage in his chest, received while carrying the ball. It is doubtful whether he will be able to play Saturday.

This means that unless Miller and Bowran improve Stowe will have to be used next Saturday against the Sooners. Jackson, a new recruit, showed up well in that position last night, and may prove a find later in the season.

The quarterback position is still unsettled, though it looks as if Magill will start against the Oklahomans. Parker, one of the most dependable quarters, has been shifted to halfback. This may or may not be permanent. However, despite his lack of weight, he showed up well against the freshman.

The line is the same as that used against the Aggies and unless someone is injured will probably remain the same.

Scandinavian Meeting Postponed.

The regular meeting of the Scandinavian Club, which was to have been held Monday night, has been postponed a week on account of the election. The next program, Monday, 11, will be a Grieg program.

ILLINOIS FOOTBALL IN BALANCE

Following Recent Riot the Authorities Are Considering the Abolishment of the Popular Sport.

As a result of the recent riot in Urbana, Ill., when 1,000 students of the University of Illinois destroyed much property and were only dispelled by the police, football in that institution may be abolished. The riot came after a game with Indiana and following the custom of previous years the students celebrated their victory by storming the theatres of the city. The mob was at last brought to a standstill after several people had been injured, by an appeal from the manager of athletics.

Two students have been expelled from the university and the question of abolishing football from the list of college athletics, or refusing to schedule games which lead to such intense rivalry is now before the authorities of the school.

The students, having had time to think the matter over and see its far reaching effects, are now expressing regret that the celebration was held. Letters from all over the country have been received from Illinois grads expressing displeasure that such an uprising should take place, and such a storm of protest has risen from every one interested in Illinois that the general student opinions will be against such a performance in the future.
