NOW FOR SOONERS

STIEHM GETTING TEAM IN SHAPE FOR SATURDAY'S GAME.

EMPHASIS LAID ON SHIFTS

Dope From Oklahoma Promises Extremely Fast Contest—In Much Better Shape than in Early Part of Season.

Coach Stiehm, after having disposed of Kansas in a most satisfactory manner, is now preparing his men for the Oklahoma game here next Saturday. All of the men came out of the great Jayhawker contest in good shape except for a few minor bruises.

Yesterday afternoon was a strenuous one for the varsity, for they were kept busy from 4 o'clock until 6 with scrimmage. The coach is trying to develop a couple of men for new positions which they will probably have to fill next Saturday. Special emphasis is being laid on team work and the working of the shifts.

The Oklahoma game promises to be a great game, for it was but a couple of weeks ago that they defeated Kansas by a small score and held the strong Missouri team to two touchdowns near the beginning of the season. In Courtright the Sooners have a demon when it comes to kicking from placement. Last Saturday he kicked his fifth place kick of the season, and his toe is expected to figure in Saturday's game.

The Cornhuskers ought to give the classiest exhibition of football that has been seen for some time. It being the last game of the season, all the trick plays and formations that have been under cover will be exposed, and the season closed in grand style after having won another Missouri Valley Championship.

News from Camp Owen.

The Sooner football team will leave for Lincoln in a special car Wednesday prepared to give the husky Nebraskans a stiff fight in the first game in which the two teams have ever opposed each other in the history of their schools.

Oklahoma University defeated the heavy Oklahoma A. & M. team on Boyd Field Saturday by the score of 16 to 0, and the Sooner players came out of the game in good condition for the Nebraska contest. Only one man is seriously injured, who will probably not be out in a suit again this season. This is Hott, veteran tackle, who is one of Oklahoma's best linemen. Reeds, the big Sooner halfback, showed up well Saturday in punting, line-bucking, and running interference, and is expected to do much against the northern team. Courtright, too, is a fast and shifty runningmate of Reeds', and is expected to do much in returning punts.

The Sooners are much lighter than Nebraska, and will have to depend on speed if they win the game. Coach Owen's program for the week's preparation will probably be to drill more speed into his light Sooners.—Jimmy

MUSEUM GETS NEW COLLECTION

Relics of Prehistoric Americans Unearthed—Rough Scrapers and Implements of War Sent Here.

The State Museum has just received from Prof. N. H. Winchell of Minnesota a valuable collection of ancient Indian relics representing early Neolithic and Palaeolithic man. The early Neolithic man dates geologically between the Wisconsin and Kansan drift epochs, while Palaeolithic man dates back to the pre-Kansan drift. These relics were collected in the Kansas valley during the past summer by Professor Winchell himself. Like all early implements, they are characterized by crudity in chipping. Very few of the implements are properly formed, and all of the chipping is of a crude order as compared with the flint implements of later Indians. The collection consists of rough scrapers, hoes, flint tomahawks, of exceedingly crude design, etc. They are sent in exchange with material belonging to the collection of Hon. Charles H. Morrill, secured in the great Indian quarries, called the Spanish Diggings in Wyoming, near Rawhide Butte, which have been visited several times by members of the University and also by Dr. M. H. Everett, who has large collections from the regions.

CLASS FOOTBALL LOOKS UP

Junior-Senior Game to Be Played at 10 o'Clock Tomorrow Morning.

The managers and captains of the class football teams have been spending a great deal of time the past week in coaching their respective teams. The freshmen were eliminated from the contest last Saturday and the sophomores will play the winners of the junior-senior contest for the championship.

The time of the junior-senior contest has been changed from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 10 o'clock in the morning. This was done in order to allow the varsity to have the field in the afternoon. The junior team has been working hard the last couple of days for the game, which promises to be a good one. Rodman has been at work with the seniors for the past couple of weeks, and has his proteges in good trim.

Admission to the game will be 10 cents in American money, China money barred. The following men have charge of the selling of tickets, and you can procure one from them: Ankeny, Meier, Zumwinkle, Pettis, Kruse and Rodman. Everybody get a ticket and come and root for your class team and show them that you are alive.—Jimmy.

The Delta Chi chapter entertained the following the past few days: Earl Powell and S. V. Shonka of David City, M. O. Bates, R. A. Tibbetts, J. Bednar, Earl Trump, G. W. McGowan, A. M. Hare, W. K. Hodgkins, G. T. Gibson, Dr. B. W. Bates, G. D. Carrington and F. E. Beckman.

CHANCELLOR AT CONVENTIONS

Visits Virginia, Georgia and Washington, D. C., and later Chicago—Delivered Many Addresses.

During the month of November Chancellor Avery has been making an extended trip throughout the eastern cities. Leaving here on the 5th, the Chancellor went first to Philadelphia, where he attended the annual convention of the Association of Universities of America, to which Nebraska was recently elected to membership. After a short stay in Virginia he went to Atlanta to attend a meeting of the American Association of Agricultural Schools and Colleges, and later to Washington, D. C., in which city he spoke at the annual meeting of the American Association of State Universities. Leaving Washington yesterday, Dr. Avery is now on his way to Chicago to deliver an address to the Nebraska alumni at the University Club in that city. He will return home from Chicago about the 22d.

ROBINSPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Noted Y. M. C. A. Worker and Lecturer Gives an Interesting Talk.

Raymond Robin delivered a very interesting and pleasing address at convocation Tuesday before a small but appreciative audience. His subject was "Actual Power." Mr. Robin pointed out the effect that circumstances sometimes have an individual power. He emphasized the value of team work and the fact that one gets out of anything just as much and no more than they put in it. The lecturer's advice was "to choose the lesser power for the time and the greater power for the future, then by keeping everlastingly at it achieve success."

UNIFORMS OUT TONIGHT

Soldier Boys Don Full Regalia Under Protest—New Commissioned Officers Put on Sabres.

The first official appearance of the cadets in uniform will be this afternoon at the regular drill hour. At this time the cadets of the first battalion, who have just been fully supplied with uniforms, will don them for the first time. All the officers of this battalion, commissioned and non-commissioned, field officers, and the staff officers, will be expected to appear in all the glory of their new regalia and official dignity.

The men of the other battalions have not yet been supplied with uniforms, but it is expected that all cadets will be properly equipped at the last of the week. As soon as they have been supplied they will also renounce civilian clothes for all time during the drill hour.

The new uniforms will add much to the appearance of the men, who are rapidly losing their slouchy movements and are beginning to realize that snap and precision are the necessary requirements for the well-disciplined company.—C. N. B.

STUDENTS IN TROUBLE

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON STIRRED OVER TAINTED GIFT.

STUDENT PAPER IS SUPPRESSED

Fifty-one Students Face Expulsion Because They Criticize Authorities for Accepting Blethen Bells—Question of Doctrine.

Fifty-one students of the University of Washington are facing expulsion because they demand that a gift which they declare is tainted, from a Seattle editor to the university, has not been returned to its donor.

The president of the university has suppressed the student daily, has told the student body that they can not criticize the faculty, the regents, or even the governor for their actions. The students are backed by a large part of the faculty and many social reform organizations.

The fight has become a question of the teaching of progressive doctrines of social reform in the university.

It is probable that the fifty-one students will resign from the university and conduct the fight as private citizens.

Alden J. Blethen, editor of the Seattle Daily Times, presented the university with a set of chimes valued at $12,000. The fifty-one students, headed by "W" men and leaders of the student governing board, immediately declared that Blethen's connection with the vice interests of Seattle, as brought out in court actions, and his connection with traction interests in Minneapolis, made his gift an unfit one to present to a university which they declare "should be the strongest force to the things that which Mr. Blethen and his paper represent."

Students in Protest.

So they prepared a protest and prepared to print it in the student daily. But President Kane of the university stopped the presses and demanded that the letter be torn from the forms. This the editors of the paper refused to do, and the paper did not go to press, so the students got out a dodger explaining Blethen's record and their position. This was signed by the fifty-one, among whom are several girls. The president then called in a committee of the student body and laid down the following rulings:

"The teaching of progressive ideas in the university, which has resulted in the present outbreak against the acceptance of the Blethen chimes, must cease.

"There is to be absolute censorship of the student opinion column in the University of Washington daily."

Engineers Open Sale on Tickets.

Chairman Wirt announces that tickets to the engineering hop will go on sale to the whole student body today. Up to this time no tickets have been sold except to engineers, and but very few are left. Eighty-seven tickets were validated and but seventy-five of those went on sale.
