

PALLADIAN BANQUET SATURDAY

Active Members and Alumni Celebrate the Completion of Forty-One Years of Successful Existence.

CHANCELLOR AVERY TO PRESIDE

Saturday is to be a big day in the annals of the Palladian Literary Society, for their forty-first annual banquet is to be held on that day. Active Palladians and alumni to the number of eight or more, are to meet and celebrate the successful completion of this long term of years at the Lincoln Hotel.

The society was organized during the fall of the first year in the history of the school, and for many years occupied rooms on the third floor of University Hall. Some of the members during those first years tell stirring tales of the activity displayed in getting to the top of that same building, and of the difficulties under which they met while the society was still in the formative stage.

The present quarters of the society are in a splendid hall on the third floor of the Temple. There, except when important University functions prevent, meetings are held regularly on Friday nights, with enjoyable literary and social entertainments.

At the banquet Saturday night Chancellor Avery, an alumnus, will act as toastmaster, and Prof. Caldwell, also an alumnus, will be the guest of honor. Other Palladians who are expected to be present are Professors Wolfe, Stuff, Fossler and other members of the faculty, along with many men and women in the city and from out in the state. The active members, to the number of sixty-eight, will attend the banquet in a body.—M. V.

Where? Who? What?

Rumor has it that someone is printing something intended to disclose college life at Nebraska in its realities. It is said that startling facts concerning frats and sororities will be uncovered, much to their surprise, for the first time in the history of the school. The spot light is to be thrown on University society and the mystery connected with many social events will be printed in red. Mother Gossip assures us that this compilation of facts has been in the process of formation for some time, and that nearly every department in the University, especially the Athletic department, will be photographed for the inspection of the public eye. The Chancellor, it is reported, will receive Page One, the contents of which will not be divulged till next week, when the whole of the information will be off the press and ready for distribution over the state.—H. Ill Feeling Aroused.

A little bit of ill feeling crept into the meeting when Louis Meier sought to impugn the motives of those opposed to the resolution by declaring that they sought notoriety and opposed measures for the sake of opposing something. His statement was promptly challenged by Anan Raymond, who, having previously spoken against the resolution, asked for time to answer the more or less personal attack of the sophomore president.

At this juncture in the proceedings the motion was put and passed without serious opposition. The meeting was not well attended, but was none the less spirited, those present having a well-defined idea of what they wanted. As a result the speeches were short and uninvolved.—MeC.

AGS TO HEAR EUROPEAN WAYS.

The Agricultural Club will meet Saturday, Dec. 14, at 7:30 p. m., in the geography lecture room. A. E. Anderson, U. of N., '12, who spent four months studying European Agricultural methods, will talk on farming in Europe. There will also be a talk on the International Stock Show, and the members of the Stock Judging Team will receive their "N" fobs.
