FORESTERS MAKE GOOD.

Friday morning the Nebraska State Journal contained an article which stated that of the fifty odd graduates in the Forestry department but three are actively engaged in forest work. This mistake, no doubt, is due to a misprint. There are only seven graduates out of forty-seven who are not connected with forestry work. The majority of these forty are in the government forest service, while the remainder are teachers, or in the nursery business.

Recently many of the graduates have gone to Arizona and the southern states as forest assistants, but the earlier men went to the western states so now almost every forested region in the United States has a Nebraskan forester. Wherever the men have gone they have made good and today the department of forestry in this institution ranks with the best. W. F.

WHO? WHAT? WHERE?

Solved.

The cat is out of the bag at last, so there is no further need of keeping the student in the dark. The big mystery is no other than a cross between a Cornhusker and a University Calendar, containing all the big points of interest to the students and faculty, featured by campus views of the buildings and Varsity activities. Another feature is the complete schedule of all basketball, baseball and track events. Even the Fussler is not neglected as all Hops and Greek Proms are listed.

It is a recognized fact that Nebraska lacks traditions and it is hoped that the students will aid this endeavor to place Nebraska on a par with Eastern institutions which have long followed this custom of putting out Varsity Calendars at Christmas time. The Calendar in itself is a beauty and is such as will make an admirable Xmas gift. Simple and neat and at the same time inexpensive, the University Calendar makes its initial debut into Nebraska student life. —T. E. S.

Second Big Event of Club Takes Form of Christmas Entertainment, With Santa to Preside Over Revels.

The second big event of the University Girls' Club is to be held Saturday evening of this week. A Christmas party is to form the entertainment of the evening, and the committee is planning to furnish fun for a large number of the co-eds.

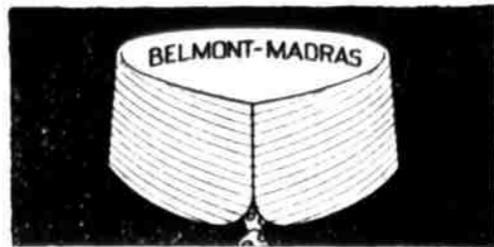

A varied program has been arranged. The Christmas idea will be carried out by a Christmas tree of vast dimensions, with a certified, licensed Santa to distribute its gifts. Refreshments will form a substantial portion of the program.

The chorus will give a musical program, after which fortune telling and dancing will end the evening's entertainment.—G. S.
