

MID YEAR EXAMS COME SOON

Dreaded Events Scheduled to Appear
In Few Days—Not to Interfere
With Regular Classes.

NEW SEMESTER BEGINS FEB. 1

Final examinations for the first semester are to be given in the next few weeks if the instructors decide that such are desirable. No extra time will be allowed for these and they can not be more than one hour long, although they may stretch over a week of recitation periods.

The semester will end the first day of February, the last four days being taken up by registration of classes for the new semester. No classes will be interrupted for this work, but will continue up to the last day of the semester schedule. Mid-winter commencement will be held, but the plans for this have not been completely made up and they will not be given out for several days.

Class work for the second half year will commence on Monday, Feb. 3rd.

GOSPEL TEAMS SUCCESSFUL

Y. M. C. A. Men Report Very Enthusiastically of Team Work
Over the State.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. Gospel teams during vacation is reported as having been very successful. Four teams, each composed of five men, were sent out to Wahoo, Arlington, Milford, and Maxwell. On Dec. 31 the men gathered from their respective homes and places where they were visiting, ready to begin their meetings the next day. Except in one or two cases every man reported for work on his team.

Besides doing definite evangelistic work, these teams gave the people in the communities where they carried on their work, a conception of the strong type of Christian workers to be found in the University of Nebraska. More so from the fact that these men are not preachers, for it brought before the people a type of activity going on in the University, which is not as widely known as some of the other activities.

Not only did these teams hold meetings every night but they made it a point to call on as many of the homes as was possible, especially where there were men and boys. This, together with their being entertained at the homes in the communities in which they were, brought them in close contact with the people among whom they worked. On returning the men reported the success of their work and also that they were treated very cordially by the people they met.—I. K. F.
