JUNIORS SCORE A SUCCESS

Hop of Upper Classmen Less Crowded Than Former Ones.—Department Store Tags Used.

The Junior hop, given by the class of 1914 Friday night, was a decided success. The crowd was limited to one hundred couples and the floor was not as crowded as it has been at some of the other hops of the season. The program which included sixteen dances was enlivened by good music and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

The further searchings of the committee after means by which to keep out of the rooms couples who had no right to be there was evidenced by a new style of return check. Unlike its more simple predecessor of the Freshman hop, a plain red validated slip, the new tags were of the department store variety and were required to be worn on the coat lapels of the gentlemen. The effect was rather novel.

The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Condra, Professor and Mrs. Barker and Miss Ensign.

40,000 PASS THROUGH MAILS

Parcels Post System Proves Popular With Lincoln People—Office Does a Big Business.

With only eleven days of 1913 recorded as past history, Uncle Sam's New Year gift to the people has proven itself an immeasurable benefit and it will henceforth be recognized as the most economical means of sending large packages. Up to date 40,000 packages have been sent by parcels post from the Lincoln office.

Station A reports over 200 packages sent from that office. Less than one-fifth that many have been received.

Postal authorities have some difficulty in getting patrons to use the parcels stamps rather than the ordinary letter stamps.

KIOSK IS GOING UP SOON

Weather Machine To Be Set Up On Arrival of Granite Base From Vermont—To Be Painted Light Color.

For only a short time will questions about the weather serve as a handle to conversation for university students. All questions of this nature are to be answered officially by the kiosk which is to be erected on the campus as a present from the government. This little house will occupy a position immediately south of U Hall, where it will give out information as to weather conditions, both past and future.

Nearly all material for the erection of the kiosk is on the grounds and operations are suspended awaiting the delivery of the granite base. This has been made up in Vermont, and will be shipped from there within the next few days. The stone should arrive within nine days from the time of shipment and work will be resumed immediately upon its arrival. The shelter will be painted a light color so as to prevent super absorption of heat, which would unbalance the delicate instruments.

PERSHING ENTHUSE AT SMOKER

Contract to Liven Work of Company and Interest Freshmen.

The Pershing Rifles held an enthusiastic smoker at the Silver Lynx house Saturday evening, at which future plans were discussed. Several new stunts were considered for arousing more interest among the freshmen in the work of the company, which is carried out according to plans ought to make the Pershings one of the liveliest organizations in school. The club also went on record as favoring a most complete representation of the activities of the Military department in the 1913 Cornhusker.

DEFEAT COTNER 28 TO 18

STIEHM SHOWS OLD TIME SKILL AS BASKET BALL COACH IN INITIAL CONTEST.

HASKELL THROWS FIVE BASKETS

Captain Carrier Hawkins and Hyde Do Nice Work.—Fine Team Work Constantly in Evidence.

Cotner was overwhelmed by Stiehm's huskies Saturday evening to the tune of 28 to 18. The victory was clean cut and more decisive than the score indicates.

During the first half the Cornhusker squad consistently marched through the Cotnerites making some 25 of their entire total during this period.

Haskell played a brilliant game at forward registering 11 points all but one from the field. Captain Carrier also played a consistent game and to him was largely due the excellent team work which prevailed the entire evening.

At the beginning of the second half a line of substitutes was run in, thus accounting for the increase in the Cotner score. Hyde and Hawkins played well during this half.

As a whole the first appearance of the squad was one which predicts a most successful season. Especial interest points to the game with Minnesota in a few weeks. Some enthusiasts are prone to believe the Gophers will meet their Waterloo this year.

This week the Cornhuskers meet the strong ex-Uni team from Omaha on Friday evening and the Wesleyan squad last year's state champions the following night.
