INNOVATION FOR CADETS

SOLDIERS DESIRING MUSICAL TRAINING TO BE GIVEN PRIVILEGE OF CHORUS PRACTICE

REHEARSAL MONDAY EVENINGS

Many Have Been Deprived of Chorus Practice By Drill—New Class to Permit More To Register.

Men taking military work will be permitted to take chorus next semester by an innovation just introduced by Mrs. Raymond. This is to be a special rehearsal at 7 o'clock each Monday evening for all those who can not be present at the Monday and Wednesday 5:00 o'clock rehearsals. However, this will not excuse those taking it from the Friday afternoon chorus practice or special programs which still count as absences.

There will still be a limited number of men who may substitute the Monday and Wednesday chorus for drill on those days, but formerly this number was too small to mean that any reasonable number of men could enjoy the privilege of instruction under Mrs. Raymond. The new rehearsal on Monday night will remedy this and will probably induce a large number of men to register for this work the coming semester.

Those desiring to register for this instruction, which allows one hour university credit, should consult Mrs. Raymond from 4 to 5 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday or Friday of next week. If it is impossible to see her at these hours, a special appointment may be made by calling her at her home, B-2414.

OLD CARETAKER PASSES AWAY

The funeral of Jacob W. Frankforter, who died last Tuesday evening, occurred yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Frankforter has been employed on the university campus for the last twenty-two years, being custodian of the Mechanics Arts building at the time of his death.

Mr. Frankforter was the father of Clarence Frankforter, who is the instructor in the chemistry department of the University. He is also the brother of George B. Frankforter, dean of the School of Chemistry at Minnesota. He was sixty-eight years old. Interment was at Roca, Neb.

"Jake," as he was affectionately known among the students, was a great friend of the engineers. His death is sincerely mourned. More than 100 students contributed small sums toward buying a floral offering.

DELVES INTO EARLY PLAYLETS

Miss Mary E. Sullivan Writes Thesis for Degree of Ph.D., On Subject of "Court Masques of James I"

HAD INFLUENCE ON SHAKESPERE

"Court Masques of James I" and their influence on Shakespeare and the public theatres is the title and substance of a new monographical work prepared by Miss Mary E. Sullivan and presented to the University of Nebraska Graduate College for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, this month.

The "masque," a form of play upon which external influences had a decided effect, was a strong element in the theatrical world of Elizabethan times and during the reign of James I. Miss Sullivan has made an exhaustive study of the masques of these times and her thesis contains much of the original material. Stage arrangements, seating of audiences, and the various small details that go to make up both private and public theatrical efforts are included and all of these, along with the plots that were used in presenting the masques, have a direct influence on the Shakespearean dramas and aid the student in understanding these masterpieces. It was the hope of shedding a little light on the Shakespearean drama that Miss Sullivan undertook the work, and speaking as an authority on Shakespeare's works, Miss Sullivan states that she believes that these interesting masques had an influence on his work.

Plan of Wearing Corduroy Trousers Speeds Quickly to Engineering Society, which Favors Idea

NINETEEN ELECTED TO SOCIETY

At a meeting of the Engineering Society, Wednesday evening, the resolution passed by the Juniors inviting the Engineering Society to help start the custom of wearing corduroy trousers was enthusiastically accepted. As a result it is expected that all the engineering classes will soon appear in this regalia. The committee in charge will meet in the Blue Print office at 11:30 this morning. Because of this action, the Juniors will have another week to get their orders in, at Magee and Deemer's.

The Society voted in nineteen men as full members. The names of these men are to be posted on the society bulletin board in Mechanic Arts Hall. About thirty associate members who have not fulfilled the requirements for full membership, were dropped, but these men may, by attending three of the next four meetings, obtain full membership.

KOSMET PRIZE UNCLAIMED

NO SUITABLE MANUSCRIPT RECEIVED IN COMPETITION, 80 KLUB TO USE SCOTT'S PLAY

THE MATCHMAKERS TO BE GIVEN

Unclaimed Prize of $75 Will Be Added To Next Year's Offer—Tryouts In Temple Feb. 3 and 4 Open To All Students.

The Kosmet Klub competition for a suitable play did not succeed in procuring a suitable manuscript from the student body for its annual production this year and the competition closed last Friday with the offer still unclaimed. Although some meritorious manuscripts were submitted, none came up to the Klub's requirements.

However, the Klub will not be without a play for this reason, as Professor R. D. Scott has agreed to allow the use of a play recently composed by him, which was entirely satisfactory to the members of the Klub and which many say is the best play which has yet been attempted by this organization. The title of the opera is "The Matchmakers."

Good Prize Next Year.

For the reason that the offer of $75 was unclaimed by any one of the student body, the Klub has decided to apply this year's offer to that of next year. This means that the person handing in a favorable manuscript next year will receive the prize of two years' standing. The Klub has hopes of getting a very suitable production for the next year because of this additional remuneration.

Tryouts will be held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, February 3 and 4, at the Temple Theatre. All who wish to try out are urged to keep these dates in mind. Selections with which to try out will not be limited to the play selected but the party trying out may select any piece he chooses. Three minutes will be allowed to each one for the song and reading. Pieces for tryouts may be secured from any member of the Klub.
