VALLEY SERIES NEXT

STIEHM IS PREPARING MEN TO FIGHT FOR CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP NEXT WEEK.

JAYHAWKERS SOUTHERN CHAMP

Although No Game Is Scheduled With Kansas for This Year Cornhuskers Seem Fated to Meet Them.

With the basketball schedule within a week of completion Coach Stiehm has begun to train his men in the finer points of the game in anticipation of the Missouri Valley championship games which will be scheduled sometime in the first week of March.

Nebraska is the undisputed champion of the northern division. The Cornhuskers have defeated and completely outclassed every team they have met this year with the exception of Minnesota.

At present the champions of the southern division seems to be the Kansas Jayhawkers. They still have their hardest games left on the schedule however. On Tuesday night the 25th, they play Missouri, following which they play Washington at St. Louis, and on Friday the 28th, they play Washburn. If the Jayhawkers win these games they will be given the championship of the southern division.

But even at this rating they will not have the perfect record that the Cornhuskers have won. Nebraska has won both games they played with the Kansas Aggies by decisive scores. Out of four games played with the Aggies, Kansas won two. The Jayhawkers have also lost a couple of other minor games while the Cornhuskers have a perfectly clean slate up to date.

Should Kansas be given the championship it has been arranged that one of the championship games will be played in Lincoln and one at Lawrence, and if a third is necessary it will be played on neutral ground. According to the athletic management it may be necessary to charge a straight admission price of seventy-five cents to the championship series on account of the heavy expense incurred. No season tickets will be accepted as the management only guaranteed to admit season ticket owners to eight basketball games and already they have been admitted to ten games. As an example of the great loss sustained by bringing teams to play at Lincoln at the Drake games, only $107.50 was taken in at both games and the total expenses were over $150.

On Friday and Saturday night the Ames Aggies will play at Lincoln and on Saturday an informal dance will be given after the game, for university students only. Manager Guy Reed promises that this will be a good dance and if the gymnasium is not large enough the chapel will be opened up.

NOTICE.

All organizations must have pictures for Cornhusker taken before March 15.

CAN ENGINEERS PLAY BALL? DEFIANT CHALLENGE ISSUED

Mechanics Have Been Challenged By Electricians To Play Basketball.

A rumor has been going about the campus the last few days to the effect that the electrical engineers have challenged the mechanical engineers to play a game of basketball. So far the rumor has not been officially confirmed.

Assuming that the challenge may soon be forthcoming, the Mechanical Engineering Society at its last meeting decided to accept such challenge if it was given; the game to be played on some afternoon during "Engineers' Week." The rumor went further by saying that the electrical engineers considered themselves to have some noted players.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers wishes to have it known that they have among their members several professional men and some noted amateurs, and it is their purpose to prove their worth by accepting this challenge of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and carrying off the laurels on the day of combat.

STUDENTS FAR TOO YOUTHFUL

Medical Men Discuss Students at American Medical Association.

"We are a nation of educational spleen feeders. Our students are not matured when they enter college; consequently, college instructors often are but probation officers dealing with children."

Dr. Flexner of New York gave this message to the ninth annual conference of the American Medical Association on medical legislation and education at Chicago. His complaint that students who enter the American medical schools are not fully matured was echoed by other speakers.

Dr. Flexner further said: "Some of our institutions consume money as the sands of the Sahara absorb water—and they turn loose upon the public flocks of ill-trained practitioners."

President Harry Pratt Judson, of Chicago University, would so condense the elementary and high school training of the American youth that he would enter college at the age of nineteen or twenty. This would permit him to take more advanced courses before entering upon the study of medicine, he said.

TELLS OF PROGRESSIVE METHODS OF HIS FACTORY

Elasser of the National Cash Register Company Describes Means of Caring For Employees' Enjoyment.

Model industrial conditions that seemed too good to be true were shown on a large screen at convocation yesterday morning by the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio. With colored slides, and moving pictures, Mr. Elasser, of the company, showed the vast number of improvements that had been made since its founding, in 1882, which has increased the proficiency among the employees.

The company looks after the welfare of its ten thousand employees and families by providing proper ventilation, sanitation, and protection from accidents, as well as providing beautiful surroundings, vegetable gardens, recreation parks and athletic grounds in the vicinity of the plant. The company has done a great work in solving some of the economic problems of the day.

"The company did not do this work because they wanted to, but because they had to if they wish to get satisfactory work from the workmen," said Mr. Elasser.

The newly perfected kinemacolor moving pictures proved most interesting, as it showed the natural coloring of the flowers, trees, and the beautiful surroundings of the factory.

Any student, even if not a good shot, can become one by practicing at the rifle range and joining the rifle team. It is not necessary to be a cadet; anyone may receive the benefit of the training from regular army expert riflemen. The rifle range is open school days from 10 until 12 o'clock and from 1 until 5 o'clock. It was started for the benefit of University students, and the equipment is sufficient for many more than have thus far applied.
