WILL PAY SALARIES

PUBLICATION BOARD VOTES TO REIMBURSE STAFF'S EFFORTS WITH MONEY.

MAY INCLUDE CORNHUSKER

Arrangements Being Made to Pay Annual Editors and Possibly Those in Charge of Awgwan.

The Student Publication Board met last night in the office of its president, Dean O. V. P. Stout, and in a two-hour session disposed of two very important matters: It decided that in the future no more credit would be given for work on any student publication; and it decided to pay editors of The Daily Nebraskan a definite salary.

It was first found that last semester's editorial staff recommended that a total of twenty-six hours credit be given for work on the Rag. It was suggested that this total be arbitrarily reduced to twenty-two hours. But realizing the injustice which this perfectly consistent policy would do to those who had earned their credit and needed it, the board finally passed a motion to give credit to all persons recommended who had registered for the work and had done it faithfully.

For the position of circulating manager of the Nebraskan, only one application was presented to the Board. Some member observed that the policy of electing men to positions without giving notice to the student public of the vacancy tended to the formation of a clique composed of the appointees of the upper staff members. Acting upon the wisdom of this observation, the Board appointed no circulating manager, but decided to advertise for more applications.

The Board next took up the matter of Nebraska salaries left in an unsettled state last meeting. It was definitely decided that for this semester absolutely no credit was to be given for work on the Rag. The Regents granted the Board permission to pay the editors money instead of credit according to the following schedule of salaries: editor in chief, $100 per semester; managing editor, $50 per semester; one associate editor, $50 per semester. The Board was unanimous in the opinion that the Nebraskan in spite of the spring dropping off of advertising will be able to pay the full amount of this remuneration. Lest this annual spring loss of advertising should imperil the chances of bearing this additional burden a committee was appointed to see whether the University should be requested to make any advances for Nebraska salaries. Therefore, while three editors of the Rag are assured of receiving pay for their services, until the results of the committee's investigations are ascertained, ye

IS THE OLD-TIME CLASS SPIRIT DEAD Have the students of Nebraska lost all the "pep" which used to appear in those riots known as class meetings? Is this a dead factor in the development of Cornhusker spirit?

The Senior class held a conclave a few days ago. Hardly more than a dozen members of the class were there. NOT A JOKE WAS CRACKED DURING THE ENTIRE PROCEEDING. NOT A LEGITIMATE MOTION WAS OVERRULED.

Harvey Hess of the third year men likewise called his tribe together a day or so back. Eleven people composed the vast assemblage. AT THE MEETING AT WHICH MINOR JUNIOR OFFICERS WERE ELECTED LAST YEAR THREE HUNDRED SEVENTY SIX WERE PRESENT AND OVER FIVE HUNDRED VOTES WERE CAST. THAT'S TRUE NEBRASKA ENTHUSIASM FOR YOU.

With all the former class spirit taken away and with only ten or a dozen taking part in the election of important (though minor class officers, WHO WONDERS THAT CLASS ENTERPRIZES SUCH AS THE JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM GO IRREVOCABLY INTO THE HOLE? WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW.

DEBEL AT SCANDINAVIAN CLUB

Scandinavians Meet at Professor's Home—N. H. Debel Guest of Club.

The Scandinavians of the University held forth this month at the spacious home of Professor Frandsen near the state farm.

Mr. N. H. Debel of the Political Science department gave a rather original talk on the Scandinavian people in general. He pointed out the fact that the north central states, which are making such wonderful progress at the present, are the ones which are so largely inhabited by the Scandinavian people.

The Alexis quartet furnished some of its well known brand of music. A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed after the program.

Coach Stiehm left Lincoln on Wednesday night for Kansas City where he will meet Coach Hamilton of the Jayhawkers, and arrange for the playing of the Missouri Valley championship games. Before he left he said that under no conditions would any of the games be played after March 12.

POTATO INSTITUTE PARTY WON

Found Some Opposition On Western Trip—Institute Idea Much Favored by Potato Growers.

The members of the Nebraska Potato Institute won out against much opposition last week in Scotts Bluff county. The Potato Institute party sent out by the University into the Tri-state irrigation country besides getting stuck in a snow drift while going across country in an auto, encountered public sales with free lunch as a side attraction in every town they struck. In spite of this it was a very successful trip and the potato growers gained some very valuable pointers.

The success was due partly to the efficiency of the demonstrators and also to the new idea of concentrating upon one subject. The party consisted of Miss Pascal, on cooking; Prof. R. A. Emerson, potato breeding; Professor Wilcox, potato diseases; L. D. Sweet of Colorado, the growing of the potato, and N. G. Nelson of Omaha, the marketing of the potato. This is contrary to the usual custom of having the farmers' institute deal with every thing in the way of farming. The indications are that this new way will take precedence.

WEATHER REJOICES FANS

BALMY SPRING AIR BRINGS BACK 'MITS, BATS, BALLS INTO HEARTS OF BASEBALL ENTHUSIASTS.

RECRUITS ANXIOUS TO GET BUSY

Many Veterans Ready to Start Work on Diamond—Prospects for Fast Series of Games are Strong.

The balmy days of spring have once again succeeded in bringing the national game into the public eye. The big league teams have all been recruited at their spring training grounds and the sand lot and bush league boys are beginning to come out of their winter quarters and loosen up on the corner lot. While no formal call has been made by Coach Stiehm, still the prospective material has been taking advantage of every nice day, and by the time the robins are here to stay the baseball squad ought to be in fine condition. From former records and on paper the conclusion is well drawn that this year's varsity baseball team should be a crackerjack.

The veterans of last year's squad who will be back this year are among the best amateur players in the west. The battery will most likely consist of Jimmy Rodman and Max Towle. Jimmy is one of the best balanced pitchers the school will see for some time and the base runner has not yet been found who could steal on Towle. The rest of infield will be held down almost entirely by veteran material, namely: Underwood on the initial sack, Art May on second base and Ros Haskell on third. The outfield will have to be filled from recruit material, of which there will doubtless be a super-abundance.

The schedule as it now stands, includes games with the Kansas Aggies, Kansas, Iowa, Ames and South Dakota.

ROSCOE POUND WRITES PAPER

Former Nebraskan Is Authority on "Social Problems and the Courts."

Roscoe Pound, 1888, formerly of the University of Nebraska and now Story professor of law in the Harvard University Law school, has recently published in the American Journal of Sociology an extremely interesting and instructive paper on "Social Problems and the Courts." The subject is discussed from an evolutionary standpoint and with his well-known clearness he expresses himself so definitely that when one has finished reading it he finds that he has a very good notion indeed of the whole problem. The paper is too long to be summarized but it can be commended as one of the best of recent contributions.
