THE SMOKERS AT THE GATE.

I love to cut a morning's grind, to leave both Prof and class behind, and hie me to the gate; to fill my Net Artists Brought Out by Spring pipe with a mild old blend I borrowed Trom a passing friend, my fortunes to await. Sometimes I'll talk of polities and how a leader can be fixed, when it comes time to vote. Or how With the final arrival of spring to dance the latest fad and whether weather tennis devotees, along with it is really had to wear a purple coat all other athletes, have begun to And when outside these gates I stir in their shells and observe the stand, that roll of sheepskin in my signs of the times.
