

Military Section to Be Most Complete of Any Ever Attempted

The military section of the 1913 Cornhusker will be the most complete and the best arranged of any ever printed in a university annual. It will try to place upon that section the importance that it holds in the departments of the University, and it will try to express the new spirit that has been instilled into that department by the new commandant.

Each company will have two pages, also two pages will be devoted to the band, the Rifle club and the Pershing Rifles. The commandant, regimental staff and the departmental staff will all be given due prominence. The whole will occupy more than thirty pages.

An innovation in the coming edition will be the honor to be tendered to the regimental, battalion and company sponsors. Seventy-five individual pictures of sponsors and officers will enter into the scheme. Unlike any other year the company pictures have all been taken at a studio at a considerable expense, but the splendid results will give such satisfaction that it is thought that the heavy outlay will be justified.

On one page will be the company picture and on the opposite will be the picture of the company sponsor surrounded by the company officers. The regimental and battalion sponsors will be flanked by their respective staffs. This array is expected to eclipse Governor Morehead's squad of "Colonels" in the inaugural parade at Washington.

Several pages will be devoted to the high life in camp. Also several cartoons depicting the joys of night marches, etc. etc.

Considerable difficulty had been experienced in getting out the officers and sponsors. The individual modesty in almost every case had to be overcome and the person convinced that it was all for the good of the cause to have that particular person's picture printed. One or two companies have not yet been photographed but as soon as Old Sol puts in an appearance the companies will be taken care of.

a senior in the University and scarcely more than of age, he was appointed leader of the local band, then known as the Hagenow band, with which he was able to take first prize at the national M. W. A. encampment at Milwaukee in competition with many of the large bands of the United States. Two years ago he took charge of the University band and during that time the improvement therein has been a matter of general comment.

Constantly since the football season the band has been practicing music in preparation for tonight's concert. Twice this year it has appeared before in convocation in programs conceded to be the best ever given in the chapel, and some time ago won the marked appreciation of the legislative club banquet in a concert before that body.

One of the most widely anticipated numbers of the program is the singing of Miss Lillian Helms, whose work is a subject of universal praise to local audiences. Reserve seats may be had in the Temple at the cost of twenty-five cents.
