DEAN RICHARDS WRITES

FORMER DEAN OF ENGINEERS SENDS GREETINGS FROM UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS.

LEGISLATURE FAR-SIGHTED

Illinois Much Better Provided for Financially by Its Legislature Than Nebraska.

In response to a request for a letter for publication, the following was recently received by the editors from Former Dean Richards, now professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Illinois.

"In response to your kind letter of March 24th I wish to thank you for this opportunity to greet my friends among the students and faculty of the University. I wish it were possible for me to be with you during 'Engineers week' and to meet my friends in person.

Since leaving Lincoln I have kept in as close touch as possible with the University, for, naturally, I shall always be deeply interested in its successes and progress. I have been much concerned over the unfortunate controversy regarding removal, and I sincerely trust that before this letter is published and legislature will have decided upon some definite, constructive policy regarding the matter.

During this year I have felt quite established in my new position. We

Doane Loses Fast Game By One Run Forced By Three-Sack Hit

In a pitchers battle which was not decided until the last out in the ninth inning Nebraska won the first baseball game of the season last Saturday from the strong Doane aggregation by a score of 4 to 3. Beckoff did the twirling for the Cornhuskers while Kretsinger upheld the reputation of the visitors.

Although several errors were made during the game none of them figured very much in the final score. Nebraska took the lead early in the game and succeeded in scoring the first run in the first inning and gain in the third the trick was repeated. In the eighth May scored a two-base hit Frank following drove the ball to the outer garden for three bases scoring May.

The following is the lineup for Nebraska and what they did in the first game of the year:

Table with columns: Name, ab, r, h, sb, a, e, pct. Rows include Flory, ss; Haskell, b; Frank, rf; Towle, lf; May, c; Beckoff, p; Underwood, 1b; Harte, c; Jamison, 2b.

Two base hit, May. Three base hit, Frank, Haskell. Hits—Off Kretsinger 6, off Beckoff 6. Base on balls, Kretsinger 4, Beckoff 0. Strikeouts, Kretsinger 13, Beckoff 8.

ENGINEERS CELEBRATE

ENGINEERS WEEK TO BE ONE OF GAYETY AND PLEASURE FOR THE SHOP MEN.

TAKE HOLIDAY THURSDAY

Engineering Classes Excused Thursday—Play Baseball With Laws and Finish Week With Banquet Saturday.

"Oh Algie, what are those men wearing E's for?"

"Those, Gertrude, are not signs of proficiency in class work. Far be it from such. E stands for Erasmus, the Eccentric Engineer."

For, be it known, this is the week commonly called "Engineers' Week" when his Excellency, "Differential and Integral Calculus," is told to get hence and the campus is dotted with groups of grimy galoots gesticulating fiercely and planning outrages upon society in general.

All who have occasion to be in the vicinity of the Co. F Armory at Seventeenth and O streets tomorrow night are cautioned to don their ancestral tin armor, and stuff their ears with cotton if they expect to survive the night. For it is here, we are told, that the perpetrators of those heinous offenses will assemble for their council of war. What other crimes will follow in the wake of this pow wow is hard to predict.

But it is safe to say that on Thursday will be the big noise. The shop men have been preparing for this holiday for a long time. In the first place, the faculty were to be pleasantly surprised when they should come to their class rooms Thursday morn and find not a single stude. But it seems that a certain member of the faculty was warned by a dream of this nefarious scheme, and immediately spread the alarm. The Dean, being of a diplomatic turn of mind, thereupon announced that there would be no engineering classes Thursday. Now, what do you know about that?

To reap the full benefits of this festive day the shop men will rise early and convene at 8:30 on the athletic field. Here the four clans will engage in two bitter conflicts. The weapons will be the baseball and the willow stick. The C. E.'s will play the Ag. Engineers, and the E. E.'s the M. E.'s. Here is the way they line up:
