Band Will Give First Out-of-Doors Concert On Campus Tonight

This evening at seven-thirty the University Military band will give the first out-door concert of the year.

the apparent inappreciation by the student body for a while discouraged the musicians in their efforts. However, the continued requests from both the students and the faculty have shown that their ability has been rightly appreciated although not visibly and the concert tonight is the result.

In past years these evening concerts have been an extremely popular stunt with "fussers." The Orpheum has closed and the jit and Lyric are the only entertainments now available so the probability is that many "ladies men" will be present tonight. The remainder of the university body has never neglected these contests in past years so they too will be scattered about the quadrangle tonight.

The favor which this first concert meets will determine the future of such affairs and a large attendance is desired.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE CONVENTION

Miss Daniels, Nebraska's Representative Tells Local Girls' Club of Meeting in Madison.

Tuesday morning Miss Mabel Daniels gave to the University girls a report of the Women's League convention, which was held in Madison, Wis., the first week in May. The colleges which sent delegates to Madison were Ohio, Minnesota, North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Michigan, state universities also, Rockford, Northwestern and Washington university in St. Louis, Mo. The purpose of the convention was to promote self-government in state schools and to bind together university women in a co-operative association, thus aiding and benefiting student activities.

The majority of the school represented were either promoting or had already installed student government.

The restrictions in a large number of the middle-west schools are greater than those imposed at Nebraska, while in other schools practically no restrictions are made in regard to social activities. Conditions at Nebraska seem to represent a "happy medium."

WHO WILL BE MAY QUEEN?

NAME OF ROYAL PATRONESS OF IVY DAY IS BEING WITHHELD BY COMMITTEE.

MANY SURPRISES IN STORE

Senior Girls Are Making Elaborate Plans for Coronation and Other Events—Mass Meetings Thursday to Discuss Plans.

Who will be May Queen? This is puzzling the brain of many a charming senior girl who has ambitions to be the proud ruler of a mythical realm for at least a day. The identity of the May Queen for Ivy day is to be kept secret this year until her royal crowning immediately before the May Pole dance. No threat nor fear of injury can possibly influence the committee to divulge the name of the fortunate charmer who will wield the majestic sceptre before her admirers on that eventful day. It may be a stately blonde, a soulful brunette, a vivacious beauty who has broken scores of hearts. Every woman is a queen! Who can tell?

This year the committee in charge of Ivy day will endeavor to have the daisy chain march consist almost entirely of senior girls. Irma Sullivan and Miss Leach are busy drilling the senior girls in the May pole dance and a veritable triumph in this aesthetic effort is promised. It has been inadvertently disclosed also that many innovations have been introduced in the coronation ceremony which will cause it to offer many startling surprises.

In an effort to make definite preparations for the various events the senior girls will hold a mass meeting Thursday at 11:30 in the faculty room of the Temple. This meeting will be a very important one and it is hoped that much will be accomplished. Consequently every girl of the senior class who can possibly attend is expected to put in an appearance at the designated time.

The committee has not decided what day they will put tickets for Ivy day on sale but undoubtedly they will be sold some time during the latter part of the week. Other arrangements are being rapidly made to make this May-time festival the best of any ever attempted and it is believed that this all-University ceremonial holiday of Wednesday, May 31 will be the most successful of all.

Y. M. C. A. Directors Meet.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held Saturday noon, at which action was taken as to the selection of a secretary for next year. Mr. F. T. Cartwright of Wisconsin, who was here Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, was considered and a definite proposition submitted to him. The result will be known later.

DISCUSS "THE ROMANCERS"

CONVOCATION TOMORROW GIVEN OVER TO IVY DAY PLAY COMMITTEE.

CAST OF EXCEPTIONAL MERIT

Can Be Relied On To Bring Out Best of Edward Rostand's Masterpiece—Under Auspices of Dramatic Club.

So much interest has been aroused in the Ivy Day play, being prepared by the Dramatic club, that convocation tomorrow will be given over to it.

Professor Buck will review the life and works of the distinguished author, Edmond Rostand, and will also give a criticism of the play, "The Romançers."

Since the announcement of the choice of this play for presentation on Ivy Day much favorable comment has been heard. This play is read regularly in the advanced French classes and those who have become familiar with its sprightly lines and sparkling humor are looking forward eagerly to its presentation. It is a more ambitious production than has ever been attempted at any previous Ivy Day and for that reason those interested in raising the standard of dramatic productions in the University, are doing all in their power to make it a success.

The most capable cast the Dramatic club could present is rapidly whipping the play into shape. Announcement has already been made of the parts that will be played by Elsie Peterson and Don Ahrens. The two crotchety old fathers will be played by Cloyd Stewart and Guy Williams, both of whom have demonstrated their ability in dramatics. "Rockle" Amerman is slated in a part that gives him full opportunity to display his best line of "funny stuff." The part of "Blaise" will be played by H. J. Schultz and a number of musicians, swordsmen, notaries, etc., will afford the proper background for the piece.

Ralph Northrup has charge of staging and costuming the play and has placed an order with Lieben, the Omaha costumers, for a complete set of costumes.

Professor Grumann has been so pleased with the selection of this play that he is giving over convocation tomorrow to it, so that the students may have an opportunity to learn more of the distinguished author of "Chantecler," and may prepare themselves for a more intelligent appreciation of the "Romançers" by learning something of its historical setting.

A. M. Hare of Auburn has been elected principal of the Fairbury high school. Mr. Hare is a State University graduate and has been prominent in debating athletics and organization work.
