AGAIN AND AGAIN AND AGAIN.

The Sentor cetass yesterday foregathered to ax their final formal impress on an institution which has made their lives and their intellects cosmopelitan. All ceremonies appropriate ic the traditional by Day were indulged. The oration was delivered, the ivy was planted, the queen was enthroned and crowned, and the May pole dance, mingling its natural var lety of colors and personalities with an unpracticed symmetry of movements designed only for dignity, held the adiciration of the spectators. The sulfry weather, holding in theek the fervidness of young spirits con an uted to the solemn charm that charac terizes the S-mar's departure. Sun plicity, reservation, harmony all these with just enough noise by the band and others and just enough awk wardness by participants, saved from slavery to more form, the most im | 28--30 So. Wabash Ave. Chicago, Illinois pressive of collegiate celebrations.

The neces ity and value of honeigo to memeries is more doubtful than such feat nectors. Reminiscences are enproductive. Time spear in thought or mock celebration of the past is largely wasted. There is no added capacity to do things by re-enacting scenes which, when done for the first time, are vital, but when repeated again, are dead. Surviving principles cannot be expressed in mere form or show. Our only tradition should be a literary tradition and our only celebration, a new one.
