

"Medic" Festivities
End With Big Dance
Of Friday Evening

The pre-Medics and Sophomores won the ball games at the Medic picnic held at Capital beach yesterday. The events of the picnic were puled off with enthusiasm by the Medics. Races were indulged in during the forenoon. The lunch in the Japanese garden at 12:30 was followed by the ball games in the ball park. The last event of "Medic" week was the dance tendered by Dr. and Mrs. Wolcott at the Beach last night. Fifty couples enjoyed the feast of harmony and music.

My Dear Rag:

I have just read in the April 1 number of the "Rag," of the election of officers in the Matador club. Some of its mighty members ought to enter the ring at Caracas for I am sure they could do a more skillful job of killing the enraged bovine with an ordinary rusty, geological pick, than the gayly garbed Venezuelan matador can do with his bleaming sword.

I may add that it might be of interest to certain nimrods that snipe shooting is very good here. One fact remains, however, that jaguars, pumas, boa constrictors and savage Indians are abundant in the more secluded regions which the wild fowl seek. Even at that, one does not have to stand in snow up to his knees.

Am bound for the Peninsula of Paragana, the Venezuelan Desert. Expect to be there for two months or more. Yours truly,

J. B. BURNETT.
