

Campus Has Apparently Undergone Few Changes; Nebraskan Office Shifted

The returning student will notice but few changes in the appearance of the campus this fall. To be sure, all the buildings have been renovated and repaired, so that they are in the best of shape for the year's work, but few have been moved or removed to any extent.

With the removal of the College of Medicine to Omaha, the third floor of N Hall was left vacant. This space has been given over to the geography department, making one more natural science in that building.

The subsequent removal of the university publications to the basement of University Hall is the result of this action. The old geography laboratories are being fitted up for the offices of the Daily Nebraskan and the Cornhusker. A doorway cut on the west side will make an easy access to the Cornhusker office, while the Rag will be housed in the south room.

The old Nebraskan office is to be occupied by the alumni department.

The room formerly occupied by the deans and Professor Engberg in common has been cut up into two rooms, one of which will be occupied by Dean Engberg in his new position as executive dean. Needless to say, this room is one which all may feel called upon to visit during the semesters to come.

The completion of the new law building marks the most recent change in the campus. Classes will be held in the building this fall. Walks have been laid to the south and east entrances, making it accessible from all sides.

Old Men Vie With New For Uniforms; Veterans in Fine Trim

Stein did a rushing business yesterday afternoon issuing suits to the old men and freshmen who were wearing the scarlet and cream for the first time. There were many old faces in the group: Purdy, who declared he was in mid-season form; Halligan, Howard, Hawkins, Coffee Beck, Mapes Reese, Cameron, Hugg, Thompson, Rutherford, Shields, etc. Dunlap, a Lexington man, who has played four years in high school, showed up well in practice.

NEW MAGNET THEATER.

Lincoln's newest moving picture theatre, the Magnet, 1511 O street, has been completed during the past few weeks. It has a seating capacity of 500 and it is said by many to be the roomiest and most comfortable theatre in the city. By means of a new device the air in the theatre is changed every two minutes. Large ventilating fans change the air making the theatre comfortable even when crowded. Arrangements with a large film house provide for the use of only the latest and most up-to-date moving picture feature films. The New Magnet is owned and managed by the Lincoln Amusement Co.—Adv.

Lucrative Positions Await I. D. R. Sharks; Bowman Wants Instructors

Men who are up to date on their infantry drill regulations, and who have no present connection with the Military Department, will do well to see Lieutenant Bowman within the next day or so. For the lieutenant is fast disposing of some lucrative positions to men who are capable of instilling the first principles of military drill and discipline in the newly-arrived "rookies." And it is desired that these drillmasters do not hold active commissions in the regiment.

The plan of drill this semester consists primarily in working up a high degree of company efficiency. For this purpose it has been thought best to drill the first and second-year men separately during the first part of the year. The "plebes" will be enrolled in "awkward companies," under the instruction of competent drillmasters, put through setting-up exercises, and instructed first of all in the position and bearings of a soldier. All the time keeping in mind the fact that he is merely a "plebe" in the eyes of the University drill authorities.

Company drill in its different phases will follow. In the meantime, the second-year men, under the command of their officers, will review their knowledge of drill and tactics. The companies will not be changed; second-year men report to their old companies.

As fast as they show proficiency the first-year men will be assigned to companies, and the work of the department will go merrily on. In inducing this proficiency is where the work of the drillmasters will come in. For those who are inclined toward the study of military science the offer of the lieutenant holds out possibilities.

FORMER STUDENT TO MARRY.

The marriage of Miss Ola Belle Hervey and Mr. Walter Melville Hopewell of Tekamah will take place at the Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church in Omaha tomorrow evening. It will be a large affair with several attendants, including Mrs. J. N. McAllister, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, Miss Ann Dennis, maid of honor, and Miss Eva Penny and Miss Adelaide Thomas of Tekamah, bridesmaids.

Miss Hervey is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Mr. Hopewell is a Phi Gamma Delta.—Omaha Excelsior.
