AN AWAKENING CONSCIOUSNESS.

The University of Nebraska is coming to fill a greater place, and need, in the state each year. With the large number of students meeting here each year, living under conditions peculiar to universities, and then scattering to their homes in the state it is being brought home to the people of the state that this institution is one worthy of their interest and consideration. The move of the Methodist conference, to provide a student pastor, is indicative of this growing consciousness. Here on the campus are hundreds of students, representing all the denominations of the state, and it is no more than logical that the executive bodies of these churches should take steps to keep their students in touch with the churches. It is a big job, more than the pastors of the Lincoln churches can handle unassisted, and requires the attention of specialists, men fitted by observation and study to the task. The university recognizes both the need and the value of the assistance tendered.

It might be well to add, that Nebraska was one of the first universities to have a student pastor, and that the movement has now spread to all the large universities of the country. In some schools the pastors work as advisers to the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, getting acquainted with the students and giving their assistance on matters pertaining to the affairs of the association. This plan has been tried in Pennsylvania, where there are several pastors. At Nebraska, however Dr. Beland and Dr. Howard work for the churches directly, and the plan has been found very successful. The acquaintance of these men is shared by nearly all students, and their influence is both far-reaching and helpful.

ART FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

School of Fine Arts Offers Instruction in Special Course—Architecture
Also Given.

The School of Fine Arts has scheduled a class in general art for high school students this year. The class will meet at 9 o'clock Saturday mornings, and will be open to any students in the Lincoln high school, until the work can be given place in the high school curriculum, or, until the completion of the new building.

In connection with the course given by the College of Engineering, the School of Arts is offering a course in architecture this fall. Dean Stout is the adviser for the course.

Drill Starts in Earnest
Tonight for Second
Year Men--All Out

Military drill is on for the year when "assembly" sounds tonight in the Armory. That is, for the second year men. Freshmen do not report until Tuesday night, at which time they will be initiated into the rudiments of what their work will consist of, and how to get the most out of it.

Second year men fall in in the chapel, taking seats according to companies, and keeping the same companies that they served with last year. Tuesday night they will report in uniform.

The recruits will assemble in the Armory Tuesday night. As absence from formation is an offense against regulations, which counts not only against the recruit, but against his company as well, it is advised that all men be present. Notices have been posted on the campus instructing all new men to have measurements taken for uniforms by Wednesday night.

EWING MAKES THINGS
HUM AROUND ASSOCIATION

New Secretary, Experienced In Y. M. C. A. Methods Putting His Energy Behind Years' Work.

R. L. Ewing—said to be known as Bob—has been getting the work of the Y. M. C. A. started with a swing, at the same time getting in with the men, during the first week of school activities. His past experience in the work of the association, both as student and general city secretary, has acquainted him with short cuts to efficient work, the spirit of the movement, and a genuinely pleasing personality. All of which bids well for the year's work of the student association.

Mr. Ewing was graduated from Oberlin college in 1904. As a student in Ohio Wesleyan he was captain and tackle of the varsity football team, and later at Washington University he played tackle on the team for two years. While at Washington he was secretary of the student Y. M. C. A.; later he became general college secretary of the Pacific Northwest. He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

After leaving college he spent six years in India, as general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Madras. While there he made the association a vital force in the community, and was awarded the Delhi Durbar medal by the king, an honor granted only to whom the king delights to honor, and to very few Americans.

For the past year Mr. Ewing has been doing graduate work in the University of Chicago.

He comes to Nebraska recommended as a typical, forceful college man, and he is fast lining up the work of the association for definite results.

TODAY OPENS SCHOOL'S YEARLY GRIND IN EARNEST

Classes commenced this morning at 8 o'clock. As is usually the case very irregular attendance is expected for this first week owing to the trouble in finding the right rooms at the right hours. However, regular work will be begun as soon as is possible.

Y. W. C. A. STARTS YEAR
WITH CHEERFUL OUTLOOK

Many New Girls Accept Invitations To Afternoon Teas and Open House.

The work of the Y. W. C. A. began in earnest last week when new co-eds invaded the campus. A series of afternoon teas in the association rooms acquainted the girls with the rooms and their usefulness. And the assistance of older girls was held out to any who needed advice concerning the strange and variable ways of the registering committee.

The week culminated in a Y. W. C. A. open house, held in the rooms on Friday night. From the standpoint of numbers in attendance and interest exhibited, the jollification was a complete success. More than 250 girls took advantage of the opportunity to get acquainted with classmates and friends-to-be. Miss Fannie Drake, general secretary of the Y. W., expressed herself as greatly pleased with the reception, and the work of the older girls in making it a success.

Chancellor Greets the Incoming and Remaining
Students at Reception

Several hundred of Nebraska's new and old students thronged the art gallery in Library Hall Saturday night for the annual reception given by Chancellor and Mrs. Avery. It was the freshman's introduction to Nebraska society, and the hearty hand-clasp of the chancellor was a kindly and personal reception into the big family.

Art Hall was decorated with palms and ferns, but the natural decorations—the pictures comprising the collection of the Art Association—made further efforts to beautify the room almost unnecessary.

After the usual round of the "line," chats with old and new friends, a visit to the table where the refreshments were served, and more chats, perhaps meeting a professor soon to wield the iron rod and blue pencil, it was over, and the freshman had made his or her "debut."

Lockers on Sale All
This Week--Needed in Drill and Gym Work

And the issuing of lockers goes merrily on. Here again is where the long dough comes in handy and with necessity, for it is next to impossible for men living any distance from the campus to get through drill or any form of athletics without one of those ventilated affairs in which your keys are frequently locked up.

Gym lockers are being assigned at the following hours:

- Monday, 10-12, 2-4.
- Tuesday, 10-12, 2-4.
- Wednesday, 11-12, 3-4.
- Thursday, 11-12, 3-4.
- Friday, 11-12.

Drill lockers go on sale in the Quartermaster's office, basement of the armory, between the hours of 4 and 5:50, September 22-25. Second year men are given preference.

THE UNIVERSITY BAROMETER

A Department Devoted to Showing
What the People of the State
Think of Nebraska U.

A Voice From Without.

A large bouquet should be sent to Miss Graham, in charge of social activities at the Nebraska State University, for the stand that she has taken in regard to dancing. She has announced the "taboo" for the bunny hug, the turkey trot, tango, and that class of terpsichorean eccentricities at all university functions, and puts the "o. k." on the polka, schottische, minuet, and any of the old square or round dances. Hooray for Miss Graham. Kearney Hub.

That Enrollment Question.

This is the week to hold your breath until you know whether this year's university enrollment is to equal last year's. The university is over crowded. The faculty is overworked. An acre or two of young people try every year to take university training who were never meant for scholars and cannot be made such. The state would perhaps be better educated and more prosperous and happy if half the candidates for degrees were switched into fields they are better adapted to cultivate. But no matter all that. We must swell. If the enrollment at the state university and at Wesleyan and at all the colleges doesn't gain this fall we shall each and severally feel that things are going to the dogs.—State Journal.
