NOW TO WORK FOR YEAR

MONDAY IS OPENING DAY OF CLASSES ALTHOUGH LITTLE IS ACCOMPLISHED.

PUSH WEEK BEGINS AT NOON

Activities Almost All Are Awaiting Close of Pan-Hellenic War Before Real Work Starts.

The opening of classes Monday was marked by no excitement except the usual miscues in finding the correct classrooms, common to both lower and upperclassmen: In most courses the semester's work was outlined and the books necessary were specified. Work for the next hour was assigned and the sections dismissed for the day.

Professors on all sides were kept busy greeting old acquaintances among the students and the latter made the campus hum with their renewals of friendships. The large number of freshmen and freshmen girls standing around made fair prey for the greeks of both sexes, date books appearing quite frequently.

Noon today opens the fraternity rush week. Lunches, dinners and other forms of entertainment will take up the entire week, and pledging next Monday noon will settle most questions. Various forms of discussion will probably do good service in the persuasion of the freshmen to the forms of faith championed by the different organizations. The sororities do not dare entertain freshmen till Friday. Then will start a series of three week ends in which to amuse the girls they would like to affiliate.

Organization activities will begin in carnest the coming week. Dramatics, politics and all other openings for surplus energy are in the background awaiting the close of rush week.

Still a few positions of a desirable nature are open to aspirants for journalistic honors. The editor will be in the office in the basement of Administration building this morning at 11 o'clock. Older classmen are especially desired.

Applications for the position of circulator on the Daily Nebraskar must be filed with T. A.
Williams, in the finance office,
by noot. Wednesday.
