TEAM FIT TO THE MAN

CORNHUSKERS ENTRAINED FOR KANSAS CITY OPTIMISTIC AND IN GOOD TRIM.

NEBRASKA FANS ENCOURAGED

Rutherford, Purdy, Towle, and Seasoned Linemen to Oppose Kansas—Odds Asked at Lawrence.

Admiring a throng of enthusiastic rooters the Nebraska football team boarded their special cars at the Burlington station last evening. Although the train did not leave until 1 o'clock all the squad were on board and most of them asleep by eleven.

Nebraska rooters are taking a better view of the situation since Captain Purdy and Rutherford are back at their old places. Although it is quite likely neither of them will be able to play the game through it will mean that Nebraska has the same lineup as the one which defeated Minnesota. Rutherford may play the whole game if Captain Purdy he is not worked too hard but with Captain Purdy it is almost a foregone conclusion that his knee will give way.

In case either Purdy or Rutherford are taken out Stehm has two extra good men to fall back upon. Both Delametre and Elwell have proven themselves capable of handling their own with any of the teams they have gone against this year. Both are speedy and charge well. Delametre is especially adept at picking holes and in open field running is a demon.

Howard Will start the game at full-back and unless injured will play that position the whole game. His punting has been the fear of all the teams in the valley this season and if this sort of a game is resorted to Saturday the Cornhuskers will surely come out in the lead.

At the quarterback position, Max Towle, the doughty little general, will have full charge. His work up to date has been par excellence and no doubt will land for him an all-Missouri valley quarter. Especially his work in the great Gopher contest gave him special mention. His handling of the forward pass has been unequalled this season on Nebraska field and the like probably has not been seen any place in the valley this season. Beck and Howard are both well acquainted with this position and in case of necessity may be shifted to the helm.

In the line there is only one person who is not in the pink of condition and that is Cameron, right tackle. His ankle was injured the other night in

BASKETBALL PRACTICE ALREADY IN PROGRESS

Winter Sport Now Taking Interest of Gymnasium Hangers-on—Competition Strong.

Basketball practice has been going unofficially for the last two weeks with considerable good form shown by the aspirants for places on the varsity. Shields, one of the likely freshmen, has had his shoulder broken in football and it is likely that he will be out of basketball entirely.

The only "N" men back are Captain Haskell and Hawkins. This makes the competition for the many vacant places on the varsity very keen.

Official practice begins immediately after Thanksgiving vacation and will be very snappy and good owing again to the many vacancies.

Those men who were substitutes last year and are likely to make places among the regulars this year are Meyers, Howard. Rutherford will come out this year and on his ability will depend a great deal as none of the old or sub forwards are back to work for Nebraska.

Ida Grove Will Meet Lincoln High On Nebraska Field Saturday

While the Cornhuskers are battling with the Kansas team Saturday Lincoln high school meets the strong Ida Grove (Iowa) team on the athletic field. This game promises to be an exciting one, inasmuch as the Ida Grove team has always succeeded in giving the Lincoln hopefuls a run for their money. There is no dope on the Iowa team, to date, however, and the local team does not make any predictions as to the score.

Lincoln closes the season on Thanksgiving, meeting the undefeated Topeka team at that time. This game will also be played on the University field.

GIRLS ENJOY SWIMMING

Co-eds Take Much Pleasure in Splashing Waters of Y. M. C. A. Pool Yesterday.

About forty-five girls reported to the swimming pool yesterday morning and excitement ran high for a couple of hours. Some who were in last year's class are quite accomplished mermaids, but for most of the girls this was their first attempt and consequently amusing in many cases, but all are enthusiastic over the sport.

Dr. Eugene T. Phelps of Chicago and Miss Melissa E. Clark of Woodville, both former students of the University of Nebraska, were recently married at the home of the bride's parents.

MANDOLIN CLUB GETS YEAR'S NEW MUSIC

Will Prepare Some Good Numbers, Although no Definite Plans for Trips Have Yet Been Made.

The Mandolin club after experiencing the usual trials of reorganization has at last become established on a firm basis. The new music has arrived and it is expected that in a few weeks the men will be in mid-season form. A number of concerts have been planned for the near future, the club taking part in many of the school entertainments and activities. The annual concert with the Glee club will be held some time in March.

No trips have been definitely arranged for as yet, by the manager, W. E. Kavan, has opened negotiations with a number of the larger cities throughout the state and concert dates will be announced later. The trips will not be made in connection with the Glee club. Such was the statement of the committee on Student Organizations. The main difficulty is in the matter of expenses, according to their statement. Both clubs will take the Omaha trip at the same time. Following is the list of members for the coming season:

T. J. Lehmer, leader, W. E. Kavan, manager; W. E. Harnsberger, Fred N. Wells, D. K. Roemer, D. G. Eldrige, L. H. Lehmer, Frank Perkins, George A. Spooner, Lynch, Allyn, G. C. Loomis, R. B. Willse and H. R. Alden.

Dr. Exner Speaks to University Students About Sex Hygiene

The talk last night by Dr. M. J. Exner of New York was one of the best given before the Thursday evening gatherings held in the Temple of the University Y. M. C. A. Secretary Ewing of the Y. M. C. A. was given the attention of the audience for a few minutes before Dean Wolcott of the University Medical department introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Exner.

No topic touched by the speaker was unfamiliar to his audience and the language was such as made it possible for every young man to bear the facts in mind and keep them there. Published statements have been circulated by Dr. Exner and endorsements to these statements are only those of some of the country's greatest authorities. Several of these facts with the names of the signers were read to the listeners. Young men were encouraged to look only to the best and highest things in life and in that way keep a clean and spotless character.

That this problem is a great and important one is shown in the fact that more work is being done all over the country to let the young men know what these things really mean. Dr. Exner is one of the best versed men along this line and his talk was worth much more to the young men than the short time they spent listening to his message.

SEND TEAM TO KANSAS

HUNDREDS OF STUDENTS PARADE STREETS IN HONOR OF NEBRASKA ELEVEN.

SNAKE-DANCE BY TORCHLIGHT

Streets Blocked for an Hour by Cheering Undergrade—Many Co-eds On Sidelines.

Writhing and twisting through hundreds of flaming torches, the university students paraded down "O" street last night to the tune of "Cheer, Cheer." Led by the band and a carryall filled with the members of the team, the procession followed the usual route from Sixteenth and O to Ninth, to P street and the Burlington depot. The students halted at intervals and gathered around the team, howling for speeches. Dr. Maxey was the favorite at the first stop at Thirteenth street, and made quite an oration though interrupted continually by the cheers of the crowd.

They then marched two blocks, when another halt was made for more speeches. The next stop was made at the depot where the students swarmed over and around the iron fence and filled the platforms with a solid mass of cheering students. Rocky Ammerman was master of ceremonies and introduced in turn the speakers of the evening: Beck, Towle, who declared he was going to come home with the bacon or not at all; Purdy, who winked at the girls; Ross, who easily proved himself the orator of the occasion; and the rest of the team, when they had been sufficiently persuaded by the crowd. Rutherford, Halligan, and Cameron appeared to be in the best condition and were sent to their berths soon as the cheering was over.

"The best torch-light parade I have ever seen," was the comment from one Nebraska grad who watched the ceremonies from the sidelines along with hundreds of others. The direction of the procession was in the hands of the Innocents and lacked many of the disagreeable features which was probably due to the excitement of the big game.

Some fifty or sixty students accompanied the team on their journey to the southland last night, but the majority of the rooters will leave on the big special which goes over the Union Pacific at 11 o'clock tonight.

Cornhusker Banquet Plans Not As Yet Completed By Innocents

Due to the pressure of business attendant upon the Kansas game the Innocents have been unable to formulate definite plans for the Cornhusker banquet. However, they are to meet on Tuesday night of next week when definite arrangements will be announced.

Special music Sunday, 7:30 p. m., Emmanuel Methodist church, Fifteenth and U streets.
