MORE SECRET PRACTICE

VARSITY SUCCEED IN SOLVING IOWA PLAYS USED BY FRESHMEN.

HARD TWO HOUR SCRIMMAGE

Purdy, Rutherford, Mastin, Thompson, Ross and Abbott Stars in Mix-up With Neophytes—Varsity Full of Pep.

(By H. V. HARLAN.)

For two long hours behind locked gates yesterday afternoon the varsity stalwarts and freshmen battled in one of the hardest scrimmages of the year. It was not a repetition of the "Tag" scrimmage that was pulled off Tuesday. Not by a long shot. It was the real article, a fine exhibition of football as "she is played."

At four o'clock to the tick Thompson kicked off to the Freshmen. Purdy fell on the ball when fumbled. The Cornhuskers, using straight football, scored a touch down in five minutes. Line smashes by Rutherford, Purdy and Howard put the ball in striking distance of the frost goal line and Howard carried it over.

Varsity Solves Iowa Plays.

After the regulars had scored one marker the scrimmage see-sawed up and down the field with either the varsity or freshmen playing defensively for ten or twelve minutes at a stretch. The Freshmen used the Iowa plays, including the much touted spread formation. After the varsity became acquainted with these strange formations they were able to stop them almost every time. The times when the varsity couldn't stop it was when Chamberlain carried the ball. When this human cyclone was given the ball he always tore off five or ten yards usually with from two to five tacklers hanging to him.

This Iowa spread formation isn't so hard to stop when a team learns just what it is. With the training the varsity received last evening the Cornhuskers should be proficient in breaking it up in Saturday's game.

Line Plays Great On Defense.

After the linemen had learned the knack of bursting the spread formation they played a wonderful defensive game. Time and again Mastin circled around and in behind the formation and by fierce tackling broke up the play before it had hardly gotten under way. Abbott, Thompson and Ross played star games. They broke through the frost line many times and killed the Iowa plays before they were born.

The forward passes that the first year men tried with the Iowa formations were broken up or intercepted by Purdy, Rutherford and Howard. The Hawkeyes will have hard sledding in making forward passes good with the Cornhuskers. Those who know are unanimous in saying that the present Cornhusker backfield is one of the brainiest in the west.

One peculiar part of the Iowa spread formation is that the center does not

ENGINEERING STUDENT IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Clarke L. Ryan, Sophomore, Struck In the Eye By Flying Piece of Red-hot Metal.

Clarke L. Ryan, a sophomore in the engineering college, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon while working in the mechanical engineering laboratory. A piece of red hot iron broke from the metal under a steam hammer and struck the young man almost squarely in the eye, inflicting a serious burn on the eyeball and searing the surrounding flesh. Medical attention was secured immediately and everything possible done to save the sight. It will be some time however, before it is known definitely just how severe the burn was and whether Ryan will lose the sight of one eye or not.

At the time of the accident he was working with a number of other students in the hammering of a six inch block of iron. The metal was being subjected to the crushing blows of the big steam hammer when a small piece flew off and struck Ryan who was standing nearby. The injury was purely accidental and not due to carelessness in any sense. In working with the big machines used in testing and laboratory experiments, accidents are very liable to occur and it is considered extremely fortunate that so few really serious injuries have been received by the student-engineers.

Ryan, is a sophomore in the university. His home is at Hastings and he rooms at 215 North 18th while in Lincoln.

BIG FOOTBALL EDITION WILL BE ISSUED FRIDAY

Rag Force Puts Out Big Special at Close of Brilliant Football Season.

The annual football number of the Daily Nebraskan will be issued tomorrow, as a supplement to the regular news sheets. "Rag" subscribers will not be charged extra for this edition; others may purchase it on the campus or on the athletic field Saturday, as a souvenir of university football activities. The big twenty page, special issue is to be dedicated to the champions of the Missouri valley. It will contain the first, complete, official publication of the individual pictures of the varsity squad, a large group picture of the "N" team, a smaller group picture of the Freshman squad, a portrait of coach Stiehm, and several individual pictures of the Iowa eleven. A short history of each "N" man will accompany his photograph and a general assimilation of football thoughts will follow. In addition to this, two cuts of the girls' hockey team will be printed and an appreciable amount of space will be devoted to co-ed athletics. On account of the unusual amount of work required in its preparation, the Nebraskan will probably not be available to subscribers until twelve o'clock.

CLASS FOOTBALL GAMES POSTPONED TO NEXT WEEK

Athletic Management Refuses to Risk Spoiling Field Before Big Game of Season.

No class football games will be played this Saturday. Although announcements to the contrary were made at first, it was found yesterday that the field would not be available for the class games until after the Iowa game in the afternoon. The athletics management did not care to risk the field to the double header scheduled by the students, wishing to have everything in the best possible shape for the last game of the season. This will cause the postponement of the inter-class games until the early part of next week.

All men are working hard for the championship and the three games promise to afford some real excitement for the followers of the pigskin.

BIG IOWA RALLY FRIDAY

CORNHUSKERS AND HAWKEYES WILL HOLD CENTER OF STAGE AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK.

LAST RITES OVER JAYHAWK

Poor Old Jaybird of Kansas U. Will Be Laid Away With Appropriate Ceremony to Commemorate Victory.

A rally will be held Friday in Memorial hall at eleven o'clock, in preparation for the Iowa game, to be one of the liveliest gatherings that will be held for some time to come or that has been held previously. Both teams will be on hand, the Cornhuskers on the stage, and the Iowa team may be induced to come up for inspection by the students. The Iowa team will furnish great interest and cause much speculation by the ralliers, aside, of course, from the one best bet, the Cornhuskers.

Then the last solemn rites over the remains of the ill fated Jayhawk will be held. This ceremony in itself will prove a great attraction. Cloyd V. Stewart will give the oration over the remains. His oration is expected to be a masterpiece, as the speaker guarantees to rise to the utmost heights of oratory. When the oration is finished a quartet from the Glee club will chant a funeral dirge commemorating the expedition of the Cornhuskers into the land of the Jayhawk, and the death of the Jayhawk.

The ceremony on the whole will be superlatively impressive and fitting to store any hard feelings the unfortunate creature may cherish toward the victorious but generous Cornhusker adherents. The rally will be addressed by several student speakers, alumni and possibly some of the team. There will be an abundance of ginger on tap and plenty of amusement in various forms to warrant an overflow crowd.

The time, Friday at eleven.
The place, Memorial hall.

The occasion, the last sad rites over the "Poor Old Jayhawk," vintage of 1913.

Military Ball Comes Soon After New Years—Sponsors Cause Trouble

The date for the Military ball, the first big all-University formal party of the year, has been set for January 9, the first week after the Christmas holidays. Further announcements concerning the ball are yet to be made, pending action by Allen and Johnson, the managers.

In the mean time, it is a sorry lot of captains who are facing the responsibility of choosing company sponsors. The job of sponsors to a company of some forty-old men seems to be a ticklish proposition, and the captains are loth to thrust the honor upon any fair co-eds who might not appreciate the favor.
