

DECEMBER FIFTH THE DATE OF CORNHUSKER BANQUET

Elaborate Preparations Being Made for Big Feed—Toast List Partially Complete

The date for the Cornhusker banquet, the biggest all-university feed of the year, has been definitely set for Friday, the 5th of December. It is at this time that students and team sit down together and drink, figuratively of course, to the past and the future of football. Plans are being made by Ross Haskell for the largest and most elaborate celebration in years. Never has Nebraska had so much to be thankful for, it is true, and full justice will be done to the spirit of Nebraska students which has succeeded in sweeping everything aside as never before.

Professor Caldwell will be the toastmaster, and although the toast list is not yet complete it is known that Sylvester Shonka, varsity captain of the 1911 team, will be among the speakers. Football, of course, will be the only subject permitted. The team, Coach Stiehm, and the speakers of the evening will be seated on a raised platform in full view of the banqueters.

Debaters Hard at Work.

The varsity debating squad is progressing rapidly with their preparation for victory. The first drafts of speeches have been completed and the second writings are well under way. Hewitt, Dawson, Prince is the order of the affirmative against Minnesota; Kirk, Serensen, Perrin of the negative against Iowa.

pass the ball through his legs but makes a long pass backward and to one side to the back who is to carry the ball. This is a hard pass to make and takes a speedy man to get away with it. In the scrimmage yesterday Thompson was able to spoil more than one of the freshmen center's passes. The Iowa center is going to have the job of his life in making all his passes good for Thompson is going to give him lots of trouble.

"Pony" Backfield In.

After the varsity regular backfield had scrimmaged for about an hour Coach Stiehm sent them into the gym together with the end men. The "pony" backfield, composed of Howard, DeLamatre, Elwell and Coffee went in and Hugg and Gelwick filled the end positions. They, too, received special training as to how the spread formations are to be broken up. And if any of the regulars are injured, the second string man that takes his place will know just what to do.

Tonight the last scrimmage before the game will be held. The men are all in first class condition. They are full of pep and are going into the Iowa game with an irresistible rush that will pull down the long end of the score and close a glorious season of victories with another glorious victory.

Two frosh were ducked and another was hotheaded for violation of traditions of the U. of Washington last week. A Sophomore was also ducked because he was said to be lacking in school spirit.—Exchange.
