Quite Right!

"In many respects this 1913 football machine is one of Nebraska's greatest aggregations during the twenty or more years that we have been stringing along with the sport. The team is shy of beef, especially in the line—and Nebraska lines generally have had plenty of weight—in addition to which most of the players are in their first year on the 'varsity. Yet they have whipped Minnesota, Ames and Kansas, in addition to several foes of lesser caliber, and to date have a clean slate—a record possessed by very few of the top notch elevens in intercollegiate football. The writer has had at least a fair opportunity to study and compare Nebraska teams, and he is frank to say that the 1913 squad has derived most of its success from its splendid fighting spirit. There are several great football players on the Nebraska eleven this fall, but their best asset is their spirit—their determination never to give in. The Iowa Hawkeyes have been running up several fat scores this year, but if they expect to pull that line of stuff on the Cornhuskers, the Iowans may as well get over the notion. The Hawkeyes, for instance, piled up more than seventy points on Northwestern, nearly as many on Indiana, and upward of forty at the expense of the Ames Aggies. It is unquestioned that the Iowans are lugging a fine line of football goods, but when a winning team scores as frequently as Iowa has done, it often means that the losing eleven, providing it has any material knowledge of football, must have "quit." But there will be no quitting by the Cornhuskers when they go against the Hawkeyes. The performances of the Nebraska players this year have demonstrated that they are not made of the quitting stuff."—Lincoln News.

Football fans are getting on to the fact that the Indians should not be rated so highly, considering their training and the fact that they play under no eligibility rules.

"Eastern football writers are featuring Guyon, one of the Carlisle redskins, and styling him the greatest of all present football stars. It should not occasion astonishment that Guyon has learned at least a few of the finer points of the game of the gridiron. Something like a dozen years ago Guyon, then conspicuous for his red hat and his speed, was playing the game with Haskell on Nebraska field. He was a star even then, yet Glenn Warner gets the credit for Guyon's development at Carlisle."—Lincoln News.
