CORNHUSKERS CRUSH HAWKEYS

IOWA DECISIVELY DEFEATED BY SCORE OF 12 TO 0--PURDY, RUTHERFORD, HALLIGAN, MASTER STARS

NEBRASKA IS CHAMPION OF WEST

Wonderful Record of Cornhuskers Only Equaled by Chicago--Game Spectacular and Thrilling--Witnessed by Immense Crowds

(by HUGH V. HARLAN.)

Playing a magnificent game of football that bankrupts the King's English in an attempt to adequately describe it, the mighty Cornhusker football machine of the University of Nebraska crushed the invading Hawkeys of the University of Iowa and sent them back to their native state, outplayed and defeated by the decisive score of 12 to 0. On paper Nebraska appears to be two touchdowns stronger than Iowa; actually the Cornhuskers humbled the alleged speed merchants from Iowa by a total of five touchdowns. Hard luck denied Nebraska three additional counters.

Nebraska, Football Champion of West.

By virtue of the defeat of Minnesota and Iowa, two teams that have defeated all other teams of the Big Nine conference excepting Chicago, Nebraska is Champion of the West. Chicago cannot claim the undisputed western title. Chicago has gone through her entire season without defeat. Nebraska has gone through her entire season without defeat. Chicago bested Minnesota 13 to 7; Nebraska defeated the Gophers 7 to 0, a difference of one point in favor of Nebraska. Nebraska defeated Minnesota when her strongest team was in the field. Chicago defeated Minnesota when the Gophers were at their weakest as several of her stars had not recovered from the grueling battle with Nebraska. Minnesota

THE RALLY AFTER THE GAME.

As It Really Was.

The last, the biggest game of the season, had ended with a complete victory over Iowa. The Cornhuskers were the kings of the west. For a moment the thronged stands were silent. Then there was a mighty murmur, a rush for home, supper, and the stake-holders. The band, paraded the streets, followed by a few stragglers who were pushed off the sidewalks by the hurrying, homeward-bound crowd. At night the old U-Hall bell tolled a victorious note. Down below seventeen students, twenty street urchins and a faithful band of co-eds set up a feeble cheer. The three-piece band piped up while the fire burned high on the field, forsaken but for the small boys playing tag and appreciating the joke.

scored on Chicago but could not score on Nebraska.

Chicago defeated Iowa early in the season when the Hawkeys had not reached their highest development, by the score of 23 to 6. Nebraska pulverized the Hawkeys when they were at their highest point of development by the score of 12 to 0 (the count should have been at least 30 to 0, five touchdowns.) Iowa scored on Chicago but could not push one over on Nebraska. Coach Stagg is credited with saying last week that should Iowa again meet Chicago the Hawkeys would beat the Maroons.

Does this look as the Chicago has anything on Nebraska? There is no doubt that Chicago has the strongest team she has had for many moons but her record is no better than that of Nebraska. Nor have the Midwayites any better claim to the premier honors of the west than have the Cornhuskers. It is to be regretted that these two teams cannot meet in a post-season contest and decide once and for all the championship of the west. Inasmuch as such a game is impossible because of conference rules, Nebraska by virtue of her wonderful record can and does claim the championship of the west, Chicago to the contrary notwithstanding.

Iowa's Strength Not in Evidence.

The alleged speed and strength of the Hawkeys failed to materialize. The much vaunted "spread" formation was a pitiful failure. Not once were the Iowans able to make a good distance by its use. They attempted it again and again, seemingly loathe to believe that its potency was nil against the Cornhusker defense. But the truth of the matter is that they had little else and when that failed they were helpless.

The Hawkeys came here favored by all the Chicago dopesters and full of confidence. Lured into a beautiful serenity of mind by the lop-sided scores they had been able to score against very weak teams they came admitting that they expected victory. But they had not reckoned with Coach Stiehm, the wonder worker.

Stiehm Baffles Hawkeys.

The Hawkeys had not played but one real football team all season. They thought their pet spread formations and trick plays to be invincible. But when they ran up against the Cornhuskers they received the surprise of their football career. They played the best football they knew but their best was not good enough to win. Coach

STEVENS AND MEANS ARE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP MEN

Two Nebraskans Pass Stiff Exam According to Reports Received by Chancellor Avery.

Leslie C. Stevens and Paul F. Means were the successful Nebraska candidates in this year's Rhodes scholarship examinations. Official announcement of the results was received yesterday by Chancellor Avery.

In addition to these two men, Paul F. Good and L. Ross Newkirk, both of whom passed the examination last year, are eligible for the scholarship. The selection will be made later.

Stevens graduated from Wesleyan last spring. He is this year doing graduate work in psychology at the state university, and is assistant in agricultural extension at the state farm. He is a member of Silver Lynx, and his home is in University Place.

Means attended Nebraska during the year 1910-1911. He came from Orleans, Neb., and was a member of the Bushnell Guild. From here he went to Yale, where he is now a senior.

Good took the examination in all subjects except Greek last year while attending Amherst. This year he registered as a freshman law in the University of Nebraska, and took this fall's examination in Greek.

Newkirk is not certain whether or not he will apply for the scholarship this year. His success last fall leaves him still in the running, but he may not try to qualify. He is a junior law in the university, is a graduate of Wesleyan and is registered from Exeter.

The man among the four eligibles who receives the appointment will become the third Nebraskan at Oxford. Horace B. English and W. F. Crossland are the two now there.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS WILL MEET ON GRIDIRON TODAY

Interesting Game is Promised by the Coaches of the Two Teams.

The junior and senior classes will clash Tuesday afternoon on the athletic field for the football supremacy of the two classes. The game will be called promptly at 4 o'clock.

This game will no doubt be a good one as both teams are in the pink of condition and are coached by two able generals, Racely and Zumwinkle. These men are anxious to have a record breaking crowd and all members of those classes should be out to the game as well as a good representation of under classmen.

The championship game will either be played Wednesday or just after vacation. The date will be announced in The Nebraskan.

A Sophomore class meeting will be held Tuesday morning at 11:30 in S.102 (the basement room underneath Memorial hall) for the consideration of important business. All sophomores out.

TRIMBLE NAMES STAFF

PICKS THOSE WHO WILL ASSIST IN GETTING OUT BIG YEAR BOOK.

WILL BEGIN WORK IMMEDIATELY

First Section of Cornhusker Will be Ready for Printer in Short Time.

Editor Trimble of the 1914 Cornhusker has issued the list of appointments for the staff. The announcements would have been out earlier but for the fact that the new quarters of the publication, on the fourth floor of University hall, were not in readiness.

The staff is designated the Cornhusker Board by the editor, to handle all the material that comes in. The respective positions in the departments have not as yet been decided upon, as the editor wants each member to choose the department in which he desires to work. In this manner the editor believes that he can get the best out of every member of his staff.

Boxes for contributions will be placed in conspicuous places on the campus soon and will invite any and all contributions. It is hoped that the number of such contributions will be large.

The following list of names has been issued and approved, the students named constituting the staff of the 1914 annual:

Sam Griffin, president of the senior class, member of the Innocents and the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. Griffin has been active in all school activities.

Harold Noble, is a member of the senior class, getting his degrees in the college of law. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Harold Schwab. Schwab is a member of the sophomore class, also being on the debating squad. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Robert Finley. Finley is a promi-

THE RALLY AFTER THE GAME.

As It Might Have Been.

The last, the biggest game of the season had ended with a complete victory over Iowa. The Cornhuskers were the kings of the west. The stands rocked with the cheers of the crowd, and in the streets of Lincoln a long line of celebrating students twisted and snaked-danced for hours. At night, while the band blared a triumphant march, hundreds of men—some old and long since graduated, others still in their first year at Nebraska U.—heaped high the giant bonfire. They pledged anew loyalty to the Scarlet and Cream, while their cheers for the unvanquished Eleven mounted with the flames.
