

ART EXHIBIT CLEARS $1,000 TO BE USED TO BUY PICTURES

Decision Not Yet Made as to Which Will Stay in Library but Will be Given Out Soon.

The stockholders of the Nebraska Art association held their meeting Thursday night at the Art gallery and elected W. A. Sellock, Don L. Love, Prof. Paul Grunmann and Prof. G. E. Howard members of the board.

The treasurer, W. E. Hardy, reported that there would be a balance of $1,000 after all expenses had been paid, with which pictures for the permanent collection can be purchased. Some time was spent discussing the different pictures that seemed to meet the popular taste. The association will at once enter into correspondence with the artists relative to the sale. The pictures which may remain in the gallery may possibly be the Nichols marine "Rocks of the Chateaux," the Palmer snowscape, "Lingering Oak leaves" and the picture by Beur, "News From Home." The association expressed its appreciation of the work done by the membership committee, and passed a resolution of thanks to Mrs. George Woods for the loan of her collection of Japanese art treasures.

The year's business of the association will be concluded at a board meeting to be called by President D. L. Love within the next ten days.

Some of the pictures which have been in Lincoln the last three weeks will go to Omaha from here. Prof. Grunmann is to give the opening lecture. The rest will remain on free exhibition at the library with student attention especially invited.

EDUCATION IN PHILIPPINES IMPROVES GOVT. AFFAIRS

Graduates Exert Helpful Influence in Running United States Protectorate.

The influence which the larger number of school-trained children in the Philippines will have on the political body of the country is great. In no less degree than the boys do the girls contribute to the general intelligence of the country, though they do not become voters. In that rapidly developing country, a primary graduate as soon as he becomes of age, should possess such educational qualifications as may enable him to meet the requirement for becoming a voter. Intermediate graduates should, in view of their greater opportunity for study, be qualified for leadership in their respective communities. High school graduates, even if they do not continue their studies in the university, are educationally qualified for leadership in a rather broad way. The influence of the public schools is even now being felt in governmental affairs.

The report of the attendance of the public schools just after the opening of this school year has reached the authorities at Washington. It shows a very material increase over last year. During the school year 1912-13 there were graduated from the primary course 10,938 boys and 4,102 girls; from the intermediate course 3,643 boys and 1,052 girls; from the secondary course 284 boys and 58 girls. The present year shows a total attendance of 463,518 divided as follows: primary 425,993, intermediate 39,576 and secondary 1,910. "It is very evident therefore," says the Director of Education, "that our graduations for this school year are going to be much larger."

Due to the very excellent courses of study provided for the pupils of the public schools and the thorough manner in which they are carried out, this increasing number of graduates is having a most beneficial effect and is certain to advance the interests of the country, not only in a governmental but in a material way as well.

It is estimated that the public schools are now reaching about one-third of the school population. There are approximately a million children of school age not now provided with public school facilities. This condition is largely due to insufficiency of funds available for appropriation for school purposes. For the year 1912-13 there was expended from Insular, Provincial and Municipal funds the sum of 3,531,427.91 or 47 cents per capita of total population, while in the United States the average cost of education per capita of population is $4.45, almost ten times as great.

A Rushing Episode.

Has anybody seen the big Wyoming sombrero floating around the campus or the wooden shoes? Don't get frightened if you do, because what at first appears to be Buffalo Bill's advance press agent, or in the latter case ein knabe fresh from der vaterland, are in reality nothing but verdant would-be Greeks undergoing chastisement in the preliminaries. And a chastened bunch they are "for fair."

Presumably the second degree will be administered as soon as the fishing is good in O street.
