UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1914.

PRICE 5 CENTS

NEBRASKA HONORED

PHARMACY DEPARTMENT IS ADMITTED TO CONFERENCE.

ORGANIZED FOR FIVE YEARS

Unanimous Election into American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties Recognition of Nebraska Quality.

The Nebraska School of Pharmacy, which was founded five years ago, has been recently admitted to the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties, according to the statement given out by Dr. Lyman of that department. This recognition of the quality of Nebraska's Pharmacy department comes as a distinct honor, granted to only the very best schools.

A Conference ruling requires that a school shall be founded five years before admission into the order. Nebraska's five years were up last year and she was elected a member by a unanimous vote.

Only the better schools have been granted membership into the organization, some of which are: The Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, Columbia University School of Pharmacy, Brooklyn College, Massachusetts College, Minnesota School of Pharmacy, St. Louis College of Pharmacy, Kansas and California.

The object of the Conference is to organize better pharmacy schools throughout the United States and to further pharmaceutical education by uniform courses and a raising of the requirements for entry into the profession. The effects of its work has been felt more among the eastern schools than in the west, as the members of the Conference are more numerous there and have been established longer.

Nebraska as a newly elected member will be entitled to a delegate to the annual meeting of the Conference, which will be held next August at Detroit, Michigan.

As a result of this distinction, Nebraska's course of study and her grades will be accepted by all of the other Conference schools. Considering that only the very best schools are admitted, the Nebraska School of Pharmacy is deserving of the highest recognition.

DANCING PROFESSOR AT GIRLS' MATINEE DANCE

Professor Chambers of Omaha to Be at Girls' Club Meeting This Afternoon.

The American people love a change and that is what the Girls' Club will have at their meeting this afternoon. Professor Chambers of Omaha, who is a dancing master versed in the art of tripping the latest steps, will be present to give the University girls an opportunity to know just how "they" should be danced when indulged in by perfectly proper and modest young ladies. The professor's work will not consist of personal instruction, but will be rather demonstrative. He will be there at 3:30 o'clock.

The informal matinee dance will commence at 1:30 and will continue until 5 p. m. The interest shown in

ATHLETES BARRED.

University of Chicago "Heroes" May Not Hold Class Offices.

Athletes will not be permitted to hold class offices in the University of Chicago. This action was taken by the student council of the university a few days ago.

There has been an agitation under way for some time in regard to this matter, as it was said that often incompetent men were elected to office on the strength of their popularity in sports, and their ability to fill the office was not considered.

The action proposes to do away with the possibility of the election of athletic "heroes" by making them ineligible to hold office in their class organizations. As the council expressed it, this action is designed to prevent any student from being carried into office through his popularity as an athlete. —Purdue Exponent.

"MATH" NO LONGER REQUIRED OF FRESHIES

Freshmen Given a Wider Choice of Subjects—Action Meets With General Favor.

The one great barrier that confronts every "Frosh" upon his arrival at this seat of learning has been removed. "Math," formerly one of the absolutely required subjects in the freshman program, can now be cast aside and not worried about. It has been said that whenever a man entering the University could "get by" his advisor without having to take "Math," he would have no cause to worry about the other barriers which would confront him throughout his college career. Any one of the sciences may now be substituted for mathematics, and it is needless to say that even though science is not the loveliest subject in the school, many would rather take two science studies than one course in mathematics. A greater choice of electives in the freshman year has been decided upon and instead of being able to select from only one group of three studies, the beginner can now choose any one of ten subjects, namely: American, English and European histories, English literature, political economy, political science, astronomy, entomology, geography and geology.

The new school of commerce has arranged a course similar to the courses offered by the engineering departments, that is, the freshman taking this work can get into his subject the very first year without having to take a year's required work, most of which will in no way appeal to him.

Nebraska's point-a-minute basketball team got a decided jolt when Nebraska Wesleyan met them on their own floor and defeated them. Coach Stehm, expecting an easy game, used a number of subs, who couldn't do the work for the University team. Nebraska, however, has a strong team, having many victories over small colleges to her credit already. Haskell, the little Cornhuskers' captain, who will be remembered as being a real whirlwind last year, seems to be better than ever this season.—The I. C. S. Student.

These gatherings has been very encouraging and a large attendance is expected today.

NO MORE BANQUETS

ORDER PROHIBITS FUTURE PANHELLENIC BANQUETS.

CHANCELLOR SIGNS ORDER

Conduct at Recent Banquet Is the Cause of the Ban—Action Caused by a Few, But All Must Suffer the Consequences.

The days "When Good Fellows Get Together" is a thing of the past insofar as the Pan-Hellenic Banquet is concerned. An order issued by President Lees and approved by Chancellor Avery, abolishes the Council Banquet forever. This action is a development of the late banquet, which was held last Saturday night.

The conduct of a few students at this banquet is given out as the cause of action taken by the University authorities. There has been much criticism of some of the features of this function, and it is thought by both President Lees and Chancellor Avery that the University of Nebraska can not afford to have such an occurrence repeated. The facts which give rise to this decision are quite well known and do not require explanation.

A few days ago three students were placed on probation. This was another step which resulted from investigation into that affair and their remaining in school depends upon their future conduct.

In speaking of the action of the University officers, President Lees stated that the order was caused by a very few students and that it was very unfortunate that several hundred should be made to suffer from the

A BAD MIX-UP ON SENIOR INVITATIONS

Committee Appointed by First Semester President is Dethroned.

Invitations to the front. This is what is worrying the Senior Class just now. And no one knows just what to do—but wait. The whole affair grew out of the appointment of an invitation committee by last semester's president, Sam Griffin. This committee got busy about a week ago and let the contract to E. A. Wright, of Philadelphia. This contract had to be signed by the purchasing agent before it was valid. It was taken to that office and, in the absence of Mr. Evans, was signed by an assistant. Then trouble began. It was discovered that several years ago the first-semester president and the second-semester president both appointed invitation committees. Both let contracts. And a law suit resulted. The University decided that the committee was properly a second-semester appointment, and ruled that thereafter this committee should be appointed by the second-semester president. But this was lost sight of, and the committee was appointed and the contract let. The purchasing agent made short work of the committee's agreement. So there is no contract at present.

Yesterday Mr. A. S. Savin, a representative of Elliot & Co., of North Philadelphia—the only other house doing this work—appeared on the scene. And, of course, he wants the contract.

MOTIVE IN LIFE.

Dr. Williams Speaks of the Value of a University Training.

Dr. J. P. Williams, of the firm of Dayton & Williams, spoke on "Motive in Life" before one of the best audiences ever assembled at the Thursday evening meetings in the University Temple. Dr. Williams emphasized the fact that the world wants men with an all-around education and not so much specialists who make it a point to do nothing except get all the money they can out of their clients. People expect much of University educated men because of the opportunities offered them by society. Graduates owe a debt to society they can never pay. They are given an education which only a small percentage of young people are able to obtain and for this reason, Dr. Williams pointed out, that a great deal is expected of them because of their superior training.

ARE GATHERING FACTS ON STUDENT COUNCIL

Committee Met Yesterday—Have Provided Question for Special Investigation.

The special committee appointed to investigate the Student Council, as a possible organization for the University of Nebraska, met yesterday afternoon. Thus far their work has been largely devoted to an accumulation of facts and information regarding the Student Council systems which are at present in operation in other schools. Some seventy-five letters have been received and valuable data is being gleaned therefrom.

The question is being taken up from four distinct angles—formation, membership, powers, and conditions. The committee has been divided into forces to investigate each part of the question, as it is thought that by this method of procedure the best results will be obtained.

As to matters of formation, the question of how to form is of great importance. After the matter of formation, the questions as to who shall be members and what shall be the powers of the organization are receiving due consideration. The conditions and circumstances under which the Student Council system of the various schools are manipulated is also being deliberated upon and compared with those of Nebraska.

After a complete investigation has been made and all the facts available analyzed, the entire situation will be placed before the student body for their consideration and their verdict.

Some of the best examples of Student Councils are now located at Michigan, Grinnell, Stephens School of Technology, Amherst, and Johns Hopkins.

A small number of faculty representatives have been admitted in some of the Student Councils and it has been found that they have a desired influence. In some instances the faculty has also been given a certain power of veto.

The members of the committee which is laboring on this question are: Bessie Rodgers, Beth Hyde, Will Kavan, Chandler Trimble, and Sam Griffin.

MEXICO IS TOO HOT

MEXICANS TAKING REFUGE ON AMERICAN SIDE.

PROFESSOR CONDRA RETURNS

Business for Nebraska Conservation and Soil Survey Carries Him into the Vicinity of the Mexican Trouble.

Professor Condra came back to the land of winter from Texas yesterday afternoon. He has been south on business for the Nebraska Conservation and Soil Survey. It is his duty to investigate all land promotion schemes which are at present doing business in this state. He has spent the past week in Texas, close to the Mexican border, investigating a score of land schemes. He reports that they are mostly unworthy; that a really good investment is scarce. He inquires into the financial backing of the concern, and then obtains all their literature. This he carefully analyses. If it is exactly truthful, then the company is allowed to sell within this state. If, on the other hand, it is found to be fraudulent, the company is prohibited from doing business in Nebraska. This is the kind of protection that the Soil Survey is giving the people of the state. It is a practical "blue sky" law.

One of the greatest of all undertakings in Texas, and one "on the square," is the Medina Irrigation project. Joe Sargent, a graduate of the University, had charge of the building of their million-dollar dam. He is at present in Spain, in charge of extensive irrigation operations.

Dr. Condra was within fifteen miles of the Mexican border. Refugees are pouring into the United States in great numbers. They are becoming a common sight in the cities of the south. Many have even come as far north as Kansas City. El Paso, Dallas and Fort Worth are filled with them. A great many of them come as agricultural laborers, but there are also many from the higher classes. But all are coming to stay. They have had enough of Mexico. So they cross the border with their families, their belongings, their carts, and whatever they could throw together in their haste.

KAPPA SIGMAS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETINGS

Formal Dance Last Night—Extensive Program Prepared—Several Visitors Present.

The annual formal dancing party of the Kappa Sigma fraternity was held at the Lincoln Hotel last night despite the inclement weather. During the afternoon the local chapter, together with their many visitors, attended the Orpheum in a body. The program of the conclave for today consists of a visit to the state capitol, a business meeting and initiation, and the annual banquet, which is to be held in the Lindell Hotel this evening.

Harvard students who attend the prom, one of the leading social affairs of the year, must not send flowers to young women guests. The students in charge have made this ruling because of the present high cost of entertaining.—The Daily Iowan.
