TO PLACE DAMAGES TO COMPEL CITIES TO ENFORCE THE LAW FAVORS THE CONVENTION

Items of General Interest Gathered from Reliable Sources Around the State House

Western Newspaper Union News Service. One of the new ideas in prohibition law-making that will be urged upon the state legislative committee that will prepare the measure is to make each city, town, village or other political unit financially responsible for all damages that may follow liquor drinking therein unless the governing authorities can show that they have been diligent in enforcing the law.

Such a provision, it is believed, would make impossible the open joints like those that made prohibition a farce in Kansas for many years, and make illegal selling a matter of up the alley and down a staircase and step lightly sort of business. In other words, it is believed that it will give the most effective form of enforcement since if the effort is made persons injured by the drinking of liquor—meaning dependents—could easily fasten the responsibility upon the municipality by testimony.

By thus making the municipality, instead of the liquor dispenser and his bondsman, as under the Slocumb law, the responsible party, it is argued that city officials will be forced by public sentiment and public interest to enforce the law, regardless of whether the law is popular in the city or not, because the people, rather than foot the bills themselves for the industry, would recall the officials.

Favor Constitutional Convention. By a unanimous vote, the house as a committee of the whole has voiced its approval of house bill No. 2 calling for a constitutional convention, sent it to third reading and recommended its passage. No one opposed the bill.

Would Pay Old Soldiers' Expenses. The sum of $20,000 will be set aside for the use of old soldiers in getting to and from their national reunion at Vicksburg next fall if a bill introduced in the house meets with the approval of the legislature. As drawn up by Jacobson of Dawson and Fred Johnson of Adams, the measure provides that the $20,000, or as much of it as shall be necessary for the payment of railroad fare and incidental expenses while en route, shall be appropriated for the use of all civil war veterans, both union and confederate, who have lived here a year.

Invite Superintendents to Meet. State Superintendent Clemmons has sent out letters of invitation to all county superintendents of the state for a meeting to be held in his office January 25 and 26. Almost all the county superintendents have accepted the invitation and a splendid meeting is anticipated.

Forty-seven lives were lost and over 100 persons were painfully burned by fire in Nebraska in 1916, according to the report of Fire Commissioner Ridgell.

They Want a New State House. While giving their first loyalty to their home county and the western section of the state, the Sheridan county farmers and business men who attended the sessions of organized agriculture at Lincoln last week have shown their progressive spirit by declaring unanimously in favor of the erection of a new capitol building at Lincoln, to replace the old dilapidated structure which now houses the legislature of Nebraska.

In his address on "Some Marketing Problems for the Nebraska Farmer," before the three hundred and fifty farmers attending the Wednesday morning session of the Corn Improvers' association at the state farm, Prof. C. W. Pugsley of the extension service said that the problem of distribution was the problem demanding the attention of the Nebraska farmer today.

Victor Wilson, a member of the state board of railway commissioners, is the author of a bill introduced Wednesday by Senator Albert, requiring all of the companies and businesses over which the commission has jurisdiction, including the blue sky concerns, to pay all of the costs of any investigation necessary. Under present conditions when a company's property must be valued or its books gone over by representatives of the commission, the state foots the bills. Mr. Wilson would have the companies stand the expense.

BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

W. R. Mellor, Who Had Served Seven Years, Defeated for Secretary

W. R. Mellor, secretary of the Nebraska state board of agriculture, for the last eleven years, was defeated for re-election at the meeting of the board at the state farm Wednesday morning. The vote stood 42 to 28. E. R. Danielson of Osceola succeeded him.

All the other old officers were nominated and elected by acclamation. They were: J. A. Ollis, of Ord, president; R. M. Wolcott, of Central City, first vice president; J. F. McArdle, of Omaha, second vice president; Jacob Sasa, of Chalco, treasurer.

Against the protest of Mellor after his defeat, and on the recommendation of Danielson, the secretary was removed from a vote on the board of directors. E. R. Purcell was put on in place of the secretary. On the directorate are now the president, vice presidents and George Jackson, of Nelson, and Charles Graff, of Bancroft, both re-elected.

W. C. Caley, of Creighton, replaced Danielson, who the past year was on the board of directors.

Was Largest Ever Held. "This year's attendance at organized agriculture meetings was by far the largest in the history of such events," declared Prof. C. W. Pugsley, director and secretary of the committee in charge of organized agriculture week. Total attendance at all sessions this year was estimated at 15,000.

"This session of agricultural meetings was probably the largest gathering of farmers for educational purposes ever held in the United States," said Professor Pugsley. He based this statement upon his own wide attendance at farmers' meetings and upon statements of other speakers who participated in organized agriculture. Herbert Quick declared that the audience he addressed Friday afternoon at St. Paul's church on rural credits was the largest he has ever addressed before on that subject.

To Push County Agent Work

A new association, known as the Nebraska farm bureau association, came into existence last week at a meeting at the university farm of farmers interested in county agent work. This association consists of officers and directors of county farm bureaus, as farmers associations in charge of local county agent work are called.

The purpose of the new association is to furnish a medium for the exchange of ideas in county agent work and to extend the work over the entire state. There are now 2,500 farmers in the state who are members of the various county farm bureaus employing county agents. They are among the most progressive and influential farmers of the state.

Deficiency Claims

The state board of control will ask the legislature to appropriate a total of $46,769 to cover deficiencies in the maintenance funds of state institutions for two years ending April 1, 1917. The deficiencies are as follows: Girls' school at Geneva, $8,665; Orthopedic hospital, 16,337; Milford women's home, 4,601; Norfolk insane asylum, 10,561; Dependent children's home, 5,975; One quarter's salary for consulting engineer, 625.

The deficiency at the state hospital for the insane at Norfolk is caused solely by an increase in the number of inmate population.

For Monument to Colonel Cody

Mr. Bulla of Douglas has introduced a bill appropriating $25,000 as Nebraska's share of a $100,000 fund to be provided by the states of Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming and the city of Denver for a monument to Buffalo Bill, located on Mount Lookout, near Denver. None of this money is to be available until the whole amount is provided.

Dedicate New Dairy Building

The modern dairy building on the university farm campus, just completed at a cost of $200,000, was formally dedicated Wednesday night when regents of the university, Chancellor Avery and members of the faculty received several hundred Nebraskans in attendance at the sessions of organized agriculture.

County Assessors to Meet at Lincoln

Secretary O. E. Bernecker of the state board of assessment has called a meeting of county assessors for January 29 and 30 in the court house at Lincoln. The two days' session will begin at 10 on the morning of January 29. The county assessors elected last November are all new men in office except some who previously served in the office of county clerk. The work they will begin in the spring is entirely new to most of them and the object of the meeting is to instruct them in their duties.

Recommended Course in Journalism

A course leading to a certificate in journalism and an A. B. degree was approved by the faculty of the arts college of the state university Saturday, and will be recommended for passage to the university senate. Eighteen hours of strictly journalistic training form the major requirement of the course. News writing and news editing, editorial writing, special articles, and the history of journalism are the journalistic subjects. Rhetoric, history, natural sciences and economics are among the requirements.

Nebraska beet sugar can be used as well as cane sugar in the manufacture of syrup for soda pop. F. W. Upson, professor of agricultural chemistry of the University of Nebraska told fifty members of the Nebraska Bottlers' association at Omaha. In the past, it had been believed that beet sugar could not be substituted for cane which is the more expensive. "It will mean a great thing for the Nebraska beet sugar industry," said Secretary Frank I. Ringer, Lincoln. "If all the Nebraska bottlers use beet sugar."

All price records for fed lambs were broken at the South Omaha market last week when $14.35 per cwt. was paid for two shipments from the western part of Nebraska. One bunch of 516 was sent in by A. F. Elliott of Minatare, and averaged seventy-four pounds over the scales. The other bunch came from Bond & Scott of Wood River, and averaged seventy-one pounds. This brings the price per head at about $11.

PLANS WORLD PEACE

WILSON OUTLINES CONDITIONS TO AVOID FUTURE WARS.

URGES U. S. JOIN ALLIANCE

President Recommends Abandonment of Isolation Policy—Washington Amazed by His Utterances.

Washington.—Whether the United States shall enter a world peace league and, as many contend, thereby abandon its traditional policy of isolation and non-entangling alliances, was laid squarely before congress and the country by President Wilson in a personal address to the senate.

For the first time in more than a hundred years a president of the United States appeared in the senate chamber to discuss the nation's foreign relations after the manner of Washington, Adams and Madison. The effect was to leave congress, all official quarters, and the foreign diplomats amazed and bewildered.

Stunning Utterance. "Startling," "staggering," "astounding"—the noblest utterance that has fallen from human lips since the declaration of independence—were among the expressions of senators.

The president recommended that the United States join a league of nations to enforce peace. He urged that the principle of the American Monroe doctrine be made the doctrine of the world.

He declared there "is no entangling alliance in a concert of power."

The president said a settlement to guarantee peace and justice throughout the world cannot be long postponed and that this government should formulate the conditions upon which it could ask its people to approve adherence to a league for peace.

Interested in Peace Terms. The president declared the present war must first be ended, but said "it makes a great deal of difference" to this government "in what way and upon what terms it is ended." He declared he was taking it for granted that mere terms of peace between the belligerents will not even satisfy the warring nations, themselves.

Agreements will not make peace secure, he said, and it will be necessary that a force be created to guarantee the permanency of the settlement.

"Very explicit assurances," regarding peace received from the belligerents, the president said, imply "that the peace that comes must be a peace without victory."

Big and Small Nations Alike. "The guarantees exchanged," he said, "must neither recognize nor imply a difference between big nations and small."

"I am proposing," said the president, "that the nations should with one accord adopt the doctrine of President Monroe as the doctrine of the world; that no nation should seek to extend its policy over any other nation or people, but that every people should be left free to determine its own policy, its own way of development, unhindered, unthreatened, unafraid, the little along with the great and powerful."

"I am proposing that all nations henceforth avoid entangling alliances which would drive them into competitions of power, catch them in a net of intrigue and selfish rivalry, and disturb their own affairs with influences intruded from without."

He then laid down the following basis for a lasting peace: Add the authority and power of the United States to the authority and force of other nations to guarantee peace and justice throughout the world.

A peace founded on an equality of rights.

A united, independent and autonomous plan.

So far as practicable freedom to all nations for full development of resources and direct outlet to the great highways of the seas.

Freedom of the seas.

Limitation of naval and military armament.

Blue Sky Law Valid.

Washington.—So-called blue sky laws of Ohio, Michigan and South Dakota, regulating the sale of securities and designed to bar get-rich-quick schemes were upheld as constitutional by the supreme court in far-reaching decisions affecting similar laws in twenty-six states. The court ruled that such statutes may curb and burden legitimate business, but hold that the interests of legitimate business are not paramount to the police power of states to protect their citizens from fraud.

Steel Helmets for Swiss Troops.

Berne.—Following the example of France, England and Germany, the Swiss government has decided to equip all troops of the line with steel helmets. The new Swiss helmets look very much like those used in the French army.

Carranza Seeks Recruits.

Mexico City.—An energetic recruiting campaign for the constitutional army has been started here. The recruits are being dispatched to the northern commands.

Mayor Demands Embargo.

Detroit, Mich.—An embargo on all freight shipments into Detroit, through the Toledo, O., gateway, except fuel, foodstuffs and livestock, was demanded of all railroads by Mayor Marx. The demand followed a municipal investigation of the coal shortage which revealed that local dealers have only eleven cars of hard coal and 100 of soft coal. More than 7,000 carloads of coal for Detroit are held at Toledo, it was learned, because of the unprecedented congestion in the railroad yards here.
