Government Appeals to Farmers in the Corn Belt.

Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture has issued an appeal for increased corn production to farmers in the ten leading corn growing states of the union. An article showing which states and counties should be most successful in increasing the corn yield is printed in this issue of our paper. This state is included, therefore it is up to our farmer friends to manifest their patriotism to the nation by pushing to the limit the production of corn. Be sure to read this statement and act accordingly.
