Jas. Bentine living northwest of Chappell was in town the first of the week and stated that a portion of his grain this year was threshing out at about thirty-four and one-half bushels per acre. The rain had stopped the threshing for a short time the first part of the week and when he was in town the threshing had not been completed. He estimated that a part of his grain would be considerable lighter in yield though he has nearly a hundred acres of grain that will turn out at about the above mentioned yield.—Chappell Register.

H. E. Willis and F. B. Hartman auted up to Arcadia last Saturday and butted right into one of the finest dinners that the aforesaid editors have encountered for many a day. The trip was made to see General Steele of the National Guard reserves, who was in Arcadia on that day, and Mrs. MelGordon had prepared a fine spread for the general, so the two lean and hungry editors had the honor of dining with a distinguished man, which fact didn't prevent them from doing full justice to the spread in the least. On the following Monday the Northwestern editor accompanied County Superintendent Currier to Litchfield early in the morning. We were supposed to be back in a couple of hours, but didn't get back until night. This time we were entertained by Jack Rightenour and had another fine dinner served by Mrs. Rightenour. The Northwestern editor certainly knows where to go for fine feeds now, and when out of town will probably be found either at Arcadia or Litchfield.

CORN MACHINERY

The Agricultural College of Nebraska shows corn fodder cut and cured at right time carried 012 per cent fat or as much nutrient as prairie hay, sorghum or millet, almost as much feed value as alfalfa hay. You can sell your alfalfa hay from $14.00 to $16.00 per ton, prairie hay $8.00 to $12.00. I would advise cutting your corn fodder and save your hay.

Having bought several Deering corn binders early, can save you $10.00 to $15.00 by placing your order now. It is the only binder made that will cut and bind all sizes of corn. Can see samples at my store.

Can furnish you with two and four rolls shredders that will shuck and shired your corn that a six and eight horse power gas engine will run.
