Notice is hereby given to the citizens living in the northeast part of town that ye editor and family has moved into the Landers residence, and that it would be well for all concerned to keep their hen houses locked after dark as our table is scanty and meat with us is scarce. VILE VAFORINGS.

The following from the Monitor is in answer to a comment which we made two weeks ago regarding the printing of the bar dockets:

For downright cussedness, and a low, pusillanimous make-up, commend us to the writer of the above, Geo. Househoter. He is too destitute of worth to be noticed in these columns, were it not that the public may be enabled to understand the facts in the case, and not be misied by his contemptible lying. In the first place we want to say distinctly that the bar dockets were printed according to contract and indexed according to contract and indexed according to contract and in addition the cases numbered as they appear on the district court docket, he cloud have said so, and it would have been done.

We have no desire to refute any insinuations regarding our ignorance of the printing trade or any of the rules that govern therein, but we do desire to say that when we need to take lessons, we won't go to Geo. Benschoter for them. We beg our readers' pardon for devoting so much space to so small a matter, and so inferior an animal as Benschoter is, but the attack is so unwarranted and withal so unprincipled, that it necessitates notice. The whole thing is a matter of spite work on his part, as is also the Litchfield Northwestern, and is so understood by everone, and in his uncailed for attacks upon the editor of this paper he shows his "dog in the manger" principles so clearly that all men who respect themselves give him a wide berth.—Litchfield Monitor.

The above episode, coming as it does from the pen of a self convicted liar, and a character who is branded with deciet and selfishness of the deepest dye, attempts to show that we are misteading the people in certain facts relating to his printing the make assurance doubly sure use De district court bar dockets, and in his Witt's Sarsaparilla to enrich, purify and dastardly and cowardly manner renew the blood. seeks to cover up the blunder by a plain denial, and a tirade of abuse, of which his selfish carcass is too full Tuesday and did a nice business with for further concealment. We stand ready to prove everything we said in regard to the work, and if the brainless puppy wishes us to do so let him come forword.

> He charges us with spite work In answer we will say that it is not necessary for us to evince spite to keep even with a headless being whose neck has grown up and haired

He says that "Ail men who respect themselves give him a wide berth.' It cannot be that Mr. Bradley thinks very much of himself, as but a short time ago he was hanging around our office trying to get us to pool on county printing, and when we agreed on the matter, he, like a deceitful, whining cur, went back on his own proposition. Of course, he was giving us "a wide berth," he was reforming, you know. Again, there must be a multitude of people in this part of Nebraska, and especially in Litchfield, who patronize us, who, according to the accusation of the Monitor, do not "respect themselves."

As to the Litchfield NORTHWESTERN that we were likely to have a year of The following letter from one of ing our publication to a half sheet, as our subscribers who is interested in did the Moniter, we began to rustle Sherman County, but a resident of Illinois, we publish, for two reasons: for work, and hence we started up the new enterprise.
