

NEBRASKA NEWS.

A spirited religious revival is on at Diller.

Many farmers in Richardson county are building homes.

The thermometer registered 91 in Omaha on the 14th.

There are 168 men and 28 women as inmates of the Grand Island soldiers' home.

The attendance and exhibits at the Phelps county fair exceeded all former years.

Considerable improvement is being made at the soldiers' home building in Grand Island.

County fairs have now nearly all been held and most of them were record breakers.

Robert C. Walker has been appointed fourth-class postmaster at Thornburg, Hayes county.

The news stand of Wm. Roger, Seward, was relieved of five dollars' worth of nickels by a burglar.

All inmates of the Grand Island soldiers' home were given free admission to the county fair.

Fifteen Hooper women, tired of their present condition, have banded together and organized a woman's club.

Butler county's fair was a success financially; all premiums were paid up in full and some back indebtedness was cleared up.

Washington county will vote this fall on the question of refunding $83,000 worth of bonds issued to aid the Sioux City & Pacific railroad.

The state treasurer has called in $25,000 of general and $15,000 of university fund warrants, interest on which will cease on October 21.

A man named Johnson was drowned in the Lodge Pole creek about seven miles west of Chappel. Johnson was formerly a member of the Omaha police force.

The Burlington depot was broken into at Alma while the agent was at supper. The thief relieved the cash drawer of $8 in currency and a German thaler dated 1780.

Fred Mansfield, who has been working on the farm of H. G. Hooper across the river from North Bend, Saunders county has been arrested for stealing $250 from his employer.

George Dechers, while driving home five miles northwest of Rising City, was seriously, perhaps fatally injured by his team running away and throwing him from his wagon, fracturing several ribs and otherwise injuring him.

A telegram was received in Fremont from Sheriff Kreader, who is at Wheaton, Kas., that "Big Mike" Wagoner was captured near that place. Wagoner is charged with having committed assault upon Operator Pargeter at North Bend, with intent to kill.

A fire at the state penitentiary destroyed an empty warehouse of the Lincoln coopers company which stood just outside of the walls, and two Burlington box cars, one of which was loaded with broom corn belonging to the Lee broom and duster company.

Sheriff Camp left Oglala for Lincoln with Warren Rema, who was convicted in the March, 1896, term of court, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for killing cattle. Rema appealed to the supreme court for a new trial which was denied, and he now goes to serve out his sentence.

Mr. F. Davis, a newspaper man of Columbus, has gone to Chattanooga, Tenn., in answer to a telegram that his wife was dangerously ill at that point. He had to get a certificate from the board of health as a passport into the quarantined country. The telegram left in the dark as to whether his wife's malady was yellow fever or not.

Robbers cracked the safe of the Howard bank at Boelus and got away with between $1,300 and $1,500. Two explosions were necessary to effect an entrance to what was generally considered a burglar-proof safe, both of which were distinctly heard by many of the villagers, but no one took enough interest in the cause to investigate.

Sheriff W. H. Woolsey of Johnson county has taken the boy, Willie Keegan, to Chicago, in response to a telegram from the boy's relatives so to do. Young Keegan was in jail at Tecumseh all last week as a suspected pickpocket. When his parents learned of the whereabouts of their wayward son they notified the sheriff to bring him home at their expense.

Competition for river trade between the pontoon bridge and the ferryboat company at Decatur is getting warmer every day. Transportation by both companies is offered free and not only this, each has a representative in town drilling up custom. People are taking advantage of the cut rates and there are those who are crossing the river who have never seen the other side.

The Wood River district fair, which closed last week, had a fine line of exhibits. The vegetables, grains and other displays were all of an excellent quality, and showed Hall county to be one of the leading agricultural counties in the state. The large potatoes and plump wheat attracted much attention. One of the managers of the fair expressed the opinion that the stock exhibits showed more entries and a better quality than ever before.

W. R. Harris of Tecumseh, is home from Springfield, Ill., where he has been with an exhibit of the agricultural products of Nebraska at the Illinois state fair. Mr. Harris says that the Nebraska show of these products was the best there and that his exhibit elicited much favorable comment.

Frank Crow of Hastings, the young man who was stabbed by a woman, who used a hat pin for a stiletto, is recovering from his wound. As the physician failed to find the pin which broke off near the head when entering his left side, his life is still in danger, as it is feared the steel will work up into the lungs or heart.

Condensations that Embody a Good Deal of Information Without Requiring Much Space—Foreign and Domestic News Notes on All Subjects.

Monday, October 11.

There is an exodus from Galveston on account of yellow fever.

President McKinley will visit Missouri some time next month.

The fever situation at New Orleans is without change for the better.

Relations between Russia and Japan are said to be greatly strained.

Ex-Secretary of State Chilton of West Virginia is short $15,000 or $20,000.

H. Lowe, the son of a former judge of Iowa, is in jail at Tacoma for burglary.

Footpads held up and fatally shot a Chicago newspaper carrier 60 years old.

Hannis Taylor, late United States minister to Spain, has arrived in Washington.

Illinois and Chicago day at Nashville was celebrated in an appropriate manner.

Gold has been discovered near Warsaw, Ill., and it is believed there is a rich vein.

Gold engagements in London for import since September 30 amount to $5,100,000.

The gunboat Marietta, detailed to relieve the Concord in Alaskan waters, has sailed.

Fall terms of school in Mississippi will not open until frost comes on account of yellow fever.

Frank Haupt was accidentally shot and killed near Clinton, Iowa, while on a pleasure trip.

Specials from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Arkansas points announce the breaking of the drought.

The thirty-fifth anniversary of the battle of Perryville was held at Danville, Ky., and was largely attended.

Tuesday, October 12.

Light frosts are reported in a number of Nebraska counties.

The October term of the U. S. supreme court began its sessions.

Senator Thurston of Nebraska spoke at a political meeting in New York.

There is no expectation that yellow fever will diminish until frost comes.

The Simmons department store, Chicago, a large concern, has been closed by creditors.

A wholesale jail delivery was effected by prisoners confined in the jail at Aberdeen, S. D.

On the 16th the Burlington will reduce freight rates from Chicago to Colorado points.

Fire in Atchison, Kansas, destroyed property worth $75,000. Eight buildings were burned.

General Holcomb of Nebraska arrived home from the Nashville Centennial sick with fever.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii is reported as being very ill at her apartments in Washington.

An arrival from Dawson City reports not much food there for one-third of the people during the winter.

It is announced that an adjustment of the troubles between the Oregon Short Line and the Union Pacific is in sight.

Dr. Newell S. Albright, professor of biblical and historical theology in the Hill school of theology, Denver, is dead.

Senator Tillman arrived in Columbia, S. C., from Trenton, his home. He is a very sick man, suffering from catarrhal jaundice.

First Lieutenant George L. Anderson, Fourth artillery, has been appointed military attaché to the legation at St. Petersburg.

Senator-elect Hernando de Soto Money has been appointed senator from Mississippi to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator George.

John F. Boynton, a well known resident of Leominster, Mass., shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide by shooting. Family troubles.

Charles Anderson and Edward Knoff, brothers-in-law, living on Oak Creek, Cook county, Wyoming, fought with knives until Knoff was stabbed to death.

Attorney General Fitzgerald of California was admitted to the bar of the supreme court. He is in Washington for the purpose of representing the state in the Durant murder case.

The commercial and scientific expedition to be undertaken for South Polar exploration under the conduct of Dr. Borghreavinek, the Antarctic explorer, will start from England next July.

Wednesday, October 13.

Hon. W. J. Bryan spoke to 10,000 people at Russellville, Ky.

The Irish famine, according to late accounts, has been exaggerated.

Justice Field of the U. S. supreme court has made application to be retired.

Spain's new policy is a proposal to employ native Cuban volunteers in the army.

An attempt was made to murder Editor Moffatt of the Bismarck (N. D.) Settler.

The Indianapolis municipal election resulted in the choice of a democrat for mayor.

The Chattanooga municipal election was carried for the most part by the democrats.

Henry George is a greenbacker, saying that gold and silver are both relics of barbarism.

A national exhibit of American manufactures is to be held at Philadelphia in October, 1898.

Banking in South Dakota is said to be no longer profitable, farmers not needing to borrow money.

Arrangements have been perfected for a line of steamships from Port Arthur, Tex., to Mexican gulf ports.

The budget committee of the Chamber of Deputies has voted to increase the French standing army by 12,000 men.

Consul Louis A. Dent, at Jamaica, has recovered from the attack of yellow fever and will sail for New York at once.

Hon. Charles W. Jones, former United States senator from Florida, died at Detroit after a sickness of several weeks.

The Trenton (N. J.) iron company has received a contract for the furnishing of a wire tramway seven miles in length, to be built in the Chillicothe pass, Alaska. Work will be pushed to early completion.

According to the American consul's report the total of German exports to the United States from July 1 to September 30 last was $2,190,112, as against $16,481,414 for the corresponding quarter of last year.

Supt. Geraldine of the department of construction of the Trans-Mississippi exposition, has been acquitted of charges brought by Editor Inneswater.

Harris held up a train on the International and Great Northern, twelve miles from Austin. They relieved passengers of their money, but failed to get into the express safe.

The supreme court of Ohio has decided that the negro party, not having been through the last election, could not sue the citizens of Lincoln as an emblem at the head of its ticket.

Thursday, October 14.

The Kansas City collectorship is still unsettled.

Charles H. it is likely to get the Oklahoma marshlands.

The City of Topeka brought from Alaska $200,000 in gold dust.

The United States has been asked to participate in the Italian exhibit at Turin next year.

Creditors of the failed Kansas City national bank will soon get a 5 per cent dividend.

The Dawes commission has given out that it will take a complete census of the five civilized tribes.

At one of the busiest corners in St. Louis, Frank Hannick shot himself dead before hundreds of people.

Breadstuffs exports for September show an increase of 100 per cent over last year and 350 per cent over 1895.

"Pittsburg Phil," the race track plunger, says he is $119,000 loser since the opening of the Saratoga meeting.

The authorities at Vera Cruz have ordered the ships arriving from New Orleans into quarantine for nine days.

Three hundred miners employed in the Suddy coal mines near Nashville, Tenn., struck for an increase in wages.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross Society, has returned from the International Red Cross conference at Vienna.

The president has appointed Edward Goldberg of Wichita, Kan., to be agent for the Indians of the Quapaw agency in the Indian Territory.

A telegraphic meeting of the special railway agents association it was decided to hold the next session at Omaha, beginning June 6, 1898.

The Naumkeag (Mass.) mills, which for more than a year have been running four days a week, have started on full time in all departments.

The official and unofficial returns of the Indianapolis election show the vote for mayor to be: Faggart, democrat, 29,183; Harding, republican, 16,440.

Four hundred fullblooded Osage Indians are visiting the dog eating Indians on Euclid creek, east of Perry, O. T., where a grand dance is in progress.

Judge Wells of the Kansas court of appeals has rendered a decision, which, several lawyers declare, practically renders the eighteenth law in Kansas a dead letter.

Nebraska grain men predict that at least 200,000 bushels of the state's corn crop will be stored and not placed on the market until next year's crop is assured.

There is no change in the strike situation at the Omaha exposition grounds. A few carpenters and laborers who refused to strike are working; but to all intents the work is at a standstill.

New York and Chicago capitalists have organized the Imperial glucose and sugar refining company with a capital of $5,000,000, to compete with the glucose trust. An inquiry was made at South Chicago and will be ready for operation within ten months.

Friday, October 15.

Nashville elected a democratic mayor by 1,500 majority.

Des Moines coal dealers are contracting anthracite at $7.50 a ton.

Earnings of the Union Pacific for the month closed Oct. 11, 1898, $25,225.02.

Justice Field's retirement from the supreme bench will take place Dec. 1.

Eastern capitalists will invest $500,000 to $1,000,000 in sugar factories in Colorado.

The National General Directors' association will have their 1898 meeting in Omaha.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn is on a tour of inspection of military posts in the west.

Wholesale drugists in session at Richmond, Va., chose C. F. Weller of Omaha as president.

Corporation Counsel Thurston of Chicago has decided that street cars have no right to carry mail.

Harvey McGrew, a former Omaha man, has been appointed register of the land office of Salt Lake City.

R. F. Hunt, Rochester, N. Y., 88 years old, will on the 20th inst. wed Julia Sherman of Watertown, aged 90.

John P. Smith, the veteran theatrical manager, is critically ill at the Post Graduate hospital in New York city.

Evangelist of the Spanish mission in Cuba, has been offered a home in Kansas.

The body of Herman Fincher was found in the woods at Torrington, Conn., where he committed suicide by shooting.

By a vote of 63 to 7 the Iowa woman's suffrage association changed its name to the Iowa Equal Suffrage association.

General Weyer has granted amnesty to forty-six more political prisoners, including several women who have been incarcerated on the Isles of Pines.

John Vance, son-in-law of the notorious Devil Anse Hatfield, killed James Thompson and seriously wounded his wife in Logan county, West Virginia.

The advance of three-quarters of a cent per bushel will be demanded by the railroads on all grain shipments from Buffalo to Boston and after October 20.

Abram Garfield and Sarah Granger Williams were married at the residence of the bride's father in Glenville, O. Abram Garfield is the youngest son of the late ex-President Garfield.

O. C. Barber, president of the Diamond Match company, says he knows nothing about the story that he was interested in a movement to effect a combination of principal potteries and the manufacturers of the country and build a city near Toledo, O., similar to Pullman, Ill.

Saturday, October 16.

Several cases of small pox have developed at Atlanta, Ga.

There were a number of prostrations by heat in Chicago.

A gang of mailbox robbers have been apprehended in Boston.

There was a cyclonic disturbance over the southern part of Cuba.

The J. I. case threshing machine works were sold for $2,000,000.

A wreck on the Fremont & Elkhorn road in Nebraska killed 100 sheep.

Forty-eight new cases of yellow fever in New Orleans; three deaths.

Mrs. Nellie M. Derrington, Omaha, attempted suicide by taking poison.

The sub-treasury in New York denied an offer of $500,000 in gold for greenbacks.

The Very Rev. Charles Vaughan, D. D., dean of Llandaf since 1878, died at Llandaf, England.

The Gulf railroad announces a sweeping cut in freight rates from Colorado to southern points.

Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy, and Mrs. White dined with the queen of England.

Mayor Harrison adheres to his former decision to prevent the sale of liquors at the coming Chicago horse show.

Mrs. Isaac Paul, wife of a farmer living four miles east of Garnett, Kansas, was murdered in her home by robbers.

Hon. Wm. B. Sterling, general attorney for the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad, died at Omaha of typhoid fever.

The state board of elections of Iowa has been enjoined from placing the middle-of-the-road, or bolting, populists on the official ballot.

A mob destroyed one of the largest and most valuable vineyards in Bradley county, Arkansas. Cases of product led to drunkenness among the boys.

The ceiling in Johnson's opera house, Cincinnati, fell during a performance. Three were killed, five fatally wounded and twenty-six were more or less seriously hurt.

Frank Wolcott shot and killed William Webb at Huntington, W. Va. Webb was the son of Dr. J. J. Webb, who was preaching in the Methodist Episcopal church for twenty years.

Talk for Nebraska.

Nebraska Day at Nashville. On the occasion of "Nebraska Day" at the Nashville centennial exposition Senator Allen, Gov. Holcomb and Hon. W. J. Bryan made speeches. Room is found here for a portion of the remarks of the senior senator of the state. He said: My Fellow Citizens: It was very thoughtful and kind of the management of the exposition, to set apart a day for Nebraska, and we gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity afforded us to join with you in contributing to the success of your enterprise. There are many Nebraskans here in person today, and all are present in spirit and good wishes for your success and the prosperity of the Nashville exposition. I want to say a word in favor of our state—a state of boundless plain and generous people. You in Tennessee, who are rich in the memories of a great state of long and splendid history, may not have given to Nebraska much attention, passing it, with the thought that it is a young and growing commonwealth of heterogeneous population, possessing no history of consequence, and destined to remain on the frontier for many years. But I am proud to say to you that America no longer has a frontier, except those portions of our domain washed by the oceans and the gulf of Mexico, and bounded by Canada, for in every state and territory of the union, civilization can be found in its highest form, and is rapidly increasing and becoming more permanent and widespread and permeating every spot of this hemisphere.

Nebraska has just passed her thirtieth birthday. She is one of the youngest of the sisterhood of states. She was admitted to the union in February, 1867. The state is 200 miles wide from north to south, 413 miles from east to west, and possesses an area of 76,855 square miles, or 49,187,080 acres of land. The greater part of it—perhaps 95 per cent—was originally a great plain, or a succession of plains broken by rivers traversing the state from the northwest to the southeast and emptying their waters into the Missouri, and these plains are now dotted by smaller rivers and creeks, whose waters are emptied into them, thus affording the state ample water under normal conditions.

The eastern half of Nebraska is as fertile as the valley of the Nile. It annually produces enormous crops of all the staple cereals and grasses, and is a typical stock raising and agricultural country. The western half has much valuable agricultural land, although a large part of it is more properly devoted to pastoral pursuits. Nebraska, as a whole, is one of the best states in the union. The climate is genial in summer and not unpleasant in winter, notwithstanding there are occasionally severe storms. But they are of short duration, and the winter, with the thermometer 30 at degrees below zero, is not felt more keenly than in Tennessee, a moister climate, at zero.

Nebraska is a perfect state in point of health-giving qualities. I know of no place where there is such universal good health as in that state. The climate is not debilitating, but energizing, and those who come among us soon find themselves in a bracing atmosphere and returning to health and energy. My friends, next year there will be held in Omaha, the metropolis of Nebraska, a city possessing 160,000 inhabitants, under the auspices of the Trans-Mississippi congress, the Trans-Mississippi and International exposition, to which we cordially and heartily invite the people of Tennessee and the southern states. We want you to come to Nebraska next year, and join with us in making the closing days of the nineteenth century the best and most brilliant of our national history. Give us the benefit of your ripe experience and mature judgment, and afford us an opportunity to show you our hospitality. In the sun-kissed land of many rivers, lying to the southwestward of the great Missouri, where civilization is yet new but well developed, we need your encouragement and aid, not material aid, but moral encouragement, and if we can persuade some of your young men and young women to settle with us, we will assure them a hearty welcome and an equal opportunity with all in the race for wealth and station.

Plan for a Great Corn Carnival. A rousing mass meeting was held at Beatrice to listen to the report of the committee on arrangements for the corn carnival to be held October 28. The report of the committee was so full of encouragement that it aroused the greatest enthusiasm. It reported that ten excursion trains had been arranged for on the various railroads, several of which will start from Kansas and Iowa; that ten bands will be in attendance; and that a novel and grand program was being arranged.

Stabbed With a Hat Pin. Hastings dispatch: Herbert Crow, a young business man, was fatally stabbed by a young woman of this city last night, the girl using a hat pin. The steel entered the young man's side and broke off. The victim refuses to give the name of the girl or the cause for the attack. It is said he was struck by his sweetheart in a jealous rage of another young lady.

The Case of Ex-Auditor Moore. The case of the state against Eugene Moore, which was to have come up on the 12th in the district court of Lancaster county before Judge Cornish, went over by stipulation until Oct. 25. Attorney General Smith, who is engaged on the Hartley case, said that it would be impossible for him to be present to argue the case. The argument would have been on a motion made by Moore's attorneys to dismiss the cause on the ground of non-jurisdiction, bringing in the old contention that Moore is not liable for the money collected from the insurance companies.

TALK FOR NEBRASKA.

WHAT SENATOR ALLEN SAID AT NASHVILLE.

A Tribute to the State, Its Boundless Plains, Its Generous People, and Its 49,187,080 Acres of Land—A Cordial Invitation to Attend the Trans-Mississippi Exposition in 1898.

On the occasion of "Nebraska Day" at the Nashville centennial exposition Senator Allen, Gov. Holcomb and Hon. W. J. Bryan made speeches. Room is found here for a portion of the remarks of the senior senator of the state. He said: My Fellow Citizens: It was very thoughtful and kind of the management of the exposition, to set apart a day for Nebraska, and we gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity afforded us to join with you in contributing to the success of your enterprise. There are many Nebraskans here in person today, and all are present in spirit and good wishes for your success and the prosperity of the Nashville exposition. I want to say a word in favor of our state—a state of boundless plain and generous people. You in Tennessee, who are rich in the memories of a great state of long and splendid history, may not have given to Nebraska much attention, passing it, with the thought that it is a young and growing commonwealth of heterogeneous population, possessing no history of consequence, and destined to remain on the frontier for many years. But I am proud to say to you that America no longer has a frontier, except those portions of our domain washed by the oceans and the gulf of Mexico, and bounded by Canada, for in every state and territory of the union, civilization can be found in its highest form, and is rapidly increasing and becoming more permanent and widespread and permeating every spot of this hemisphere.

Nebraska has just passed her thirtieth birthday. She is one of the youngest of the sisterhood of states. She was admitted to the union in February, 1867. The state is 200 miles wide from north to south, 413 miles from east to west, and possesses an area of 76,855 square miles, or 49,187,080 acres of land. The greater part of it—perhaps 95 per cent—was originally a great plain, or a succession of plains broken by rivers traversing the state from the northwest to the southeast and emptying their waters into the Missouri, and these plains are now dotted by smaller rivers and creeks, whose waters are emptied into them, thus affording the state ample water under normal conditions.

The eastern half of Nebraska is as fertile as the valley of the Nile. It annually produces enormous crops of all the staple cereals and grasses, and is a typical stock raising and agricultural country. The western half has much valuable agricultural land, although a large part of it is more properly devoted to pastoral pursuits. Nebraska, as a whole, is one of the best states in the union. The climate is genial in summer and not unpleasant in winter, notwithstanding there are occasionally severe storms. But they are of short duration, and the winter, with the thermometer 30 at degrees below zero, is not felt more keenly than in Tennessee, a moister climate, at zero.

Nebraska is a perfect state in point of health-giving qualities. I know of no place where there is such universal good health as in that state. The climate is not debilitating, but energizing, and those who come among us soon find themselves in a bracing atmosphere and returning to health and energy. My friends, next year there will be held in Omaha, the metropolis of Nebraska, a city possessing 160,000 inhabitants, under the auspices of the Trans-Mississippi congress, the Trans-Mississippi and International exposition, to which we cordially and heartily invite the people of Tennessee and the southern states. We want you to come to Nebraska next year, and join with us in making the closing days of the nineteenth century the best and most brilliant of our national history. Give us the benefit of your ripe experience and mature judgment, and afford us an opportunity to show you our hospitality. In the sun-kissed land of many rivers, lying to the southwestward of the great Missouri, where civilization is yet new but well developed, we need your encouragement and aid, not material aid, but moral encouragement, and if we can persuade some of your young men and young women to settle with us, we will assure them a hearty welcome and an equal opportunity with all in the race for wealth and station.

Plan for a Great Corn Carnival. A rousing mass meeting was held at Beatrice to listen to the report of the committee on arrangements for the corn carnival to be held October 28. The report of the committee was so full of encouragement that it aroused the greatest enthusiasm. It reported that ten excursion trains had been arranged for on the various railroads, several of which will start from Kansas and Iowa; that ten bands will be in attendance; and that a novel and grand program was being arranged.

Stabbed With a Hat Pin. Hastings dispatch: Herbert Crow, a young business man, was fatally stabbed by a young woman of this city last night, the girl using a hat pin. The steel entered the young man's side and broke off. The victim refuses to give the name of the girl or the cause for the attack. It is said he was struck by his sweetheart in a jealous rage of another young lady.

The Case of Ex-Auditor Moore. The case of the state against Eugene Moore, which was to have come up on the 12th in the district court of Lancaster county before Judge Cornish, went over by stipulation until Oct. 25. Attorney General Smith, who is engaged on the Hartley case, said that it would be impossible for him to be present to argue the case. The argument would have been on a motion made by Moore's attorneys to dismiss the cause on the ground of non-jurisdiction, bringing in the old contention that Moore is not liable for the money collected from the insurance companies.

GALLINGER'S HOT SHOT.