The Postoffice Business.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 .- The report of First Assistant Postmaster General Perry S. Heath for the fiscal year ended June 30 has been made public. following is an abstract:

Special attention is called to the necessity of additional facilities for the division of salaries and allowances, but ! above all other recommendations is placed one making provision for a small corps of special agents—about ten-who are expert accountants familiar with real estate values, to in-quire in the field into postmasters' requisitions and demands, and to reach just ascertainment of merit in such purely business matters as cannot be obtained by correspondence. There should also be fixed a more severe penalty for the punishment of postmasters who peddel postage stamps with a view to increasing their own salaries, resulting in the diminution of the net receipts of the government. Authority should be given to secure leases of postoffice stations for a period of five instead of ten years. So much is gained by our recent policy of consoli-So much is dation of postoffices and the establishment or extension of the free delivery that I urge such action by congress as will give greater latitude of discretion in the use of specific appropria ment, says since the Japanese-Chinese tions. Their aggregate salaries are $230,800. With the consolidation of the present independent postoffices within the limits of the new city of New York a saving of at least $62,723 in salaries and commissions of postmasters will be effected. Another considerable reduction in expenses may be made by the merging, or the abolishment, in many cases, of the several heads of divisions and other officials receiving the higher salaries Congress should not only repeal the law providing that no postoffices be established at any county seat shall be There is a loud cry from Nebraska abolished or discontinued by reason of and Iowa railroads for more cars to any consolidation of postoffices under the existing law, but should also au-Hereafter every pound of goods not thorize the postmaster general to exlief, the service may be thereby bene-

. in the Trial to Re Nebraska Defe cover Lost Money.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 23.-The bonds men of ex-State Treasurer Bartley won the suit instituted against them by the state to recover he half million dollar defalcation in the state treasury when Bartley left the office. Attorney General Smyth moved to dismiss the case without prejudice. He was compelled to do this under a ruling of the court to avoid the other alternative of forcing Judge Powell to take the case out of the hands of the jury and to instruct it to bring in a verdict for the sureties. In accordance with the motion, the case was distrissed and the jury was discharged. ease is now in a position where it must be tried again.

The victory for the bondsmen wa won on a question of law-whether or the approval by the governor of the bond of Bartley on the first day of the term, January 3, 1895, was essential to make the bond a valid and binding instrument. The bond had been approved by the governor four days afterward, January 9, 1895. Judge Powell decided that the stat-utes of Nebraska absolutely and unqualifiedly required that the approval of the bond should have occurred on the first day of the term; that by the failure of the governor to approve i on that day the office of state treasurer came vacant; that therefore Bartley was not actually state treasurer, simply acted in that capacity; that the ndamen had signed the bond of Bartley as state treasurer and as noth ing else and that therefore they could not be held liable for his acts, as acting state treasurer.

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

One Great Feature Missing is Now Presented.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.-The Associated Press tonight obtained the one great feature missing in the famous Luetgert trial-the sworn testimony of the defendant himself, Adolph L. Luetgert.

Standing tonight in the gloomy ja!! adjoining the gran-locking gray stone court building, in which his remarkable trial had at last been brought to a finish, the burly sausage manufac-turer clapped the climax of extraordinary series of events which began with his sensational bankruptcy and the alleged frightful diabolism of boiling his wife to death at midnight in a vat in his factory cellar. Tonight, closely following the final result of the trial which has attracted worldwide attention, Luetgert made under oath a statement for the Associated press concerning the fearful crime charged against him, the first sworn statement yet made by him, and the first statement of such kind ever know in newspaper annals. The affidavit was put in writing, in due legal form and is certified to by a notary. Ex-Judge William A. Vincent, the leading counsel for the defendant, the man to whose brains and skill and energy Luetgert beyond doubt owes his great legal victory, gave consent to the affidavit being made. The scene in the jail when Leutgert took the oath was as dramatic as the circumstances were unique. In the dimly lighted jail corridor, Leutgert standing erect and grasping the iron bars that still kept him from liberty, lifted his right hand and solemnly assented as the notary administered the binding form.

The affidavit explicitly declares Luetgert's innocence. The document in full is as follows: To the public: The result of my trial ending today is a victory for me because of the disagreement of the jury, but I am very much disappointed and very much surprised that the jury did not bring in a verdict of not guilty. I did not kill my wife, and do no know where she is, but I am sure that it is only a question of time until she comes home. I did not go upon the witness stand because Judge Vincent, was bitterly opposed to my doing so, and because he advised it was not necessary. I am grateful for the tremendous change in public sentiment in my favor and time will demonstrate that I am not only an innocent, but a very greviously wronged man. ADOLPH L. LUETGERT. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of October, A. D., 1897. M. F. SULLIVAN, Notary Public.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Captain Hoover, comander of the Bering sea atrol fleet, who has arrived in Washington to attend the seal conference said today that the reports concerning the scarcity of food in the Klondike region are not, in his judgment, exaggerated. In the neighborhood of Dawson City, he said, there are about of 5,600 miners, whose supply of provisions for the coming winter is no greater than was barely sufficient for half that number during last winter, Great suffering would be the inevitable result of this scarcity of food. Although some of the more vigorous among the miners might attempt to get away on the ice of the Yukon, the chances were that a considerable number of these would perish from hunger and exposure.
