HEIRESS KIDNAPPED.

The Police of Minneapolis Believe Miss Rutherford Has Been Carried Away.
The Rutherford family of Minneapolis is a very wealthy one, and as it consists at present only of Mrs. Rutherford and her daughter Fanny, it will be seen that this young woman is heiress to no small fortune. But her present wealth and future prospects seem to be more of a curse than a blessing, for they have made her in the past a target for fortune-hunters, and now she is missing from home, and the police have offered a reward for J. A. Morris, who is believed to have kidnapped the young woman. Morris, who has a long criminal record, met Mrs. Rutherford and her daughter while they were traveling in the south last spring, learned of their wealth, and that they lived in Minneapolis. On the 6th of May Miss Rutherford disappeared from her home, leaving a note saying that she was going to St. Paul and would return the following day. Since then a letter has been received from her, evidently written under restraint, saying that she was happily married to a man she worshipped. The police are convinced that she was kidnapped by Morris and is held by him, and they are making every effort to find her. Miss Rutherford is about twenty-five years old and is highly accomplished. Her father was Capt. George Rutherford, a pioneer citizen of Minneapolis, who left a vast estate to his widow and only daughter. This wealth has brought Miss Rutherford many suitors, but she has always refused to leave her mother, and has expressed no desire to marry. All these things strengthen the police in their belief that she has been kidnapped.

LOVERS OF THIRTY YEARS WED

Indiana Boasts a Bright Example in Constancy and Devotion.
A bright example in constancy and filial devotion is afforded in the experience of a couple recently wedded in Liberty township, Indiana, the newly married pair being Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foreman, who reside on their 400-acre farm near Greentown. In point of age both bride and groom have passed the half-century mark. Though lovers from early childhood and betrothed from youth, the marriage was deferred until now, the engagement covering a period of thirty years. Young Foreman had a stepmother to whom he was greatly attached, and to whom he solemnly pledged to support during her lifetime, promising not to marry while she remained alive. Contrary to expectations, the invalid and dependent stepmother lived until a year or more ago. During this long wait of nearly a third of a century the lovers scrupulously observed their vows, toiling on through the years without a thought of disregarding the pledges given the stepmother or breaking faith in any manner whatever. They grew gray, lived frugally, saved their earnings and patiently bided their time. When death removed the barrier, the lovers had accumulated sufficient means to buy the largest farm in the township. The minister first engaged to perform the marriage ceremony died of old age many years ago, and a divine of a new generation officiated at the long-delayed wedding.—Chicago Times-Herald.

His Discovery.

NOTED MEN AND CHILDREN.

Children have a genuine friend in the person of the King of Siam, and he has always taken an immense interest in watching the progress of the child rulers of Europe—Alphonso of Spain and the little queen of Holland. During his present European trip he intends to make their personal acquaintance and become their fast friend. In Alphonso of Spain he will find the unique combination of a small boy alive with infantile fun, mingled with stately dignity, for the small king of Spain is fully aware of his exalted position.
By the younger members of the royal family the Prince of Wales is considered a martinet and a disciplinarian, in spite of his worldwide reputation for jovial good nature. A short time ago he saw the little Princess of Battenberg and Prince Edward of York at play in one of the palace courtyards. Running past a sentinel they omitted to return the salute which soldiers are obliged to give every member of the royal family, whether the age be 60 years or 60 days. Immediately the prince called the children back and insisted that each should make his salute to the soldier.
President Faure of France is extremely fond of the youngsters, and his greatest pleasure is a romp with his grandson. When he became a grandfather for the second time the fact was carefully kept from the public for a couple of weeks, the reason for the fact being the reason for the French attitude toward Russia the great. The strange reticence is officially explained in this way: Almost at the time of the birth of his grandson in Paris the czar also became a mother, and the French president thought it wiser to wait for the royal proclamation from St. Petersburg, so that his congratulations to the czar might precede those of the czar to him.
Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forgo an advantage.—Disraeli.

A PERFECT HOME.

Woman's Refining Influence in Making Her Family Happy.
The most perfect home I ever saw was a little house into the sweet increase of whose fire went no costly things, but the mother was a creator of home; her relation with her children was the most beautiful I have ever seen; even a dull and commonplace man was lifted up and enabled to do good work for souls by the atmosphere which this woman created; every inmate of the house involuntarily looked into her face for the keynote of the day and it always rang clear. From the rosebud or clover leaf, which in spite of her hard housework, she always found time to put by our plates at breakfast, down to the essay or story she had on hand to be read or discussed in the evening, there was no intermission of her influence.
She has always been and always will be my ideal of a mother, wife, homemaker. It is more than twenty years since I crossed the threshold. I do not know whether she is living or not. But as I see her after home in which fathers and mothers and children are dragging out their lives in a haphazard alternation of listless routine and unpleasant collision, I always think with a sigh of that poor little cottage by the sea-shore and of the woman who was the "light thereof," and I find in the faces of many men and children, as plainly written, and as sad to see as in the newspaper columns, "Wanted—a home."
"Didn't you forget something, sir," asked the waiter. "Yes," replied Gimpy, reaching for his hat. "You were so long bringing my dinner that I forgot what I had ordered."—Philadelphia North American.

OUR OBJECT—We want to awaken a universal appreciation of the great merits of CASCIARETS CANDY CATHARTIC. We want to increase our business by teaching the people what disease Cascarets will cure. If we can by this plan in a month's time induce 1000 people to become users and well-wishers of this wonderful laxative and liver regulator, which even now is being sold at the rate of 500,000 boxes a year, it will pay us to give away $1,000 instead of spending it for some other form of advertising.

2. Everybody knows what enormous sums of money we spend annually for advertising. We probably lose $2,000 a year by not doing just what a paper is worth as an advertising medium. We can do out just how many see this advertisement and give it attention, it will be big money in our pockets. Your answer to this advertisement will help us find out, and we are willing to pay for the information.

WHAT YOU ARE TO DO—There are in the schedule below fourteen names of diseases cured by Cascarets. From each name letters have been outlined and their places supplied by stars. To fill in the blanks space properly and set the names right will be a test of your learning. We want you to spell out as many names as you can, then send the list to us as soon as possible in pay for an answer. For correct lists we shall give cash prizes of from $1 to $100 in gold. The next best names on the list will be awarded the first prize, the next best the second prize, and so on. Also, if you can give us the names of other diseases cured by Cascarets, we will give you a SPECIAL CONSOLATION PRIZE. By exercising care in preparing your list you ought to be able to secure part of the $1,000 cash award, but under all circumstances you will be a winner. The distance you live makes no difference, as all are treated alike.

AWARDS WILL BE MADE PROMPTLY—This advertisement will appear in this paper only once, so prepare your list quickly and send it in without delay. Cut the advertisement out, so you will not neglect or forget it. Prizes will be honestly awarded and promptly sent. Here are the words to be spelled out. Fill in your answer in their right order.

The only thing we will ask is that you will exhibit your good award, either in gold or in form of a check, as you choose, for a few days in your own neighborhood. This makes us sure that you are honest, and sends a warning to those who would try to get away with the prize money. We will not give any prize money unless we have your name and address in full, and you will not receive any prize money unless you have your name and address in full, and you will not receive any prize money unless you have your name and address in full.
