THE AUSTIN BALL.

Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary Day Celebrated.

Years have passed since people of this place have experienced as good a time, and has been privileged to attend as pleasant and agreeable gathering as was had Monday night at the Austin ball, given in the opera house, Loup City, by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Austin, as a celebration of their Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary.

Invitations had been given out some weeks prior to the occasion and old and young alike made great preparations for the coming event.

Men blacked their shoes, curled their mustache, parted their hair in most becoming style, (the writer and P. Ronnd excepted, who didn't have any hair to part) and brushed up their broad cloth in order that they might be equal to the occasion. Many of the women kept the dress-makers busy days and weeks before, and at the last, donned themselves in silks and satins that they too might present an admirable appearance.

In response to the invitations about two hundred and fifty people gathered to join in the festivities and merriment and to pay their kind regards to Mr and Lady Austin, who as host and hostess welcomed them with a true feeling of friendship.

At 8:30 the ball opened and they followed a most enjoyable programme of music and dancing and lots of fun. The dancing progressed until the midnight hour when supper was announced. The chairs, enough for all, were arranged along the hall on either side. All were seated and a nap supper of ham sandwiches, cake and coffee were served. Among the many waiters were Mr. and Lady Austin, also their daughter Sadie and son Nelse. Mr. Austin passed refreshments with an air that bespoke generosity, welcome and freindship, while no less courtesies were shown by Mrs. Austin and the junior members of the family.

After supper the marriage ceremony was performed by Justice Geo. W. Hunter, the stage being occupied by the contracting parties and many of their most intimate freinds, as well as the officiating officer. Miss Sadie sat at the piano and played the wedding march as her parents entered the stage. In the front of the stage stood a center table well filled with beautiful and costly presents, which were on behalf of their numerous friends presented to the couple by Judge Wall, who made a very appropriate speech. On behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Austin, Hon. John Wall of Arcadia, accepted the presents with due thanks.

Presents were composed of the following handsome and costly articles: Silver tea pot, cream pitcher, sugar bowl and spoon holder, by the following Arcadia citizens, all of whom were present: Mr. and Mrs. P. Round, Mr. and Mrs. John Wall, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Friese, Mr. and Mrs. James Landers, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Benner, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bartoo, and Miss Nina Landers. A handsome silver coffee pot was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Hastings, and Mr. and Mrs. Kinzey, also of Arcadia.

The compliments of the Loup City people were manifested by the presentation of a beautiful Souvenir in the shape of a set of one dozen each of pearl handled knives and forks, and a beautiful pearl handled carving set. The slip of paper accompanying this gift contained a list of eighty-five names representing the donors.
