HE BROUGHT IT FROM THE WORLD'S FAIR.

And kept it two years.

The great World's Fair, at Chicago, in 18,22, while it gave pleasure to many, gave pain to not a few as an indirect result of their visit to the White City. People were lured along the miles of wonderful exhibits by the new marvels that met the gaze at every step, and did not realize their exhaustion until they dropped into a chair in some breezy corner by the lake, and "cooled off." That's what began the trouble, in many cases. Of one such case, Mrs. L. W. Stevens, Fort Fairfield, Me. without the World's Fair, which we altended. This cough two years ago last October—time of the World's Fair, which we altended. This cough lasted over two years, was accompanied by spitting of blood, and nothing could be found to help him, although various remedies were tried. Several doctors were consulted, but their prescriptions afforded no relief. Finally, I saw an advertisement of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and all affections of the throat and lungs promptly and effectively. In response to numerous demands Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my paper and prevailed upon my husband to get a bottle and try it. The very first dose helped him and he was completely cured in a short time. We feel

SAPOLIO

From the Record, Pierceton, Ind.

Determined to rise in his chosen profession as an educator, Ernest Kemper, of Pierceton, Ind., overtaxed himself mentally and physically. He was ambitious, his mind was always on his work. From early morn until late at night he continually poured over his books.

Burned the candle at both ends." Few persons, even with the strongest constitution, can keep up under such a strain.

In addition to his studies, Mr. Kemper was teaching a school some three miles from his home. Finally, his excessive study and the exposure of going to and from school in all kinds of weather undermined his health. He was taken to his bed with preamonia and his overworked brain almost collapsed. For several weeks he was seriously ill. Catarrh had taken root in his system and

JUST A PLAIN WOMAN AT THAT.

Mount Vernon to the Nation. The story of how Mount Vernon was saved to the Nation by a woman was entertainingly told to the Boston Daughters of the American Revolution by Miss Alice Longfellow recently. Miss Longfellow's story was about Miss Anne Cunningham, a gentlewoman of old Virginia, who, when passing that you can pull yourself out of trou- up the Potomac river one day in 1853 and hearing the steamer bell toll when passing the grave of Washington, became possessed with the desire to restore it. The place was then occupied by a great-grand-nephew of the first president, John Augustine Washington. It was in a state of decay, and the generous hospitality of the owner. who treated every passing stranger as a guest, made the expenditure of money for repairs utterly impossible. When Miss Cunningham ventured to tell him of her plans he was filled with horror that women should do that which should so emphasize the degeneracy of men. But the determined woman sent out urgent appeals. Her first call was to the women of the south, and on July 12, 1854, the first meeting was held. Edward Everett was one of the first to offer his services, and as a result of his lectures $68,000 was contributed to the fund. Northern people withdrew when they learned the property was to be turned over to Virginia. but on March 17, 1856, the Ladies' Mount Vernon Association was formed.

A certain congressman had vowed he would defeat the association, but at a critical time Mr. Washington showed his loyalty, and just at the time when Miss Cunningham was ready to die from over-anxiety and discouragement a definite conclusion was reached. After that she lay in a stupor for three weeks. In addition to the actual price of the plantation, $300,000 had to be raised for repairs, and when matters were progressing finely the Civil war broke out and confusion was the result. Mount Vernon was neutral ground throughout the bitter struggle. When the strife was ended Mizs Cunningham went there to live, received the aid of Sumner in gettting an indemnity from the government, and went on with the noble work she had undertaken.
