A barn dance was held out at Henry Kuhl's place, six miles southwest of town last Saturday night. A goodly number attended from town and all present report a splendid time. The barn on that farm is one of the largest in the county and is an ideal place to hold a dance.

The first road show of the season held the boards at the opera house last Friday evening and showed to a good sized house. The show "A White Elephant," was light and lively and was well acted out. Some very good singing was interspersed throughout the play. The majority of the patrons were well pleased with the show.

In the writup of the proceedings of the term of district court held last week The Northwestern failed to include the names of our own legal lights among those having business before the court. Messrs. Mathew, Wall and Starr each had a number of cases for trial and were very much in evidence at the court room.

Monday evening the B. Y. P. U. gave a reception for the Baptist teachers at the parsonage. Guests were presented with an autograph book and pencil and given a certain length of time to get the autographs of those present. Other amusements followed and the young people had a very enjoyable time. Punch and wafers were served as refreshments.

Did you see your friend toss a newspaper down on the street? It is itself was a little thing and not of any great consequence. But when everybody, or a great many bodies, do the same it litters up the public places and gives the town an appearance of backwardness and slothfulness and decay which operates as a detriment in the minds of all progressive people, especially when those people are from a distance. But instead of throwing down the papers, and kicking other refuse into the street, suppose each citizen should make a practice of keeping the town clean, and bright, and attractive, wouldn't it be good for the eye to see? It's easy to do if we want to do it.

Advertising pays the buyer just as much as it pays the advertiser. It pays both and it pays them handsomely, for it creates greater sales for the dealer and leads the buyer to points where he can trade to best advantage. Hitch right up to the merchant who advertises, and grow with him.

J. A. Danielson and wife went to Ravenna Sunday where they took the train to Chicago where they will visit a few days' with relatives and friends and from there they go to San Diego and San Francisco to take in the expositions, and then from there they will go to Portland and Seattle, and other western points before returning.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. Samuel Daddow last Sunday, the occasion being Mrs. Daddow's 57th birthday. Those attending from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ballman, Mr. and Mrs. Bacon and Miss Hogue, all of St. Paul, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daddow and Mr. and Mrs. Norton Lambert of this city. A very enjoyable time was had by all those present.

It has been our object to put on at this theatre such photoplays as will be educational, interesting or amusing and which would not in any way offend anyone who might attend our performances. We ask you to come to see the "Perils of Pauline." We can recommend it as a serial intensely interesting and highly thrilling. "The Perils of Pauline" is a clean photoplay from beginning to end. You can bring the children and know that they will see only that which is beneficial to them. There are many thrills, many spectacular accidents and many dramatic situations in "The Perils of Pauline" which will keep your interest at fever heat through the whole episode. Some spectacular accident occurs in every episode; something which will startle you and something which you would imagine would be almost impossible for human beings to enact and survive. We would be very much pleased indeed to have you attend the showing of "The Perils of Pauline"—at Daddow opera house every Tuesday night.
