August Jaeschke held the lucky number that drew the set of dishes at the Daddow opera house Monday night. Mr. Jaeschke says he will make a present of the dishes to the first couple who will get married on the stage at the opera house, between now and Christmas. Don't all speak at once.

"No one should fail to take the opportunity of hearing this artist. His range of voice, technique, artistic and dramatic interpretation of song, are of a very superior order, and to those who love the ideal and beauty of inspiring melody and music in song, is offered this unusual opportunity of hearing a profoundly emotional singer and artist of great temperament."—The Hub, July 10, 1915.—At the Opera House Nov. 12.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING.
"One of the most delightful concerts heard in Kearney for years was the Haberstro-Rees Musicale at the opera house last night. Major Haberstro opened the evening with a group of German songs which showed his deep resonant voice and dramatic interpretation. Major Haberstro was undoubtedly at his best in his second group and won instant attention with his first number, 'Mother O' Mine.' This and 'Somewhere A Voice is Calling,' were perhaps his best numbers. It certainly shows his versatility that he could do so well the different styles of songs."—The Kearney Hub, May 15, 1915.—At the Opera House, Friday, Nov. 12th.
