CHEER UP AND GIVE THANKS.

These are dark days for the world The shadow of the war is heavier than ever on all hearts, whatever their sympathies. There is little exultation now even in victories, for we know at what a price of blood and pain every victory is won. But there are many things besides war in the world. Except for our active imagination, most of us would feel life running on pretty much as usual. There is the same sunshine, the same life-giving air, the same autumn colors in the woods, the same joy in bountiful har-There is the same quiet satisfaction of soul that has always come with the Thanksgiving season, whether in country or city. Here in our American isolation, we can live out our lives in spite of wars and rumors of wars. There is need, to be sure, of taking thought for the future, preparing against the time when war may bring home to us the wretchedness that we knew half a century ago and that Europe knows today.

But that is a matter of calm decision, not for alarm and fear. We are free trade with a handicap." today the most fortunate nation in the world. There is not reason why we cannot continue so. It is a good time for the nation to take to heart the philosophy that is preached so much we should feel the woes of Europe, and it is our duty to alleviate them cheerful service.

Congressman E. J. Hill, of Connecticut: "As I understand it, the common expression of 'a tax for revenue with incidental protection,' is meaningless. There is no such thing as incidental protection,' for if the tax laid on imported merchandise is less than the difference in the cost of production of the like article here and elsewhere, it means, so far as the general requirements of the country for that article are concerned, that it will come from the cheapest producing point, which means the transfer of the industry to foreign countries; and yet, after all, strictly applied, a tariff for revenue only, would compel the placing of the tax upon such things only, as did not enter into competition with any domestic industry. "As between such a tax and English free-trade my preference would be emphatically for the English system. For example, suppose that a duty was placed on tin, or rubber, or raw silk, or tropical woods, all of which are now imported free and sent broadcast over he whole world, if a tariff for revenue was placed upon these articles, how would it be possible for us to maintain an export trade in competition with the other nations of the world where these things are not dutiable?

"I can reach but one conclusion, therefore, that the choice of the American people must ultimately be made between a protective tariff which will care for and preserve our home ndustries, or the English free-trade system, and that a tariff for revenue only, as set forth by democratic doc trine, is nothing more or less than

Union Stock Yards. South Omaha Nov. 16 .- Only a moderate run of cattle arrived yesterday, about 9,600 head. The corn fed cattle trade was rather dull and prices were unevenly lower all around. Dressed beef men were better buyers of the grass beeves than of the corn feds and the trade was reasonably brisk as far as attract ive grassers were concerned. A better inquiry for stockers and feeders also put more life into the trade, although it was a dull and uncertain market for the in-between cattle that did not appeal to either the killers or feeder buyers. On the whole it looked like a steady trade. Cows and heifers were in fairly active demand at steady to a shade stronger figures.
