BRYAN VERSUS WILSON.

All hope of complete harmony between President Wilson and Mr. Bryan seems to have been dissipated by the attitude of the former secretary of state on the administration's national defense plan. When the president made his formal announcement of his program, Mr. Bryan lost no time in delivering himself of his objections. He characterized the Wilson plan as "a departure from our national traditions, a reversal of our national policy, a menace to our peace and safety and a challenge to the spirit of Christianity." These are well-rounded phrases and truly Bryanesque. Without doubt they will form the basis of another tour of the chautauqua platforms next summer as summarizing the attitude of the Nebraskan toward the Wilson peace policy and campaign for re-election.

Caesar had his Brutus, Taft had his Roosevelt and Wilson has his Bryan. The man who was more directly responsible for the advent of the Princeton professor into the field of national politics than any other person, and who was raised to the position of secretary of state as his reward, is now sharpening his ax for a fine political assassination. Undoubtedly Bryan is going to fight Wilson's defense plan with every ounce of his strength, and it is characteristic of Bryan's lack of political sense that he has picked out the least vulnerable of the Wilson policies upon which to vent his criticism and antagonism. The main point, however, is that a decisive and hopeless split has occurred between Wilson and Bryan and their respective followings.

On the platform of the Manhattan Club speech in New York there was a conspicuous figure. Behind the president sat none other than Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany. Evidently there has been a new alliance between Tammany and Wilson, for it will be remembered that at the Baltimore convention Bryan made a fine display of political virtue by repudiating Tammany and driving its delegates out of the convention. That was the convention which nominated Wilson for president. Today Charles F. Murphy occupies the same platform with the president while Bryan sulks in Washington and formulates a statement lambasting the president and his purposes.

It is easy to understand that Bryan feels personally responsible for President Wilson. And he is now suffering from a sense of outraged parenthood, his own political child having turned against him and kicked him out of his rightful place at the democratic fireside. Wilson's temporary alienation from Tammany and Wall street must have been sorrowful on both sides. Now that the old ties have been renewed, it is clearly a case of Wilson and Tammany against Bryan and the chautauqua.—Kansas City Journal.

SAYINGS OF STATESMEN.

George Washington's farewell address.—It is important that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those entrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism. A just estimate of that love of power and proneness to abuse it which predominate in the human heart is sufficient to satisfy us of the truth of this position. The necessity of reciprocal checks in the exercise of political power, by dividing and distributing it into different depositories and constituting each the guardian of the public weal against invasions of the others, has been evinced by experiments ancient and modern, some of them in our country and under our own eyes. To preserve them must be as necessary as to institute them. If, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation, for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed. The precedent must always greatly overbalance in permanent evil any partial or transient benefit which the use can at any time yield.

laws are being threatened seriously by the new "pizen" invented by the sons of Hyde county. It is a substitute for corn liquor called "Meal Bere" or "Rip Gizzard," and is highly intoxicating. It is said to have the far-famed "licker" which makes a jack-rabbit spit in a bulldog's eye looking like a dose of soothing syrup. The receipt calls for a peck of meal, ten pounds of sugar and two or three pounds of dried apples. Five gallons of water are added, and the concoction is set back of the stove or in the sun to ferment. In a few days it has worked, and is then drawn off ready for the consumer. Negroes are making great quantities of "Rip Gizzard" and one of them, regarded as an expert, offers the following method: One gallon of meal to two gallons of water, put on the stove and boil. As soon as the mixture boils, add two pounds of sugar. Pour into a stone crock and let stand a week, by which time it will ferment. Add two pounds of sugar and strain off. This receipt doesn't require apples. Other makers use dried peaches instead of apples, and others use molasses. The Anti-Saloon league and W. C. T. U. of North Carolina, are making strenuous efforts to stop this new traffic in intoxicating liquor. The mess is so cheap that many gallons are being made, for private consumption and for sale. "Rip Gizzard" bids fair to supplant every substitute for liquor now being sold in North Carolina.

A press dispatch says that "both parties will seek campaign material during the coming session of congress." No need for the republican party to do much searching. Its own record in the upbuilding of American industry during a period of sixteen years of protective tariff, its achievements in the establishment of the merit system in the public service, its enactment of such commendable legislation as the Postal savings bank law, the parcel post, the pure food law, Panama canal construction, the reclamation law, conservation, the income tax amendment, the popular election of senators amendment, and other measures too numerous to mention, furnish an abundance of affirmative campaign material. The democrats have, in two years, supplied plenty of material with which to attack them. Extravagance, resort to the spoils system, violation of pledges, demoralization of public service, are matters of public record and require no searching.

A resolution urging Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, to recommend in his coming report that congress give consideration to conserving the flood waters of the North Platte river was unanimously passed by the commercial club of Omaha at the last meeting of its executive committee. The resolution also calls upon senators and representatives from Nebraska to renew their efforts in getting favorable action in congress. The movement, originated by Phelps, Gosper, and Kearney counties is to conserve and retain the flood waters of the North Platte and other streams in the semi-arid regions of western Nebraska by storing surplus waters in the subsoil. The resolution further commends Mr. Lane for his activity and recites that material progress has been made. The commercial club of Omaha added its indorsement to the original project, and this recent action is to urge further activity.

Once upon a time a beggar, upon being asked why he did not go to work, replied that he was afraid of work because work killed his wife. And there is food for a world of thought in the tail end of his statement. There are women in this world who know nothing but work, the hardest kind of grinding, nerve racking, death dealing and soul destroying toil. The man finishes his day's work and smokes his pipe in peace, but the wife toils on without cease, washing dishes, ironing, mending, slaving until ready to drop. And though but a few short years ago the husband solemnly promised to love, cherish and protect that wife, he now appears oblivious to the fact that her life blood is slowly ebbing away in toil too heavy for her frail strength. Fortunately such cases are not in the majority, but even a minority should not exist.

If you are feeling peevish and out of sorts, take a brisk walk. You will feel better. If your brain is overburdened and your mind is sluggish, get in motion again, for your legs are good doctors. A brisk walk exercises the dormant muscles, stimulates the circulation of blood and brightens the mind. It is good for good people and better for the bad ones. It is all to the good.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Dull and Lower Market For Corn Fed Cattle.

HOGS FULLY 5 TO 10C HIGHER

Lambs Steady With Last Week's Close—Best Fed Westerns $8.50—Muttons Also Steady—Weakish Deal In Feeders.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Neb., Nov. 30.—A rather liberal run of cattle arrived yesterday, about 10,000. Undertone to the corn fed cattle trade was very weak and prices were unevenly lower. The character of the range cattle coming at this time does not appeal very much to the packers, but it is so much better than the ordinary run of short fed natives that prices are fairly well sustained and the grass beefs sell to much better advantage than the corn feds. Prices were generally steady yesterday for anything the packers wanted. Cows and heifers were in very fair demand at steady and in some cases stronger figures, and the trade in stock cattle and feeding steers was about steady at last week's close.

Cattle quotations: Prime beefs, $9.00@10.00; good to choice beefs, $8.00@8.75; fair to good beefs, $7.00@7.75; common to fair beefs, $6.00@6.75; good to choice yearlings, $8.25@8.75; fair to good yearlings, $7.25@8.25; common to fair yearlings, $6.00@7.00; good to choice grass heifers, $5.75@6.75; good to choice grass cows, $5.50@6.35; fair to good cows, $4.75@5.25; canners and cutters, $3.50@4.50; veal calves, $6.50@9.50; bulls, stags, etc., $4.25@6.25; good to choice feeders, $7.25@7.65; fair to good feeders, $6.50@7.00; common to fair feeders, $5.25@6.25; good to choice stockers, $6.50@7.00; common to fair stockers, $5.25@6.25; stock heifers, $5.50@6.50; stock cows, $4.50@5.50; stock calves, $6.00@8.00; prime grass beefs, $7.00@8.15; good to choice grass steers, $7.00@7.50; fair to good grass steers, $6.35@6.85; common to fair steers, $5.25@6.25.

About 5,800 hogs showed up yesterday. The demand for hogs was very good and prices averaged fully 5@10c higher than the close of last week. Bulk of the supply moved at $6.35@6.45, and tops reached $6.50.

Sheep and lamb receipts amounted to 14,500 head. Fat lambs were in good request and started moving early at prices that were generally steady with last week's close. Prices paid for the most of the offerings were strong and in many cases 10@15c higher than the extreme low spot on last Friday. Best fed westerns brought $8.50, while the bulk of both corn fed and range offerings was bought at $8.40. Aged sheep sold at good steady prices. Best ewes reached $3.55. Trade in feeders was rather weak and values were a little easier. Best feeder lambs went at $8.35.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $8.35@8.50; lambs, fair to good, $8.25@8.35; lambs, feeders, $7.50@8.40; yearlings, fair to choice, $6.00@6.50; yearlings, feeders, $6.00@6.80; wethers, fair to choice, $5.00@5.75; ewes, fair to good, $5.40@5.55; ewes, fair to good, $4.50@5.40; ewes, feeders, $4.00@5.00.

LIGHTS CAUSE ACCIDENT.

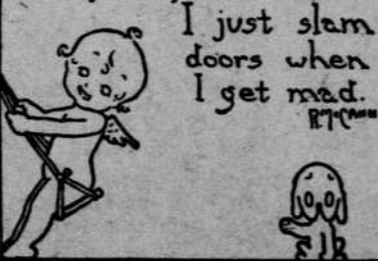

A woman was killed and a man badly injured when their automobile ran off a bridge just outside of Lincoln Tuesday night. The driver was blinded by electric headlights on a car coming from the opposite direction. To those who drive much at night it is a miracle that more accidents of this character are not recorded. Drivers are absolutely helpless when approaching brilliantly lighted cars; they must either turn out and stop or trust to luck if they proceed. There is no real necessity for throwing a dazzling glare for miles ahead of an automobile, and if owners will not stop this dangerous practice voluntarily they should be compelled to do so by law. Another safeguard that should be required is some kind of a light on all vehicles after nightfall. Where lamps of moderate strength are used on cars it is often difficult to see a buggy or wagon until danger of collision is imminent. There may be, and probably are, too many laws on some other subjects, but legislation has scarcely kept pace with automobile development in Nebraska.—Aurora Republican.

MIDWINTER PROGRAMS.

The offices of the various societies which compose organized agriculture are now preparing their programs for the mid-winter meetings at Lincoln January 17-22. Twenty-two societies will hold meetings and the entire field of scientific agriculture, horticulture, dairying, good roads, live stock breeding and all kindred subjects will receive consideration in the programs.

UNIFORM VALUATIONS.

Secretary Bernacker of the state board of equalization is conducting a campaign for uniformity of valuations by county assessors. He has compiled a table showing the variations in valuing automobiles, live stock, farm lands and other items of property in Nebraska. He will attempt to secure more uniformity in fixing values in 1916.
