

CAN PHOTOGRAPH IN COLORS

Scientists Have Reached Goal Which Has Been Sought for a Great Number of Years.

Color photography, the goal of inventors and scientists for years, has at last been realized. So perfect has been made the process that the making of color prints is now open even to amateurs. Of course, a special camera and special kinds of plates are necessary.

Three plates are inserted in the camera, and the front plate is dropped to the bottom of the box. The image to be photographed is reflected to this bottom plate by a mirror. The other two plates receive their impressions directly from the lens. Each of the plates is coated with chemicals which enable it to record certain colors, one recording the red, another the yellow and the third the blue tones of the object.

A separate positive is made from each plate, the positive from the blue plate being made on paper and the red and yellow positives on thin films. The two film positives are superimposed on the blue positive, with the result that the original three colors blend into a myriad of hues when a print is made from the combined positives.

War Hath No Fears.

"If you don't stop this business of getting arrested," remarked his honor to a trampish southern ne'er-do-well who was in the habit of appearing before the court at least once a week, "we'll have to see if we can't send you over to Europe. They make men hustle in that section just now."

"Judge," replied the trampish person, yawning and rubbing his hand over a stubby chin. "if you had ed some of th' pies that has been handed out t' me since my bein' on th' road you wouldn't let a leetle thing like a bustin' shell worry ya."—Case and Comment.

Decidedly Ungallant.

Robert Lowe, the great English commoner, was exceedingly sarcastic and frequently ungallant. Upon the occasion of a well-known wedding he began to descant on the absurdities in the marriage service.

"When I married," he said, "all the worldly goods with which I endowed my wife might have been carried in a bundle over my shoulder."

"Ah! but Robert," interposed Mrs. Lowe, "there was your great intellect."

"Well, I certainly did not endow you with that, dear," was the rejoinder.

Both Late.

It was a quarter past eight, and the commuters were waiting for the train, when the station agent appeared and informed them that the 8:16 was an hour late.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the oldest commuter of them all. "What are we going to do?"

"You might take the seven-four," suggested the agent. "It ought to be along in about ten minutes now."

COTTON THAT RESISTS FIRE

Matter Should Interest Every Mother, Considering Danger to Little One.

A cheap method of making cotton permanently as resistant to fire as wool is being sought by inventors and makers of cotton garments. Cotton clothing can be made fireproof by being dipped in a solution of ammonium phosphate, and dried. The treatment has to be repeated after every washing, but it is estimated that this would add only 15 cents a week to the laundry expenses of the average family.

But apart from the fact that there are thousands of families which cannot afford to spend even an additional 15 cents a week, the bother is too great and the risk from fire too remote to make the system practicable. Efforts are being made in some quarters to induce mothers to apply the treatment to the clothing of young children, but even the most ardent "safety-first" advocates see the impossibility of making the system universal in the interests of fire and burn prevention.

There Was Danger.

A rather heavy storm burst over a suburban town, and a young wife, startled by a particularly sharp crash, made a dive for the porch to the darkened parlor.

"I won't stay here another minute!" she exclaimed in a terrified voice. "You can't tell what may happen next."

"You are foolish, dear," responded the hubby, following her into the house. "Don't you know that thunder cannot hurt anybody?"

"You are mistaken, Harry," positively rejoined the young woman. "Haven't you ever heard of people being thunderstruck?"—Philadelphia Record.

Suspicious Parent.

C. J. Faulkner, counsel for the Chicago meat packers in their confiscation suit against the British government, said at a recent dinner:

"Traders could get on better if the British were not so suspicious. They doubt everybody. They are like the father—only more so."

"A father, in a deathlike silence, called downstairs to his daughter, solemnly:

"Hannah, what time is it?"

"A pause and Hannah answered: 'It's just quarter after ten, father.'"

"All right," the father said. "And, Hannah, don't forget to start the clock again after the young man goes out to get his breakfast."

EASY TO DYE AT HOME

NO NEED TO SEND MATERIALS TO PROFESSIONALS.

Housewife May Save Much Expense and Achieve Equally Good Results by Doing the Work Herself—Some Useful Hints.

In almost every household in the spring and fall there are articles for household and personal use that must be sent to the dyers. These can be done equally well at home.

Now that one dye can be bought which will answer alike for silk, cotton and woolen fabrics, success is well-nigh assured if the directions on the packet are strictly followed. These are usually explicit, and experienced dyers need no other; but the amateur is apt to strike snags despite directions. She may not think it necessary to clean the article to be dyed, but oil or grease of any kind kills dye, so that any garment known to be greasy at all should be soaked in a warm solution of ammonia and water for half an hour, then thoroughly rinsed in hot water before going into the dye pot. Cotton goods should be washed in hot suds and given a thorough rinsing. To leave soap in will interfere with the dye.

When dyeing cotton or mixed goods they should be allowed to become cold in the dye bath. Dyes set very slowly in these fabrics, so the cooling process is necessary to success. Woolens, on the contrary, absorb the dye quicker, and may be rinsed white hot. Closely woven woolen goods should be boiled a little longer than those loosely woven.

Woolen goods of any weave should never be allowed to boil fast. A gentle simmering will bring the best results. If boiled violently, the tiny hairs mat and cause shrinkage, besides making the material close and board-like.

The fiber of linen, being harder and tougher than that of wool, silk or mixed goods, requires longer and faster boiling. Linen should be allowed to boil until the desired shade is obtained. This will be longer than in the case of the other materials mentioned.

Silks are so often weighted with fillers that on dyeing them they will fall apart. It has been proved that sixteen ounces of silk can, with fillers, be made to weigh double that amount. Good silks, satins and ribbons will dye satisfactorily, but it is a waste of time to bother with cheap silks. It will be better to wash them through and use for linings or trimmings when making over garments.

Two different articles may be dyed to match if they are the same color before being dyed. If otherwise, it is practically impossible to dye them to match, but they will dye black.

The home dyer should guard against over-dyeing. Use only the quantity given in the directions.

Never wring dyed articles too firmly, and always dry in the shade. The dyeing process goes on until the article is dry, consequently any portions exposed to the sun will dry quickly and the result will be a streaky garment.

Luncheon Dish.

Tasty and easily prepared, is this dish. Wash, then pare and slice fine, three medium-sized white potatoes, two large onions, two tomatoes or a cupful of canned ones. Put this in an agate kettle, add two tablespoonfuls of rice and one quart and one pint of cold water; simmer for one hour, season with salt and pepper, two tablespoonfuls of minced parsley and a cupful of good, rich gravy, or one may substitute two tablespoonfuls of beef extract. Stir until dissolved. Now drop in one tablespoonful of peanut butter and stew for five minutes longer serve hot, with croutons or thin brown buttered toast.

Olive Sauce.

Allow as many olives as it is desired to use to remain in a basin of cold water for 30 minutes, meanwhile putting a small slice of onion in a saucepan with a few tablespoonfuls of salad oil and cooking until the onion commences to brown. Now add two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until smooth. Pour in a pint of rich stock and remove the pan to the side of the fire to simmer gently. Stone the olives and add them to the sauce, seasoning with salt and pepper and simmer for 20 minutes longer. Skim well and just before serving squeeze in the juice of a lemon. If a thin sauce is desired, use less flour.

Canning Pays.

Canning at home, where fruits and vegetables are grown, is an attractive business which may be started in a small way, and developed into something bigger. It is essentially a farm industry and every member of the family may have a part, either in producing the crops or in the canning operations. The boys and girls of the home generally take an interest in canning and when given a chance to make some money for themselves, they will develop habits of industry and thrift.

Sweet Gherkins.

Fill a tub with salt water strong enough to bear an egg. Put gherkins not over a finger long in this and let them stand nine days. Take them out and harden them by letting them stand in fresh cold water for several hours; then spread them out on a folded tablecloth to free them of moisture.

Meat Moll.

Two pounds stew beef, one onion, one egg, two slices of fat pork, four slices dried bread, salt and pepper. Grind beef through meat chopper, grind onion, add egg; mix together in loaf, put the pork on top, salt and pepper. Bake one-half hour.

All the Good From Potatoes.

Before baking potatoes, rub them dry and grease. This causes the outer skin to peel off very thin, thus saving the most nourishing part of the potato.

ACCEPTABLE PRESENTS FOR CHILDREN BY JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Doll's House of Cardboard

A hat box of strong cardboard and some red, white and green water-color paints are required to make this doll's house. A view of it is given in the picture above, also a picture of the roof and of the front and one side. The roof and chimneys are to be made separately.

Two large, square openings are cut out at the front and above them an oblong is cut on three sides. Bent outward this forms an awning that is painted in red and white stripes. A door is cut in the side and panels and floorknobs painted on it. Openings are cut in the roof to hold the chimneys and it is painted in green squares to simulate shingles.

The house and chimneys are painted red lined with white to simulate bricks. White paper pasted over the windows will look like a shade. After the parts are made they are fastened together with paper fasteners.

Easily Made Animal Toys

Animals, that please the little ones, are made of cotton flannel or plush, and stuffed with sawdust. Pins with black heads, beads, or regulation artificial eyes are used, and bits of lamb's wool or fur provide the required hair. A dog and pony are pictured here, made of white cotton flannel, also outlines of patterns for cutting them. Each animal is made of three pieces; the two sides and a piece to be sewed underneath. This last has a slit in it for turning the figure right side out after the pieces are machine stitched together. After it is stuffed this opening is sewed up. Almost any animal may be made in this way.

Bungalow Made of Cardboard

Bungalows and other toy houses are made of heavy cardboard boxes. The picture shows the roof, chimney, front

Topsy Doll Made of a Stocking

The rag baby has the reputation of being the best beloved of its little owner's possessions. Here is a Topsy doll made of a black stocking with mouth and nose outlined with yarn and one side of the bungalow before they are put together, also the finished house.

The windows are cut out and plain white writing paper pasted over the openings on the inside. The window panes and sashes are painted on this. Doors are cut on three sides and panels and knobs painted on them. Doorsteps, window boxes and flowers, shingles, etc., are all painted on the flat surface.

The chimney is made separately, painted red, and lined with white.

A Group of Baby Belongings

The baby inspires the greatest number of dainty gifts at Christmas time, nearly all of them the handwork of those who welcome him.

A book in which the important affairs of the new arrival are to be put on record, a hanger for safety pins of several sizes, a pair of armlets, and some brightly colored toys suspended by gay ribbons, are pictured above in the group of baby belongings.

The record book is made by covering cardboard with white moire silk. A stork is painted on the front cover, and plain heavy white paper provides the leaves. Satin ribbon in light blue or pink is sewed to each cover to fasten them together.

Pink satin ribbon and white celluloid rings, in three sizes, are used for the safety-pin hangers. One long and three short ends hang from a pretty bow, each terminating in a ring. The pins are fastened over the rings.

Narrow satin ribbon shirred over flat elastic cord forms the armlets. Each is finished with a full rosette.

Bootees and a Coat Hanger

The warm looking and dainty bootees shown in the picture will be easy to make by those who understand crocheting. They are crocheted of white zephyr and shaped to fit over the knees. A beading is worked in near the top and narrow pink satin ribbon run through it makes it possible to tie the bootees so that they will not slip down.

A novel and very pretty touch is given these bootees by the tiny pink rose buds that are embroidered on them with silk floss.

Little wooden hangers are covered with cotton for a padding and over this light satin ribbon is shirred. The hook is wound with the ribbon and the hanger finished with a pretty bow.

A Christmas Prayer.

May he be with us in spirit, as he once deigned to come among us in the flesh! May he make us each Christian learn something new of his inexhaustible depths of love, and give us more of the wish to be like him! May he give us a more earnest purpose to live a holy life, and to prepare ourselves to meet his presence, and share his joy, when he shall appear among us again.—Dean Church.

and glass beads for eyes. By raveling an old knitted mitten or any knitted article, its head of kinky hair is assured.

The figure is cut out in two pieces, which are machine-stitched together, with an opening left at one side for turning it right side out. It is stuffed with cotton Rompers and a cap of gaily striped gingham add to the fascination of this Topsy.

"Fearing His Name."

What did Jehovah do, when he heard the conversation of those who feared his name and talked about his truth? He did not join in the conversation, at least not directly, but "a book of remembrance was written before him, for them that feared Jehovah and that thought upon his name." And so God has the conversation fled away! the talk of the good man and the good woman which he heard when they "feared his name" and talked together.

SUDDEN DEATH

Caused by Disease of the Kidneys

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uræmic poisoning occurs, and the person dies and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

Building For Years to Come

In the erection of modern buildings the primary thought is for endurance.

The same thought should be given to building our own body and brain—but few give it. This building process requires certain essential food elements which, within the body, are converted into the kind of brain, bone, nerve and muscle capable of enduring the severe tests of work and time.

Grape-Nuts

is scientifically made of whole wheat and melted barley, and supplies, in splendid proportion, all the nutritive values of the grains, including their vital mineral salts, which are all-important for life and health, but lacking in much of the food that goes to make up the ordinary diet.

A daily ration of Grape-Nuts food is good "building" for sound health of years to come.
