WAITING FOR THE END OF THE WAF

"Then Take Advantage of the Opportunities in Canada."

(Contributed by W. J. White, of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada.)

I strolled into a bank in one of the cities of the west a short time ago and the bank manager said "after the war, the Canadians should be prepared for a great influx of people. The crops that the western Canadian farms have produced in 1915, and the wealth that the farmers have nad thrust upon them by the high price of grain, will make farm lands valu able and farming remunerative. After the war is over there will be thousands go to Canada to engage in agriculture and many other industries that will certainly prove profitable. Conditions will be wonderfully good. The advertising that Canada has had during the last year or two by its magnificent contribution of over 250,000 men to fight for the Empire, the wonderful sums it has given to the Red Cross and Patriotic funds, the excellent showing it made in subscribing over double when only 50 millions of dollars was asked as a war loan, the bravery, courage and hardihood of the soldiers who have fought the battles in Flanders, it is just wonderful," and my enthusiastic banker grew eloquent. One might have thought he was a subsidized booster for Canada. "But," he said "they won't go until after the "Well, now, Mr. ---, why wait until after the war? If all you say be true, and you have said nothing yet of the wonderful bank clearings of Canada today, nothing of the fact that the immense grain crop of Western Canada this year has given to every man, woman and child in that country, over three hundred dollars per head, why wait until after the war? After the war, under such conditions as you have pictured (and which are real) land values will go up, prices will increase. Advantage should be taken of the low prices at which these agricultural lands can be had today. They have not increased any as yet. and excellent farm lands can be had close to railways in old settlements. in excellent communities for from fitteen to thirty dollars per acre. The climate is good and will be no better after the war."

"What about conscription, though? Is there not a danger from conscription, and should I advise any to go there now, would they not have to face it? Then too, there is the report that there is a heavy war tax on lands."

I was surprised to learn that these old yarns, stories that I thought had been exploded long ago, were still doing duty in many parts of the United States, and that a gentleman of the wide learning of my friend, was inclined to believe them

"Conscription!" I said. "With Canada contributing 250,000 men voluntarions and state one year during this five years that I was not able to do anything; in fact, I was helpless. "And then as to taxes," I continued, quoting again from official authority. "All taxes levied by the Federal Government take the indirect form of customs excise and inland revenue duties. W. W. VENABLE, ORATOR

Although the tradition that new members of congress, like children, should be seen and not heard, is not respected now as it was in former days, rarely do freshmen of the house make such an impression within a week of their arrival as did Representative Venable of Mississippi, a young man recently elected to succeed the late Representative Wither-

Rising to answer an attack by a Texas Democrat upon the president's advocacy of preparedness, young Venable delivered a speech that placed him at once among the great orators of congress and earned him the plaudits of Democrats and Republicans

One of his illustrations, emphasizing the benefits of preparedness, is still being repeated in the cloakrooms. It has been my pleaure during my lifetime," he said, "to be intimately and personally acquainted with two dogs. One of them was a little rat terrier who had a little tail curled over his back like a corkscrew.

"That little dog's life was one long sad wail of misery. He was kicked by every man he met and whipped by every dog he ran across. I knew another dog, a magnificent gentleman of his race. His great head reared itself above his shoulders as the head of a lion. He was thewed and sinewed like a gladiator, and his curved forclegs and starch haunches spoke of tremendous strength. He lived his life respected by dogs and men. I ewned him for five years and I caressed him when I felt like kicking him. Why? M'CREARY QUITS PUBLIC LIFE

After thirty-two of his seventyfive years spent in public service. James B. McCreary, who recently retired from the governorship of Kentucky, announces that he is through with public office.

Mr. McCreary served six years" in the Kentucky legislature and was elected governor of the state in 1875 when he was thirty-two years old. After that he was elected to the house of representatives, where he served twelve years, and then was transferred to the other end of the capitol as a United States senator. For several years after the expiration of his senatorial term he was a private citizen, only to enter again the political field as a candidate for governor, and he is the only man on record, who was twice elected governor of Kentucky after a long lapse

"I look back on my first campaign for governor with a great deal of pleasure," said Governor McCreary, 'It was that campaign that probably gave to the United State Supreme court bench one of its most respected and valuable members. My opponent in that fight was John Marshall Harlan. Nct long after the election I had the opportunity of recommending that President Hayes appoint Harlan to the Supreme court bench."

A unique baby-saving campaign launched by Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, is attracting the attention of statesmen, educators, churchmen and philanthropists in every part of the country, for, Mr. Sells declared, on the success of the campaign depends the survival of a Commissioner Sells sent a circular letter to all superintendents and other employees in the Indian service, urging them to do their utmost to save the lives of Indian babies. Threefifths of the North American Indian babies are dying in infancy on account of neglect of ordinary sanitary treatment and lack of food, says Mr. Sells. He declared that the Indian problem cannot be solved with Indians, and says that the race will become extinct unless the United States awakens to the necessity of improving the conditions under which Indian children are born. He directs the employees of the Indian service to make thorough investigations on the reservations to which they are detailed and spare no efforts in teaching the doctrine of baby saving. Tribal funds are to be used in formulating the work, if necessary.

MIYATOVICH'S BRAVE WORDS

Cheddo Miyatovich, Serbian diplomatist and poet, who visited America on a mission from his country declares that until hope is dead Serbia will not die. "Our friends speak of our national tragedy," says he. "We are grateful for their generous sympathy. But our tragedy has not yet seen our tears. nor shall it ever see them.

"Our women suffer silently; our men die silently; we bear our sad burden silently.

"Yet our tragedy is illumined by the light of hope. We lost, in honest struggle, all the territory of our kingdom which we raised up from ruins by faithful love of national inheritance, by the self-sacrificing efforts of generation after generation. But in this the darkest hour of our country's history we have not lost faith in God and his justice; we have not lost faith in ourselves, in our allies or in humanity; we have not lost faith in the perpetual progress of the world, moving ceaselessly onward, though sometimes through bitter rivers of blood, sometimes the ruins of national reputations and of once-vaunted civilizations."

ORIGIN OF WHEAT UNKNOWN.

The growing of wheat has so long been a principal occupation with man that its geographical origin is unknown. The Egyptians claim it originated with Isis, while the Chinese claim to have received the seed direct as a gift from heaven. The belief that it originated in the valleys of the Euphrates and the Tigris is more generally accepted than any other. The most ancient languages mention wheat, and it has been found by the archeologists in the kitchens of the prehistoric inhabitants of the Swiss lake region. It is generally agreed that at the lowest estimate wheat has been a faithful servant of mankind for six thousand years.

FOR THE BREAKFAST TABLE Preparation That Is Well Worth Trying-Both Nourishing and Economical.

Ingredients-One breakfast cupful of Egyptian lentils, three onions (medium size), one heaped tablespoonful of curry powder, one breakfast cupful of water, one and a half breakfast cupfuls of rice, three ounces of butter (or margarine).

Method-Wash and soak the lentils in plenty of water for some hours, then drain. Next take the three onions and mince them as finely as possible, meanwhile letting the butter (or margarine) melt gently in a frying pan. Then add the minced onions and fry until they are a golden brown. Next take your curry powder and mix it in gently with the onions, allow it to fry gradually from 10 to 15 minutes, moving it all the while with a wooden spoon in order to prevent it from burning. Now add a breakfast cupful of water and the lentils. Let all simmer slowly until it appears to have the consistency of thick porridge. Then add the pepper and salt to taste, and serve hot with some dry boiled rice in a separate dish. Method for Boiling Rice.-Wash the rice three or four times in cold water. then place it in a saucepan with plenty of cold water and put it on the fire Allow it to come to the boil quickly. When sufficiently cooked it should be soft enough to crumble when rubbed between the finger and thumb. Wash well again, this time in hot water to prevent the rice from getting chilled then strain it and put it on a dish with a clean cloth over the top. Place it on the stove to dry, and serve with the curried lentils when ready.

Use warm water to sprinkle starched cloths and the effect will be twice as satisfactory
