AT SOUTH OMAHA THE SLOCUMB LICENSE LAW The Bootlegger and Express Shipments

Where the sale of liquor is open and licensed, proper supervision can be kept, and the seller is subject to such regulation and competition that it is only profitable for him to offer for sale pure beverages and liquors that conform to Government standards.

Denied the liberty to purchase such beverages from a licensed dealer, the purchaser obtains by stealth, and in violation of law, such liquors as the "blind pig" keeper offers.

Beverages low in alcoholic content are not sold because of their bulk, and the consequent inconvenience in handling.

The licensed dealer in Nebraska pays a substantial fee into the city treasury. The "bootlegger" and the express company pay none. The licensed dealer must confine his sales to the premises named in the license permit. The "bootlegger" peddles anywhere and everywhere.

"No-license" does not keep liquor from the man who habitually misuses

The illicit dealer finds that he can sell crude, cheap spirits as readily as pure liquors, which under open sale are subject to Government inspection.

In most cases where people can get the lighter beverages they do not go out of their way to drink strong liquors to excess. Here, then, lies one of the glaring evils of prohibition—the man who has indulged moderately now turns to the illicit seller. Boys who are not permitted in licensed places are fascinated by the opportunity to violate law, and the "bootlegger," being under no restriction as to age limit, introduces minors to liquors of the most vile type. The real issue in Nebraska is between the "bootlegger" and the Slocumb License Law.

Des Moines Deluged with Liquor

The following clipping is taken from "The Des Moines Capital" of February 19, 1916. The city of Des Moines adopted the "No-license" policy a year ago (March 1st, 1915). It is to this day a "No-license" city, but by no means a "Dry" city.

The School Boy and the Bootlegger

Has "No-license" in Kansas solved the boy problem? Kansas adopted prohibition in the year 1880, and thousands of boys in Kansas have been born and lived to attain a mature age without ever having entered a place in Kansas where liquors and beverages are sold legally under license.

The following clipping is taken from the "Topeka Capital," Governor Capper's own Does Prohibition Banish Poverty?

To the many sincere people who hope and believe that the "No-license" policy tends to minimize poverty, it will come as a severe shock to read the following article taken from the "Topeka State Journal," Topeka, Kansas, of January 10, 1916. The article speaks for itself. The reader's attention is called to the fact that this article was published after the state of Kansas had had thirty-five years of

The "No-license" policy became the law of Kansas on November 23, 1880. Thirty-five years later an article appeared in the "Topeka State Journal" of November 13, 1915, which throws considerable light on the question as to whether the "No-license" policy of Kansas has solved the crime problem in that state.
