

Here we have the tale of a oung woman who is thrust by ner greedy and lazy family into world of human vultures to win a fortune with her personal charms. But she surprises them

all with her fine traits of character. Her struggles and constant danger are frightening,

but she brings help and happiness to men and women who need it much. This is a story

CHAPTER I.

a good picker," he said, with all the assurance of twenty-two, "but you fell off the wrong side of the fence, and you're sore. These country towns always go in for the reform stuff every so often. If you'd listen to me and-"

нинининининининини

with strong pulse.

nothing in politics. Jimmy."

amusement and contempt.

table and growled:

A NOVEL OF NEW YORK LIFE

RATIONS BY F. PARKER

Author of "The Iron Trail" "The Spoilers" "The Silver Horde" Etc. Copyright, By Harper & Brothers

The door curtains parted, and Lilas dially as she removed her hat and

"I'm late, as usual," she said. "But Pope nodded. "I am, and I'm den just to see a woman who has noth-

"Did you see the crown jewels-the "Only from the front. I dare say

Miss Lynn turned, revealing a Eskimo belle. With her war-paint only half applied and her hair secured closely to her small head, she did not in ess" of the program.

are easily mended."

the critic, curiously.

is a private affair."

Campbell Pope scoffed.

eagerly queried Mrs. Knight.

done mighty well for herself."

"We'll have a chance to see her tonight," announced Lilas. "Mr. Hammon is giving a big supper to some of his friends and we're going-Lorele!

and I. Demorest is down for her tered with a bundle of photographs.

need any more stuff I'll supply it."

straight."

if she hadn't advertised as the wicked- as she goes in for notoriety, I gave clude her in my series of articles. Now, Lynn, a slim, black-eyed young wom-

He turned to the girl herself, who handed it to the woman who acted as was smiling at him as she had smiled dresser for the two occupants of the was none the less sweet and friendly. you ashamed of yourself to strike a sing or dance as well as Miss Demo- of them flocking to the Palace Gar-course everybody flatters you. Has King's cabochon rubies?" Lorelel

ter. "Lorelei has too much sense for they're as counterfeit as she is."

asked.

"You don't need to; just let the publing to distinguish her but a reputation

"There's nothing 'legitimate' about defenseless star?"

lic rest its eyes on you and it will be for vileness."

musical shows," she told him, in reply satisfied-anyhow, it should be. Of Mrs. Knight answered for her daughthat. She succeeded easily, but she

Then, in response to a question by Pope. Lorelei told him something of

"Tell Me What You Think of Our

Flourishing Little City."

"You're one of the principals," her

"I suppose you're ambitious?" Pope

Again the mother answered. "Inwas familiar-the stage mamma. He me what you think of our flourishing

little city and our New York men."

But Lorelei raised a slender hand.

"Not for worlds. Besides, you're making fun of me now. You are considered a very dangerous person, Mr.

the Demorest woman again," he

"Is she really as bad as you have

"I don't know, never having met the

"You're thinking of my story about similarity of the two women.

success turned your head?"

isn't spoiled."

p in a jiffy Let Libby's splendid chefs relieve you of hot-weather cooking. Stock the pantry shelf with Sliced Dried Beef and the other good summer exts — including Libby's a Sausage—you'll find them fresh and appetizing. York never would have taken her up on the Broadway gossip. Inasmuch

Summer Luncheons

countenance as shiny as that of an "Go Great Northern" and Register at Spokane, Wenatchee, Colville, Republic or Omak—

> 350,000 acres of desirable agriculentry. Five registration points including Omak, only registration point actually on the reservation and reached only by the Great Northern Railway.

Low Round Trip Fares

Send Now for Colville Circular 39 say she draws two thousand a week, Fill out coupon below and mail today, for deand won't go to supper with a man for tailed information, map folders and booklets.

E. C. LEEDY, Gen. Imm. Agt.
G. N. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.
See Americal Colville Opening Circ

Alfalfa S. Sweet Clover Ss. Farms

children by sawing off the legs of a "Sure. There's only one Hammon. kitchen table more than half-way up. But nix on the newspaper story; this so that the little ones could reach it. Round the table, after it had been painted green, was nailed a green "Never let us speak ill of a poor ledge of wood-to keep in the sand-Pittsburgh millionaire," laughed Pope. quite four inches deep, and table and 'Scandal must never darken the soot ledge alike were lined with zinc. Clean of that village." He turned as Sloswhite sand was now distributed evenson, the press agent of the show, enly over the table, and the children hugely enjoyed a game of "being at "Here are the new pictures of Lore the seaside," bringing their spades and lei for your story, old man," Mr. Slospails and making hillocks and waterson said. "Bergmann will appreciate ways on it. On other days the children the boost for one of his girls. Help pretended that the table was a village, yourself to those you want. If you or a garden, and planted it with green things and flowers and set a church "Don't go to the trouble," Pope hast and farmyard buildings and animals about. The table was a success.

ily deprecated. "I know the story. Now I'm going to leave and let Miss Lynn dress." "Don't go on my account," urged Lilas. "This room is like a subway station, and I've got so I could 'change' in Bryant park at noon and never shock a policeman." "You won't say anything mean about us, will you?" Mrs. Knight implored. "In this business a girl's reputation is all she has."

"I promise." Pope held out his hand to Lorelei, and as she shook it her lips parted in her ever-ready smile

Pope resented Mrs. Knight's share in "Nice girl, that," the critic remarked as he and Slosson descended the stairs. "Which one-Lorelei, Lilas, or the female gorilla?"

"How did she come to choose that found himself marveling at the disfor a mother?" muttered Pope. "One of nature's inscrutable myste-"Of course a famous beauty does ries. But wait. Have you seen meet a lot of people," he said. "Tell Brother Jim?"

"No. Who's he?"

Do you believe that Campbell Pope, instinctively liking Lorelei, will show her a way to shake off her greedy and mendacious family-father, mother and con, all bloodsuckers? And do you believe he will help her to get ahead legitimately?

MARKER HERE HERE HERE HERE

she repeated. "I'm glad, too, for I'm tired of housework." "You don't have to do your own

'You don't realize it; none of us do. but-she's beautiful. Where she gets her good looks from I don't know."

she can have any fellow in the county." Mrs. Knight began slowly, musingly:

Peter Knight flung himself into the decrepit armchair beside the center "Isn't that just my luck? And me a Democrat for twenty years. There's have you got to show for it? Nothing. His son James smiled crookedly, with a languid tolerance bespeaking "Politics is all right, provided you're

> The object of this address swelled pompously; his cheeks deepened in hue and distended: but while he was summoning words for a defense his wife

> "I suppose you think you could have lone better if you'd been in my place." Peter grumbled. He was angry, yet the undeniable truth of his wife's words struck home. "That's the woman of it. You kiek because we're poor, and then want me to take a fifteen-hundred-dollar job."

"Bother the salary! It will keep us going as long as necessary." "Eh?" Mr. Knight looked blank. "I'm thinking of Lorelei. She's gong to give us our chance."

"Yes. You wonder why I've never let her spoil her hands-why I've scrimped to give her pretty clothes, and taught her to take care of her figure, and made her go out with young people. Well, I knew what I was doing; it was part of her schooling. She's old enough now; and she has everything that any girl ever had, so far as ooks go. She's going to do for us what you never have been and never will be able to do, Peter Knight. She's

"Ma's right," declared James. "New York's the place for pretty women; the town is full of them.' "If it's full of pretty women what chance has she got?" queried Peter. "She can't break into society on my

"She won't need to. She can go on the stage."

she can act?"

who stopped at Myrtle Lodge last lei's photograph. He wrote right back that he'd give her a place."

with good figures. His name is Berg-

Jim broke in eagerly. "You've heard of Bergman's Revues, pa. We saw one last summer, remember? Bergman's a big fellow."

it every day-why not her? Ma's got Impassively Mrs. Knight resumed sounds good, but the salary is fifteen her argument. "New York is where the money is-and the women that go with money. It's the market place. The stage advertises a pretty girl and gives her chances to meet rich men. Here in Vale there's nobody with money, and, besides, people know us. The Stevens girls have been nasty to Lorelei all winter, and she's never invited to the golf-club dances any

> "They're putting on a lot of airs since the interurban went through; but Ben Stevens forgets who helped him get the franchise. I could tell a lot of things-"

Jim added another word. "She's the best asset we've got, pa, and if we all work together we'll land her in the money, sure."

lips into a pucker and stared speculathat she openly showed her hand to

"A little. She'll do anything we ask. She's a good girl that way."

The three were still buried in discussion when Lorelei appeared at the door. "I'm going over to Mabel's," she early, mother." at his daughter, there was something hard, calculating appraisal. Both men

Land Landa with and America Mary Mary

mate, and she was generally recog- form would have been noticeable anybut now, in contrast with the unmodibrother her comeliness was almost startling. The others seemed to harmonize with their drab surroundings. with the dull, unattractive house and its furnishings, but Lorelei was in vio-She wore her beauty unconsciously, too, as a princess wears the purple of her rank. Neither in speech nor in look did she show a trace of her father's fatuous commonplaceness, and she gave no sign of her mother's coldly a different intent. calculating disposition. Equally the girl differed from her brother, for Jim was anemic, underdeveloped, sallow; his only mark of distinction being his bright and impudent eye, while she was full-blooded, healthy and clean. Splendidly distinctive, from her crown of warm amber hair to her shapely. slender feet, it seemed that all the hopes, all the aspirations, all the longlittle, Peter; you know it, and so does ings of bygone generations of Knights had flowered in her. As muddy waters purify themselves in running, so had the Knight blood, coming through unpleasant channels, finally clarified and sweetened itself in this girl.

In the doorway she hesitated an instant, favoring the group with her shadowy, impersonal smile. In her gaze there was a faint inquiry, for it was plain that she had interrupted a serious discussion. She came forward and rested a hand upon her father's thinly haired bullet head. Peter reached up and took it in his own moist palm.

"We were just talking about you," he said. "Yes?" The smile remained as the girl's touch lingered. "Your ma thinks I'd better accept that New York offer on your account.

"On mine? I don't understand." Peter stroked the hand in his clasp, and his weak, upturned face was wrinkled with apprehension. "She thinks you should see the world andmake something of yourself."

"That would be nice." Lorelei's lips were still parted as she turned toward her mother in some bewilderment. "You'd like the city, wouldn't you?"

Mrs. Knight inquired. "Why, yes; I suppose so." "We're poor-poorer than we've ever been. Jim will have to work, and so will you." "I'll do what I can, of course; butdon't know how to do anything. I'm afraid I won't be much help at first." "We'll see to that. Now, run along, dearfe." When she had gone Peter gave a grunt of conviction. 'She is pretty," he acknowledged; "pretty as a picture, and you certainly dress her well. She'd ought to make a good actress." Jim echoed him enthusiastically. "Pretty? I'll bet Bernhardt's got nothing on her for looks. She'll have a brownstone but on Fifth avenue and see if she don't." "When do you plan to leave?" faltered the father.

Mrs. Knight answered with some satisfaction: "Rehearsals commence in May."

CHAPTER II.

Mr. Campbell Pope was a cynic. He had cultivated a superb contempt for those beliefs which other people cherish. Most men attain success through love of their work; Mr. Pope had become an eminent critic because of his hatred for the drama and all things dramatic. Nor was he any more enamored of journalism, being in truth by

"We Were Just Talking About You,"

He Said. nature bucolic, but after trying many occupations and failing in all of them he had returned to his desk after each excursion into other fields. First-night audiences knew him now, and had come to look for his thin, sharp features. His shapeless, wrinkled suit. that resembled a sleeping bag; his flan- rifice to these ju-jus has been responnel shirt, always tieless and frequently sible for many murders. collarless, were considered attributes of genius; and, finding New York to be amazingly gullible, he took a certain delight in accentuating his eccentricities. At especially prominent pre-

West Africa has always been the laughed.

are believed in and wonderful powers had been responsible for their murare attributed to silly, inanimate ders. things called "ju-jus," "fetish," or The members of this awful society "medicines." The idea of human sac-Cannibalism has always existed ject of their crimes was not the mere among the natives, but until quite recently it has been so secret and so ligious beliefs. hard to get at that the British governors of the district have been baffied in their attempts to suppress it. of the human leopards was called "bor- of flesh removed, the blood from the Several weird native societies were firma." This was usually a package home of superstition. Witch doctors witness into thinking that leopards were bound together by secret vows and superstitions, which made inquiries difficult to conduct. The real obpleasure of eating human flesh; it was rooted in superstition and weird re- of the society for consumption.

It comes as a shock to civilized peo- the Human Leopard society, the | er animals' blood and fat, rice, white ple to learn that there are cannibals | members of which periodically clothed of egg, and other tit-bits. It was only still satisfying their craving for hu- themselves in the skins of leopards, regarded as really powerful when anointed with human blood and smeared with human fat. Then it was supposed to bring riches and success to its owner and disaster to its owner's enemies, but its powers evaporated periodically, and so fresh victims had to be found and killed to obtain the

There seems to have been a superstition that as human fat and blood were good for "borfirma," so they would make people more powerful. Hence, when a victim was killed the flesh was divided among the members

The human leopards were volun-

July 5th to 22nd inclusive.

the least resemble the dashing "count-"Oh, they're real enough. I got that tural lands open to homestead "Isn't it true about the king of Seldovia? Didn't she wreck his throne?' "I never met the king, and I haven't examined his throne. But, you know, Round Trip Homeseekers' Fares to all registration points named in effect June 20th, July 4th and July 18th. Summer Tourist Fares to North Pacific Coast points, on sale every day, permit stopover for registration at Spokane and Wenatchee. Stopovers allowed enroute at Glacier National Park either on going or return trip. kings can do no wrong, and thrones But Mrs. Knight was insistent; her eyes glittered, her sharp nose was thrust forward inquisitively. "They less than five hundred dollars. She E.C. LEEDY, General Immigration Agent, G. N. Ry., St. Paul. M'nn. says if fellows want to be seen in C. E. STONE, Passenger Traffic Mgr., 3t . Paul, Minn. public with her they'll have to pay for it, and she's right. Of course she's terribly bad, but you must admit she's SEEDS Alfalfa & Sweet Clover & Faires for sale and rent on crop payments.

J. MULHALL. Soo City, lows

A Joy Table.

'Danse de Nuit.' They say it's the Mother made a "joy table" for her "Hammon, the steel man?" queried

"Our candidate," said the campaign orator, "stands squarely on his record. His life is an open book." "How do you know he hasn't torn out some of the pages?" queried a voice from the rear of the hall. Shifted Him.

"I object to coming right after the trained baboons."

"You're right," said the manager. "crowding simian acts together is always a mistake."

Terribly Hard. "We'll have hard luck in this place." "Why so?" "Nothing but soft drinks."

A Sensible

Thing To Do When the drug, caffeine-

the active principle in coffee - shows in headache, nervousness, insomnia, biliousness, jumpy heart, and so on, the sensible thing to do is to quit the coffee.

It's easy, having at hand the delicious pure food-drink

Instant Postum

It is made from wheat roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses and is free from any harmful substance.

Thousands who prefer to protect their health, use Postum with comfort and delight.

Made in the cup-instantly with hot water. Convenient, nourishing, satisfying.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

"We're Going to Make a Change."

His father interrupted harshly: "Now, cut that out. I don't want to go to New York, and I won't." Peter Knight tried to look forceful, but the expression did not fit his weak, complacent features. When he had succeeded in fixing a look of determination upon his countenance the result was an artificial scow! and a palpably false pout. Wearing such a front, he continued: "When I say 'no' I mean it, and the subjec' is closed. I like Vale.

I know everybody here, and everybody knows me.' "That's why it's time to move," said Jim, with another unpleasant curl of his lip. "As long as they didn't know you you got past. But you'll never hold another office." "Indeed! My record's open to inspection. I made the best sheriff in-" "Two years. Don't kid yourself, pa. You got into the mud, but you didn't go deep enough to find the frogs. Fo-

Mr. Knight breathed deep with indignation. "Senator Fogarty is my good friend. I won't let you question his honor, although you do presume to question garty got his, didn't he?"

"Of course he's your friend; that's why he's fixed you for this New York "'Department of water supply, gas and electricity," sneered Peter.

hundred a year. A clerk-at my age!" "Say, d'you suppose Tammany men live on their salaries?" Jimmie inquired. "Wake up! This is your chance to horn into the real herd. In New York politics is a vocation; up here it's a vacation-everybody tries it once, like music lessons. If you'd been hooked up with Tammany instead of the state machine you'd have been taken care of." At this juncture Mrs. Knight, having finished the supper dishes and set her bread to rise, entered the shoddy parior. Jim turned to her, shrugging his shoulders with an air of washing his hands of a disagreeable subject. "Pa's weakened again," he explained.

"He won't go." "Me, a clerk-at my age!" mumbled His wife spoke with brief conclusive

"I wrote and thanked Senator Fogarty for his offer and told him you'd accept." "You-what?" Peter was dumfound-

"Yes,"-Mrs. Knight seemed oblivitively at his wife. It was not often ous of his wrath-"we're going to make a change." Mrs. Knight was a large woman well advanced beyond that indefinite turning point of middle age; in her unattractive face was none of the easy good nature so unmistakably stamped upon her husband's. Peter J., under easy living had grayed and fattened; what had once been a measure of good | paused a moment to say. "I'll be back looks was hidden now behind a flabby. indefinite mediocrity which an unusual carefulness in dress could not disguise. His wife was of a totally different akin to shame; but Jim evinced only a stamp, showing evidence of unusual force. Her thin lips, her clean-cut nose inwardly acknowledged that the moth- mieres he affected a sweater underbetokened purpose; a pair of alert, un- er had spoken less than half the truth, neath his coat, but that was his nearest pleasant eyes spoke of a mental activ- for the girl was extravagantly, be approach to formal evening dress. known to exist. The most active was containing the blood of a rooster, oth-

ity that was entirely lacking in her | witchingly attractive. Her face and | Further concession to fashion he made | and-I don't like bad women. New | a personal interview, so I built a story nized as the source of what little where and under any circumstances:

prominence he had attained. "Yes, we're going to make a change."

work. There's Lorelel to help." "She's too pretty," said the mother.

"What's the difference? It won't hurt her to wash dishes. She wouldn't have to keep it up forever, anyhow;

You need some plain talk Peter. I don't often tell you just what I think. but I'm going to now. You're past fifty; you've spent twenty years puttering around at politics, and what The reformers are in at last, and you're out for good. You had your chance and you missed it. You're the party." ran on evenly:

"The party used you just as long as you could deliver something, but you're down and out now, and they've thrown you over. Fogarty offers to pay his debt, and I'm not going to refuse his help."

"Lorelei?"

going to make us rich. But she can't do it in Vale."

fifteen hundred-"

"Good Lord! What makes you think "Do you remember that Miss Donald summer? She's an actress." "No!" Mr. Knight was amazed. "She told me a good deal about the show business. She said Lorelei wouldn't have the least bit of trouble getting a position. She gave me a note to a manager, too, and I sent him Lore-

"Really?" "Yes; he's looking for pretty girls

"That show? Why, that was-rotten. It isn't a very decent life, either." "Don't worry about sis," advised Jim. "She can take care of herself, and she'll grab a millionaire surewith her looks. Other girls are doing the right idea."

more."

At this intelligence Mr. Knight burst forth indignantly:

"Bergman writes," continued Mrs. Knight, "that Lorelei wouldn't have to go on the road at all if she didn't care to. The real pretty show-girls stay right in New York."

Peter Knight pinched his full, red

"Have you talked to her about it?"

In Peter Knight's eyes, as he gazed

Owing to the dearth of new produc-

ions this summer, Pope had under- est woman in Europe, for she can nei- her some of the best that I had in fied homeliness of her parents and taken a series of magazine articles de- ther act, sing nor dance. However, stock. Her photographer did the rest." scriptive of the reigning theatrical she's become the rage, so I had to inbeauties, and, while he detested women in general and the painted favorites Miss Knight has made a legitimate an, entered. She greeted Pope corof Broadway in particular, he had success as far as she has gone." forced himself to write the common lent opposition to everything about her. laudatory stuff which the public demanded. Only once had he given free since his entrance. He did not wonder rein to his inclinations and written at the prominence her beauty had brought her, for even at this close don't leave on my account." She diswith a poisoned pen. Tonight, however, as he entered the stage door of range her make-up could not disguise appeared into the lavatory, and Bergman's Circuit theater, it was with her loveliness. The lily had been emerged a moment later in a combing painted, to be sure, but the sacrilege | jacket. "Lorelei's got her nerve to was not too noticeable; the lips were talk to you after the panning you gave Regan, the stage-door tender, better known since his vaudeville days as glaringly red now, but the expression Demorest," she continued. "Aren't 'The Judge," answered his greeting with a lugubrious shake of a bald head. "I'm a sick man, Mr. Pope. Same old trouble." "M-m-m. Kidneys, isn't it?"

"No. Rheumatism. I'm a beehive warmin' with pains." The Judge leaned forward, and a strong odor of whisky enveloped the cellar. "Could you slip me four bits for some liniment?" The critic smiled. "There's a dollar, Regan. Try Scotch for a change. It's

And don't breathe toward a lamp, or you'll ignite." The Judge laughed wheezingly. "I do take a drop now and then. See here, you know all the managers, Mr. Pope. Can't you find a job for Lottie better for you than these cheap blends.

Devine?" "Lottie Devine. Why, she's your wife, isn't she? She's a trifle old, I'm afraid."

"Huh! She wigs up a lot better'n some of the squabs in this troupe. Believe me, she'd fit any chorus.' "Why don't you ask Bergman?" Mr. Regan shook his hairless head. 'He's dippy on 'types.' This show's full of 'em; real blondes, real brunettes. bold and dashin' ones, tall and statelies, blushers, shrinkers, laughers, and sadlings. He won't stand for make-up: he wants 'em with the dew on. They've got to look natural for Bergman. That's who had entered the stage door and were hurrying down the hall. "I've come to interview one of Bergman's 'types;' that new beauty, Miss some of 'em now." He nodded toward a group of young, fresh-cheeked girls

Knight. Is she here yet?" "Sure; her and the back-drop, too. She carries the old woman for scenery." Mr. Regan took the caller's card and shuffled away, leaving Pope to watch the stream of performers as they entered and made for their quarters. There were many women in the number, and all of them were pretty. Most of them were overdressed extremes of fashion; a few quietly garbed ladies and gentlemen entered the lower dressing rooms reserved for the principals. Meanwhile he exchanged greetings with the star-a clear-eyed man with her experience. "We're up-state people, the face of a scholar and the limbs of you know. Mr. Bergman was looking an airtight limousine one of these days, an athlete. The latter had studied for for types, and I seemed to suit, so I the law; he had the drollest legs in the got an engagement at once. The newsbusiness, and his salary exceeded that papers began to mention me, and when of Supreme court justice. They were he produced this show he had the part talking when Mr. Regan returned to of the Fairy Princess written in for tell the interviewer that he would be me. It's really very easy, and I don't received. do much except wear the gowns and Pope followed to the next floor and speak a few lines." entered a brightly lighted, overheated dressing room, where Lorelei and her mother said, chidingly. mother were waiting. It was a glaring, stuffy cubbyhole ventilated by put in. means of a hall door and a tiny window opening from the lavatory at the deed she is, and she's bound to sucrear. Along the sides ran mirrors, beceed. Of course, she hasn't had any neath which was fixed a wide make-up experience to speak of, but there's shelf. One section of the wall was demore than one manager that's got his voted to telegraph and cable forms, eye on her." The listener inwardly bearing messages of felicitation at the cringed. "She could be starred easy, opening of "The Revue of 1913." A and she will be, too, in another seazoologist would have found the display uninteresting; but a society reporter would have reveled in the names-and the conversation. He did not like the elder woman's face, nor her voice, nor especially in the sentiments-inscribed upon the yellow sheets. Some were adher manner. She impressed him as another theatrical type with which he dressed to Lorelei Knight, others to Lilas Lynn, her roommate. Pope found Lorelei completely dressed, in expectation of his arrival. She wore the white and silver first-act costume of the Fairy Princess. Both she and her mother were plainly nonplused at the appearance of their caller; but Mrs. Knight recovered quickly from the shock and said agreeably: "Lorelei was frightened to death at your message yesterday. She was al- Pope." most afraid to let you interview her after what you wrote about Adoree Demorest." Pope shrugged. "Your daughter is altogether different to the star of the described her?" Palace Garden, Mrs. Knight. Demorest trades openly upon her notoriety lady. I wouldn't humiliate myself by erra Leone.

man flesh. Yet proofs have been dis- waylaid victims previously decided covered that such cannibals exist in upon and attacked them with threecertain districts of West Africa, espe- pronged knives, so that the wounds cially in the bush regions around Si- looked as if they had been made with claws. The reason for their wearing the skins was to deceive any possible

HUMAN "LEOPARDS" WIPED OUT

The particular "medicine" or fetish

blood and fat.

tarily branded by having a small piece wound being smeared upon the "bor-