WHY A DEMOCRAT OPPOSES WILSON.

Democrats were considerably disturbed a few days ago when Congressman J. W. Fordney, of Michigan, placed in the Congressional Record a long and vigorously worded letter written by Mr. Louis E. Rowley, of Lansing, Michigan, who was an ardent supporter of Woodrow Wilson in 1912 but who will support Charles E. Hughes in 1916. A portion of the letter read as follows: "Speaking as a democrat, I would not give my vote to endorse such a record made if Thomas Jefferson had endorsed it a thousand times. I say it sadly, but in any respects Woodrow Wilson has made the most undemocratic president the country has ever had—undemocratic alike in his temper and in his conception of the function of his office.

"If a republican president had done the arbitrary, inconsistent, and incredibly maladroit things which Wilson has done from the very outset of his presidential career, the democratic leaders and press would long ago have united in a deafening demand for his summary impeachment as an intolerable dictator. They are only prevented from doing so now by the fact that over his head flies the democratic flag, which in the stress of a presidential contest they prefer to the flag of the country.

"But I cannot take such a narrow, partisan view of my responsibility as an American voter. We are passing through one of the most tremendous crises in world history. Tempest weather is still threatening. Even the signing of a peace concordat in Europe may increase rather than diminish our national difficulties by precipitating a revolutionary tumult that will rival the war in its world-convolving consequences. In any event the end of the war will bring momentous economic and international changes. If there was ever a time when the United States needed wise, strong, and steadfast statesmanly guidance, it is in these destiny-fraught days.

"Fortunately, in the midst of our national anxieties and bewilderment one rock of assurance rears its head. It is the figure of that courageous, statesman, Charles Evan Hughes, masterful, and forthright American "He is a tried and proved certainty," is the tribute which was paid to him by the Democratic New York World over eight years ago.

"No one has ever accused him of rhapsodizing or trimming in the presence of grave public perils. No one has ever questioned his intellectual conscientiousness.

"He owes all of his national prominence to the independence, the directness, and the unhesitating thoroughness of his political action. Never in all his public career a bidder for popularity, he has nevertheless been taken by the people and advanced to the highest official position. By consequence, his career is one of the great examples, one of the great inspirations, of our country. All of which goes to prove that he has the quality of a representative mind—the mind of a real leader to whom the people instinctively turn in a time of national need.

"I shall therefore vote for Charles Evan Hughes with the same patriotic confidence that I voted for Grover Cleveland."

Chief Justice White sat down hard upon the plan to make Judge Brandeis one of the Mexican joint commission. Another man whom the president had picked to be a member of the board declined with thanks—and the job of selecting the arbitrators was passed over to Secretary Lansing. Negotiating with Carranza is evidently not to be classed as the favorite indoor sport—to say the least. However, there must be plenty of "deserving democrats" willing to take the job.

Farmers in the States bordering on Canada, who have been watching the tremendous strides taken by Canada in taking a commanding position in the American market, will not let the "he kept us out of war" nonsense blind them to their own interests. For instance, Canadian shipments of meats of all kinds to the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, under the republican tariff law, totaled $121,267. During the fiscal year 1914, nine months of which was under the democratic tariff law, these shipments totaled $2,530,000, displacing over 22,000,000 pounds of meats produced in America. During the fiscal year 1915, in addition to supplying British and Canadian troops with meats, Canada sent us over $5,400,000 worth of her meat products, displacing over 40,000,000 pounds of the American products. If the cessation of the European war finds us with democratic free trade in operation, Canada will have a high old time with our market for meats.

If the country is to be engulfed by a great railroad strike, we neutrals can at least have the crowning satisfaction of cussing both sides and everybody concerned.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Northwestern has had considerable trouble at various times with subscribers who come in or write to settle their subscription accounts and maintain that they ordered the paper stopped when their time was up. Many of these cases the present management knows nothing about, and it does not seem fair that it should lose what is rightfully due it on account of an arrangement made with the former publisher and of which no record exists.

To avoid any more misunderstandings The Northwestern will, beginning September 1, on the 1st and 10th of each month mail a notice of expiration to every subscriber whose subscription expires on or about these dates.

This plan involves considerable extra work and expense and we trust that it will have the desired effect, and save this firm and our subscribers any annoyance in the future.

Please understand that the cards mailed will not be a request to settle, but merely a notice of expiration, and the paper will continue to be sent to your address unless we are otherwise notified and the subscription settled to date.

Does Prohibition Save the Boy?

The Promise:

State Prohibition is being urged on the citizens of Nebraska on the plea that it will save the boy. Let us see whether Prohibition has saved the boys of Kansas, where state Prohibition has been tried for 35 years.

The Actual Result:

KANSAS,	Sentenced boy inmates Oct. 1, 1915:
	Reformatory 330
	Boys' Industrial School . . . 264
	Total for Kansas 594
NEBRASKA,	Sentenced boy inmates Oct. 1, 1915:
	(No Reformatory) none
	Boys' Industrial School . . . 199
	Total for Nebraska 199

[The figures for Kansas were compiled by Chas. M. Harger, Chairman of the Kansas State Board of Corrections, and the figures for Nebraska were compiled by the Board of Commissioners of State Institutions.]

Why Do Three Times as Many Boys Go Wrong in Kansas?

J. K. Coddling, warden of the Kansas penitentiary, lays the blame on "The Little Alley Joints" that exist all over Kansas, where, he says, men and boys congregate night after night to play poker, shoot craps, and indulge in debauchery.

[See the warden's report on page 43 of the Proceedings of the Kansas Conference of Charities and Corrections, held at Lawrence, Kansas, November, 1915.]

Judge Roy T. Osborne, of Independence, Kansas On page 13 of the same report, says:

"In the little more than ten years the juvenile court has been established in Kansas, children under sixteen years of age, in this state, have committed practically every crime in the calendar, including murder in the first degree. * * * It is astounding to observe the absolute indifference of many parents to the moral welfare of their offspring. * * * In nearly every community there are places and forms of amusement unwholesome for children." * * *

M. G. McKenzie, Chaplain of the Reformatory in Kansas Says on page 59 of the First Biennial Report, Kansas State Board of Corrections:

"Of these boys, 202 acknowledged they drank more or less; 275 used tobacco, 77 gambled. Most of these boys ran around considerable, and were away from home, when they got into trouble; 265 were from homes broken by death or divorce." * * *

THE ALLEY JOINT in Kansas is the corrupting influence that lands so many Kansas boys in the Reformatory and Industrial School.

Prohibition Breeds the Alley Joint.
