E. M. Marville was up from Hamilton county on business last Friday. Mr. Marville told the carrier that he had rented A. B. Outhouse's fine place nine miles up the valley. Mr. Marville is lucky to get this farm for it is one of the best farms and stock ranches in the county.
Mrs. Davenport, of Tarkio, Mo., visited with her son, Wm., on route two last week. She also visited at the Dubry home at Loup City while here. Mrs. Davenport formerly lived here on route one about ten years ago.
Friday the Wiggle Creek neighborhood will dedicate their new high school building. This is the only high school building on route two. There are ten grades in the school. Several have already asked and been granted permission to let their children go to this school instead of sending them to Loup City, this way they are home every night and the farmers can get some help from the boys and girls after school hours. The school is heated by a furnace.
Route two was visited by a heavy rain Saturday night. This time the entire route was covered. It was very heavy from John Sheehan's in a northeasterly direction past the Wm. Hawk school house. The wind broke Mr. Hawk's windmill down and broke it to pieces, pulled up the anchor posts and also blew the dining room door open of his home and threw the table across the room. Their little boy fell down cellar but fortunately he was not hurt. The Brown creek was out of its banks. From one to two inches of rain fell in less than fifteen minutes. At Wm. Miller's place the wind blew his barn to pieces also a new cattle shed, a corn crib and his wheat stacks, hay stacks and alfalfa stacks were cut in two. At the Henry Obermiller place it blew down two granaries with a good many bushels of oats. His chicken coop and windmill were also wrecked. It also blew the chimney off his house. Henry and wife were in Ravenna at this time. At the Fritz Bichel home it took the wheel off from his mill and picked the mill up and driving it clear through the roof of the big barn. High board fences were blown in all directions. All alfalfa, wheat and hay stacks were cut from one-third to two-thirds in two. The corn fields in the distance look like hail had been heavy. The cyclone wind twisted the corn in every direction leaving only a few leaves on the stalks. The storm took a northeasterly course straight for Loup City but had spent itself mostly before reaching that place. The cyclone took the same track that the one did a few years ago that did so much damage for Mr. Bichel. Others that had damage did to them during last Saturday night's twister were: Wm. Behrens, Ed. Obermiller, Wm. Henderson, Ray McFadden, John Peterson. Tons upon tons of hay were completely blown away. Trees were scattered everywhere.

Ernest Padlock lost one of his fine grey mares one day last week. Dr. Kettle was called and did all he could for the animal but it died.
Thieves were reported sneaking around this part of the country Saturday night. They had a Ford car and while near the Ernest Padlock farm, they got stuck in a mud hole and went to his barn and helped themselves to a team to pull them out but failed, so they left the harness in the car and took the horses and skipped off. With help, Ernest pushed the car on his premises until he could locate the whereabouts of his horses which were good ones. The Ford car was a new one and was from Ord and if it had not been for the rain the thief would perhaps went on with the car, but he found out he couldn't make his getaway and thinking that walking was too cheap, helped himself to the horse and away he went. Later reports are that the car belonged to a land agent of Ord and was stolen on last Friday night by this unknown party. Mr. Padlock notified the North Loup sheriff and the owner of the car came in to North Loup and had Mr. Padlock drive the car to town. Orin Conway, who makes his home with Padlock started out Sunday with Frank Trump and tracked the horse that was taken and found it in a pasture north of North Loup. It is supposed that the would-be robber took the motor-for Ord. A horse blanket taken from Ed. Stillman's was used for this someone to ride on.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Cattle Market Steady to Lower; Large Supply

HOGS ABOUT 10c LOWER

Fat Lambs About Steady; High Price Hits $11.00. Bulk Sells Upward From $10.60—Some Under That. Muttons Fully Steady—Ewes Bring $7.00—Feeders Uneven—Some Early Strong. Later Trade Rather Slow. Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nebr., September 12, 1916.—The week opened with the largest cattle run so far this year. A total of 540 loads or about 13,500 head, showed up. Monday's liberal supply included but a very few corn-fed steers, and it looked as if dressed beef men needed a few natives, and they paid about steady prices for the desirable offerings, although the trade was rather slow and uncertain on the short fed and grassy stuff that came in direct competition with the Western rangers. Some right good yearlings sold at $10.25, and other sales looked steady with the close of last week. There were between forty and fifty loads of cows and heifers on Monday's market.
Quotations on cattle: Good to choice beefs, $10.60@10.75; fair to good beefs, $9.90@9.75; common to fair beefs, $6.75@8.75; good to choice heifers, $6.75@7.25; good to choice cows, $6.50@7.00; fair to good cows, $5.85@6.40; canners and cutters, $4.50@5.75; veal calves, $8.00@11.00;ologna bulls, $5.25@5.85; beef bulls, $6.00@7.00.
Receipts of hogs for Monday were larger than for any one day of last week, arrivals being estimated at seventy-one cars or 4,800 head. Owing to the limited shipping orders and a real heavy run of hogs at Chicago, another break was in order for Monday's hog market. What hogs order buyers bought they paid prices that were around 10c lower than last week. Packers also bought their hogs at prices that were at least a dime lower and in some cases 15c off. Bulk of the killer hogs brought $10.25@10.40, while both shippers and packers paid as high as $10.70 for a good kind of mixed hogs.
Sheep and lamb receipts got back to something like normal for Monday, arrivals counting out 122 cars or in the neighborhood of 33,000 head. A great deal of the offerings were of feeder class, and while killing stuff was fairly plentiful, packers who wanted lambs badly took hold readily, and most of the fat grades changed hands in the first couple of hours.
Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $10.75@11.00; lambs, fair to good, $10.25@10.65; lambs, feeders, $9.50@10.40; yearlings, good to choice, $7.00@7.50; yearlings, fair to good, $6.50@7.00; yearlings, feeders, $6.50@7.00; wethers, fair to choice, $6.25@6.50; ewes, good to choice, $6.50@6.75; ewes, fair to good, $6.00@6.50; ewes, plain to culls, $4.00@6.75; ewes, feeding, $5.00@6.25; ewes, breeders, all ages, $6.25@9.00.

A National Institution

"Why, sir, the Union may be preserved from dismemberment by this proposed railroad."—Joseph R. Underwood in the United States Senate, February 19, 1853.
"The road has been built through an Indian country with all the tribes banded together and hostile."—General G. M. Dodge in Congress, 1868.

FOR half a century or more—ever since the first locomotive poked its nose west of the Missouri River—this railroad has worked continuously for the development of the territory which it serves, and for the improvement of the property.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent every year in telling the people of the East about the wonderful opportunities of the West. Prosperous cities and towns, thriving industries and fertile farms mark fifty years of notable progress. The Union Pacific System has led among western railroads in keeping its lines at the highest standard; whether business is good or bad, adequate provision is always made for maintenance of the Boulevard of Steel which links the East with the West. The Union Pacific System has also been first with practically every device which makes for security and comfort of travelers and for safety and expedition in the passage of freight. Success has justified this policy of efficiency, but the full measure of success has been attained only by the confidence and support of the people who live in the Union Pacific country, and to them this advertisement is directed in a spirit of grateful appreciation. The Union Pacific System is proud of its territory and of the people who live in its territory, and in turn is worthy of the pride with which it is regarded by the people it serves as a great national institution.
