George Pearson and Mr. Habieson were passengers to Grand Island last Thursday on No. 40, and from there to Scotts Bluffs to work in a sugar factory.
A. L. Fletcher is arranging to move the old school house he purchased on his lots north of his place on main street. We asked him what he was going to do with it and he said he was going to fit it up for the Sherman county court house.
Mr. A. E. Vinciellette, of the Fitchburg Enamel Company, of Fitchburg, Massachusetts, who with Mrs. Vinciellette, an old school mate of Mrs. George Sweeley, visited with the Sweeley family a few days when on his way to hunt in Alaska and British Columbia. Mrs. Vinciellette did not accompany A. E. to the north but visited in the west and has been visiting there for several weeks. Mr. Vinciellette returned here last Friday with a bag of big game as will be seen by the following list obtained by the different parties which he left at Cody, Wyo., to be dressed and mounted. He also has a large collection of kodak films that he had taken up there that will be very interesting. Mr. Vinciellette is the man who some time ago was attacked and badly mauled by a grizzly bear in the Yellowstone National Park while asleep in camp. I was very intelligently entertained by Mr. Vinciellette in his description of his trip and hunt. "Party of big game hunters in Wrangle. Copied from the Wrangle Sentinel. Young woman from New York who had never fired a gun previous to this trip kills big grizzly. A party of big game hunters arrived last Saturday from the Kapan country in British Columbia bringing a cargo of wild animals. In the party were A. E. Vinciellette, president of the Fitchburg Enamel Company of Fitchburg, Massachusetts; Dr. H. A. Lifton, of Milwaukee; R. A. Uihlein, secretary of the Schlitz Brewing Co., of Milwaukee; and a director in the Second Ward Savings Bank of Milwaukee, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Earle, of New York, who are on their honeymoon. Earl is a broker. The game bagged was as follows: A. E. Vinciellette, three caribou, four black bear, one grizzly, two sheep, three goat, two coyote. No Moose wanted as he is supplied with them. R. A. Uihlein, three caribou, five sheep and four Moose. H. A. Lifton, three caribou, six bear, four of which were grizzlies. Mrs. Earle, three caribou, two sheep, one of which measured forty-one inches, one grizzly, measuring eight feet, and three goats. Mr. Earl, three caribou, three sheep, and two grizzlies. He was not hunting for Moose. The party was out for five days, although not engaged in actual hunting more than ten days. Probably the most experienced hunter is Mr. Vinciellette. His hunting trips have been numerous. Last winter he was on a hunting trip in Wyoming. Frost, the man who acted as his guide in Wyoming last year was later horribly used up by a grizzly, although he recovered. Mr. Vinciellette is a most enthusiastic Elk, being a member of No. 1237 at Leominster, Massachusetts. Mr. Earl is a broker. The game bagged sets. Last winter while in Wyoming, he killed an elk having antlers with a spread of forty-eight inches. He presented the antlers to Leominster Elks lodge and also sent the lodge some choice elk steaks which was a great novelty in New England. The members of the party are urging Mr. Vinciellette to write an account of the present trip for one of the national sporting magazines. There was one killing by a member of the party that is truly remarkable and has caused considerable local comment, Mrs. Earle, who until her marriage recently, was a New York society girl is the most remarkable woman hunter who has ever gone up the Stikine. She is small in size not weighing over 100 pounds and had never fired a gun before leaving New York. On this trip she not only learned to ride and shoot, but became the most successful hunter in the party. One of the caribou she killed was the largest brought down this season, while one of the goats she bagged was also the largest killed this season. According to the guides Mrs. Earle is the seventh woman hunter to go above the telegraph regions. It was only through other members of the party that the reporter managed to learn of her remarkable progress as a huntswoman. We greatly regret that space will not permit us to print a full account of Mrs. Earle's experience in killing a large grizzly. It is most exciting and would take first place in the sporting magazine.

COLLEGIAN
NOCKABOUT
OVERCOATS

THE Nockabout is the answer of Twentieth Century Efficiency to the twentieth century need for an overcoat suitable for all purposes and purses. It was made possible by elimination of the nonessentials—the linings—making a much less expensive and much more serviceable garment than the modern art of tailoring has ever evolved. By further cutting out the nonessentials, Nockabout Overcoats can be briefly described as possessing

Style, character and expression; Weight, warmth and comfort; Solid and substantial construction;

Wearing qualities superior to any overcoat you have ever possessed.

WE RECOMMEND THEM TO THE MAN WHO WANTS

- A durable overcoat of standard make and quality;
- A warm coat for comfort and protection;
- A swagger overcoat with style and character;
- A good serviceable coat at low cost;
- An extra overcoat for rough weather, for the automobile, theatre, or dance.
- A utility coat for any purpose at any time.

IF YOU ARE THAT MAN, we have what you have been looking for. We will be glad to show our full line of Nockabouts in a variety of weaves and patterns, and in models ranging from a neat genteel type of medium length overcoat to the large and roomy ulster or motor coat.
