The Dog Trusts Its Sense of Smell Rather Than Sight

A dog has wonderfully good eyes, but it has a still more wonderful sense of smell. Our sense of smell is so very feeble that only after we have made a long study of animals can we realize how useful and delicate this sense may be.

Every creature forms its judgments mainly by means of the particular sense which is best developed in it, and which it has therefore learned to trust best.

Passing of Doe and Roe.

In the legal calendar the 24th day of October is worthy of notice, as on that day in 1852 two individuals, though personally known to no one and enjoying an excellent reputation among lawyers, ceased to exist in England.

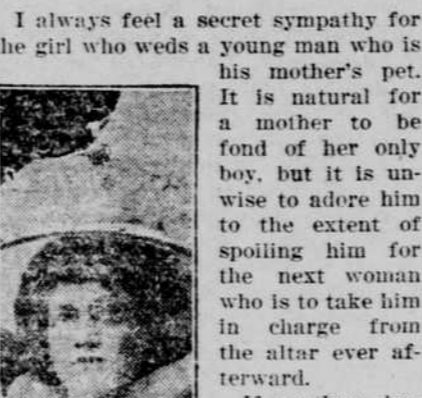

Grand Trunk Road of Northern India Wonder Highway of World

Search where you will you find no highway in the whole world so romantic as the Grand Trunk road of India. A stately avenue of three roads in one—the center of hard metal, the roads on each side ankle-deep in silvery dust—fringed by double rows of trees, it runs for 1,400 miles through the vast northern plain which skirts the Himalayas, from Calcutta to Peshawar, which keeps sentinel at the gate of Afghanistan.

BOY THAT MOTHER SPOILED

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

"If each man's secret, unguessed care Were written on his brow, How many would our pity share Who have our envy now! And if the promptness of each heart No artifice concealed, How many trusting friends would part At what they saw revealed!"

I always feel a secret sympathy for the girl who weds a young man who is his mother's pet. It is natural for a mother to be fond of her only boy, but it is unwise to adore him to the extent of spoiling him for the next woman who is to take him in charge from the altar ever afterward.

He had expected to go through life being waited on by the women of his household hand and foot. He comes into the house, tosses his coat and hat on the seat of the hall trunk, knowing someone will hang them up in their proper place.

He was in the habit of doing this under his mother's roof and it is quite unappreciated to hear his wife raise decided objections, declaring he was at the table to eat and exchange agreeable conversation at the same time with those about him and the family paper could be perused later as long and thoroughly as he pleased.

It has seen 100 generations of men come and go; yet today it is, to the eye, exactly the same as in the long-gone years when Nineveh was a proud city and our own ancestors gnawed bones in their caves.

Lot of the Poor Peasants in Roumania Is a Hard One

From time to time, since 1840, the Roumanian government has divided the land among the peasants. This land, then, must remain in the family. As families increase, however, this patrimony becomes less and less sufficient for the clan, and there is nothing left for some of them to do but to take service out. That is putting oneself in the hands of the manor-lord or his steward. The usual method is to assign the peasant a section of the manorial lands, to be tilled by himself and his family and oxen on "halves" of the crop.

Should the man complain, no work will be given him the next year; and if some of the villages round Gradobor one sees peasants, half-starved, lolling in the little inns and gossiping, not because unwilling to work, but because there is absolutely nothing for them to do; and they have no money to emigrate elsewhere.

On what the peasant does get, moreover, the taxes are exorbitant. A village mayor receives a salary of but $42 a year in order that he may be forced to live from one-tenth of the tax yield of his commune, and so see to it that everything is actually listed. So where a peasant has managed to scrape together something, it means for him an additional tax.—Christian Herald.

A Little Bit of Everything. The wreck records of the Baltic sea is greater than that of any other part of the world. The comparative mortality of different occupations shows that clergy and farm laborers have the lowest death rate.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a recent discussion Dr. E. Sauer, specialist, of this city said: If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind.

Poultry Pointers

It is well to encourage the new breeds when they are better than what we have.

Plenty of clean, dry litter in the scratching shed is essential if you would keep the hens busy and expect lots of eggs.

Notwithstanding that many good breeds have been imported, the fact remains that not one of them can be classed with our American production.

Be sure that fowls and growing chicks have plenty of fresh air at night and that calls for good ventilation in houses and coops.

Plenty of room on the roosts will prevent crowding and make the stock more comfortable during the hours that it rests and gains strength.

Chicken houses should be kept clean in winter as well as summer, fall as well as spring.

Be careful in handling mature geese that they do not strike you with their wings, which are very powerful and sometimes will break bones in the arm.

Don't forget that about three-quarters of every egg is water and, therefore, the fowls must have plenty of clean, fresh water at all times.

"Cause," rejoined Flossie, "I haven't smelled a Friday since I've been here."

Doctor Says Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People 200% in Ten Days

In Many Instances—Persons Have Suffered Untold Agony for Years Doctoring for Nervous Weakness, Stomach, Liver or Kidney Disease or Some Other Ailment When Their Real Trouble Was Lack of Iron in the Blood—How to Tell.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a recent discussion Dr. E. Sauer, specialist, of this city said: If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear.

Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance.

In such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fading vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next, take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous run-down people who were alling all the time double, and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good solid, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100.00 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will return your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed by most druggists. If your druggist or general store is without a supply, ask them to get it for you.—Adv.

Quite So. "The men behind this street-sprinkling system are a paradoxical set." "How so?" "They propose to raise the dust by laying it."

Kidney Disorder

The most simple methods are usually the most effective ones when treating any disorder of the human system. The mere drinking a cup of hot water each morning, plenty of pure water all day, and a little Anuric before every meal has been found the most effective means of overcoming kidney trouble. Death would occur if the kidneys did not work day and night in separating poisons and uric acid from the blood.

The danger signals are backache, depression, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, swollen joints or gout. Since it is such a simple matter to step into your favorite drug store and obtain Anuric, anyone who earnestly desires to regain health and new life will waste no time in beginning this treatment.

NOT MUCH OF A SCANDAL

Inquisitive Neighbor's High Hopes of Juicy Morsel of Gossip Came to Nothing.

An inquisitive neighbor who has an inordinate fondness for gossip recently overheard the little daughter of an acquaintance talking about affairs in her home that seemed to have a spicy smack. "What was that you said, Alberta?" she inquired. "I was talking about papa and mamma." "Yes—" "And I said papa beat mamma up the other day." "Did he, indeed?" "Yes, he did." "Well, what did he beat her with?" "With an alarm clock." "Ah, did your papa hit your mamma with the clock?" "No, indeed, my papa never hits my mamma." "Then what do you mean when you say he beat her up the other morning?" "Mamma usually gets up first, but papa wanted to go fishing, and he set the clock so he could beat her up in the morning." "Oh-h-h-h-h-h!"—Youngstown Telegram.

HUBBY WAS NO ENTERTAINER

All Right Otherwise, but Fact That He "Had No Conversation" Caused the Separation.

Sweet and, though sophisticated, apparently not much more than seventeen, she was explaining quite loudly enough for all the car to hear why she had left her husband.

"He was a good provider, but he just sat around all evening and had no conversation."

"Why did you marry him?" "His grandmother died, see, and he had no place to go, so he came to me and said, 'Say, if you want to get married, here's your chance, take me or leave me.' He was great and full of pep when out with the bunch, but in his own home he had no conversation."

"Are you sorry you had to leave him?" "Well, I had lovely furniture, but life is not all furniture, and what is the use of the costliest carpets if your husband has no conversation?"

"Do you think you'll ever go back to him?" "I'd go back tomorrow if he wouldn't sit behind a newspaper like a stuffed dummy in bedroom slippers."
