VOL. XV.

LOUP CITY, SHERMAN COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4 1898.

NUMBER 35

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

The Republican rally last Wednesday evening was much better attended than any political meeting held here this year. Everybody seemed anxious to hear a speech which was full of patriotic sentiment and not a continual howl of calamity. They were not disappointed. The program was commenced by the singing of an appropriate selection by the ladies quartette followed by the reading of an article from the pen of ex Governor Thayer, treating upon the subject of how the "Home of the Friendless got into Politics." The reading was followed by a song from a mixed quartette which rendered in a most appreciative manner the late production, in the form of a beautiful poem written by Colonel Bixby of the State Journal. This poem was, by special request prepared and read by Mr. Bixby at an indignation meeting held in the city of Lincoln for the purpose of denouncing the acts of Governor Holcomb and his select board of commissioners in their inhuman method of running or trying to run the Home, by withholding money rightfully belonging to it with which to purchase needed supplies. Then after a brief speech by A. Wall, the speaker for the evening, Prof. Edward Maggi, of the Union Commercial Club of Lincoln, was introduced. He was greeted with applause and for three quarters of an hour held the audience in close attention from the opening to the close. His speech was eloquent and Patriotic. So attentive were his listeners that it was necessary for the chairman to dismiss the audience after the speaker had taken his seat. The only fault we have yet heard was that he so interested the people that they wanted more. Mr. Maggi stated to our reporter that he had already made nineteen speeches during the campaign and had six more dates to fill winding up at Lincoln, on Monday evening.

ASHTON LOCALS.

Friday evening the populists held a political meeting in the hall here, but the turnout was small, and was besprinkled by many republicans. Have not heard of any conversions. Why is this!

Monday evening the boys proceeded to celebrate halloween in right royal style, and from the appearance of the main street on Tuesday morning there must have been some very muscular fellows in the party.

G. W. Marvel & Co., received a car load of coal this week for their own use.

We note that on Oct. 25th a patent was issued to Mrs. W. M. Smelter, nee Miss Alpharetta Fair, for a key guard, by the government. Good! Glad to learn we have an inventor among us.

Taylor & Conklin received a car of coal with which to furnish heat for their store and their several residences.

Emil Dold left Tuesday evening for Omaha.

A meeting has been called for the 4th, at the high school building for the purpose of starting a literary and debating society.

The Polish Society shipped a car of hogs Wednesday.

From all reports it looks very much as if Ashton was going to have a Catholic church next spring.

We hear that Mr. Kosnicki and Miss Pranschke are to be married on Monday Nov. 7th. May theirs be a long and happy wedded life is the wish of I. C. U.

Mr. Chas. F. Beushousen began a term of school in the Fairbairn district on Monday the 31st.

We understand Miss Blanch Paige is on the sick list this week.

Mr. G. McFarland, representing the J. I. Cass prop., was here Tuesday, on business.

G. F. Marlow returned Monday evening from a prolonged trip east. I. C. U.

The editors of the Northwestern showed their supreme ignorance last week when they said "Good hogs lard is worth more than oleomargarine. Hence, the oleomargarine is made out of the lard, the refuse, such as soap grease is made of." Oleomargarine is the sweet fat of cattle mixed with an extra quality of creamery butter.—Times Ind.

The above is conclusive evidence that the editor of the Times is either an ignoramus or a wilful prevaricator. Everybody knows that choice creamery butter is worth 20 cents per pound, and in some parts of the country more, and that Oleomargarine generally sells for from 7 to 8 cents a pound. Now Mr. Times where is the fool that will take 20 cent creamery butter and go to a heavy expense to make it ever into an artificial which will only bring him from 7 to 8 cents on the market. Give your readers more of such rot; it increases the NORTHWESTERN subscription list more rapidly. Following is the definition of oleomargarine as taken from volume 5, Chambers Encyclopedia:

OLEO-MARGARINE, also called butterine, is animal grease in disguise, and is the outcome of an ingenious Frenchman's notion that the butter diffused through the milk of the cow is due to the absorption of the animal's fat. Taking some minced beef suet, a few fresh sheep's stomachs cut into small pieces, carbonate of potash, and water, M. Lecoq-Monrice, subject the mixture to a heat of 113 degrees Fahrenheit; and so by the action of the pepsine in the sheep's stomach separated the fat from the other tissues. By hydraulic pressure this fat was again separated into stearine and margarine, and on putting ten pounds of the latter into a churn with four pints of milk, three pints of water and a little anatto or coloring, and churning the compound, it was easy to turn out a compound sufficiently like butter to pass for that article.

The above is a complete definition of oleomargarine. In it there is absolutely no "choice creamery butter." The nearest we find to it is four pints of milk weakened with three pints of water. Of course it does not state whether or not it is skim milk, but when we take into consideration the other ingredients one would naturally suppose that it was.

The state treasurer, Meserve, who was billed to speak here last Monday failed to put in an appearance, but sent as a substitute Congressman Starks' private secretary, Geo. Burr of Aurora. Although the weather was fine the turnout was small, there being 37 voters and about as many women and children present. Mr. Burr talked for about an hour and a half, dwelling at considerable length on the Bartley and Moore defalcation, denouncing the idea of expansion and approving the acts of the populist state officers. He denounced the beet sugar law, but said nothing about the fact that the Oxwards were now paying $5 per ton for beets which under contract of last spring were to be delivered at the factory for $4 per ton. He told that the state officers had, since the populists had control, paid off $700,000 of state debt, but never mentioned that, although Bartley had defaulted, he turned over to his successor $864,000 in cold cash. This amount turned over by Bartley would pay off the bonded $700,000 and leave a balance of $164,000 for the pops to commence business on. Mr. Burr suggested the names of a number of republicans whom he thought ought to have been nominated; in other words he left the inference that he, a pop, should have been allowed to choose the republican nominees. He said that in the large cities McKinley was a laughing stock for the theater-going people, that the actors were springing more gags on him than anyone he knew of, but mind you, he never mentioned the fact that it was a theatrical performer that assassinated our loved Lincoln. He captured the whole populist side of the house by telling a couple of disgraceful stories which caused the populist editor to laugh right out, and the ladies to wish they hadn't come out. In all he told twelve stories and made as many misstatements. It wasn't exactly what the people wanted to hear and so they were disappointed. We heard a leading populist say the next day that "it would be just as well for them not to send that fellow around too often."

How to Prevent Croup.
We have two children who are subject to attacks of croup. Whenever an attack is coming on my wife gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always prevents the attack. It is a household necessity in this county and no matter what else we run out of, it would not do to be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. More of it is sold here than of all other cough medicines combined. J. M. Nickle, of Nickle Bros. Merchants, Nickleville, Pa. For sale by Odendahl Bros., druggists.
