LIGHTNING AND LYNCH LAW.

How the First Wiped Out the Witness of the Other. Gazing northward from any train on the Big Four road as it runs across the fertile plains of Benton county, near Templeton Junction, Ind., 100 miles out from Chicago, no observant passenger will fail to see, perhaps half a mile distant from the tracks, the charred and shattered, sharp-pointed stump of what was once a great tree. Around it for a radius of twenty feet are piled old rails and pieces of timber. Well cared for and generally rich with heavy crops is the field in which the tree, one of the few in Benton, which is Indiana's greatest prairie county, flourished. But not so around the blackened trunk. The plowman and all who till the land seem to avoid any familiar proximity to it, and the rude barrier which surrounds it seems to tell that the spot was the scene of some uncanny doing. And so it was—the scene of the vengeance meted out to the perpetrator of one of the most terrible crimes in Indiana's annals. Sixteen years ago Benton county was not the well-populated and prosperous one it is today. It was a favorite place for Illinois and Indiana hunters to seek when the prairie chicken was plentiful. The wolves of Benton county, and even lions and other ferocious beasts supposed to have lairs there, were used to terrify children, and even some older people. A few years before only had railroads opened up the country.

In 1882 a Mr. Atkinson was one of the most prosperous farmers in Benton. With his wife he went to the nearest town one day late in the fall of that year. They returned home to find their beautiful daughter Ada, 19 years old, dead—murdered and mangled horribly. No clew was left by the murderer, but suspicion fell on Jacob Nelling, a farm hand employed on the Atkinson place. He was arrested, and, despite the fact that no actual evidence could be adduced, so great was the indignation aroused against him that he was hurried overland to Lafayette, Ind., and lodged in the Tippecanoe county jail, which was guarded by troops, ordered out by the governor.

While confined there a man who now occupies a responsible position with a leading Chicago hotel was introduced into the jail as a prisoner. He was really an employe of a Chicago detective agency. He gained Nelling's confidence, and to him the latter related his guilt of the murder of Ada Atkinson. Nelling was advised by the lawyer he engaged to go to Benton county and plead guilty, the lawyer promising to follow and make a plea for mercy. Nelling was taken to Fowler, Benton county, on the day before the one set for his trial. Early the next morning his lawyer was waiting in Lafayette to take the train for Fowler, when he received a telegram telling him not to come. "Your client don't need you," it said. Nelling's body was dangling from a limb of the tree not far from the scene of his crime. A mob had broken into the jail a few hours after his arrival there and taken him to the place of vengeance. The tree never flourished after bearing such ghastly fruit. It was dying when a blast of lightning from the heavens struck and shattered it. And the barrier was placed around it, and there the stump remains, an object lesson or warning or whatever it may be.

Didn't Keep It. "Well, Mr. Slickers," said the doctor to a patient he had not seen the day before, "how are you getting along?" "Nearly starving to death." "Why, didn't you have the oysters?" "No, I couldn't get them the way you said, and I was afraid it would be dangerous to eat them any other way." "Why, that's odd. Couldn't you get stewed oysters easy? I told you you could eat stewed oysters with impunity." "That's just it. I could get the stewed oysters easy enough, but I sent to all the restaurants in the neighborhood for the impunity, and the blamed fools said they never had such a thing on the bill of fare."—New York World.

A FATHER'S STORY. From the Evening Crescent, Appleton, Wis. A remarkable cure for a disease which has generally wrecked the lives of children, and left them in a condition to which death itself would be preferred, has attracted a great amount of attention among the residents of the west end of Appleton.

The case is that of little Willard Creech, son of Richard D. Creech, a well known employe of one of the large paper mills in the Fox River Valley. The lad was attacked by spinal disease and his parents had given up all hope of his ever being well again when, as by a miracle, he was healed and is now in school as happy as any of his mates. Mr. Creech, the father of the boy, who resides at 102 Second Street, Appleton, Wisconsin, told the following story:

"Our boy was absolutely helpless. His lower limbs were paralyzed, and when we used electricity he could not feel it below his hips. Finally we let the doctor go as he did not seem to help our son and we nearly gave up hope. Finally my mother who lives in Canada wrote, advising the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I bought some.

"This was when our boy had been on the stretcher for an entire year and helpless for nine months. In six weeks after taking the pills we noticed signs of vitality in his legs, and in four months he was able to go to school.

"It is two years since he took the first of the pills and he is at school now just as happy and well as any of the other children. It was nothing else in the world that saved the boy than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

Comfort for Women. Some time ago Pullman's Palace Car company built three parlor cars for the B. & O.'s New York trains, and the radical departure from other cars of this character lay in the toilet room for ladies, which was eight feet in length. Recently the same company has built eight new sleepers for the New York-St. Louis line of the B. & O., and the designer of the cars has evidently been impelled by the popularity of the ladies' retiring room in the parlor cars to give to the ladies a vast deal more space than they ever had before in sleeping cars. These new cars are said by the Pullman people to be the finest they ever turned out, and the ladies' retiring room is exceedingly commodious, and contains, besides a long tier glass, a dresser with other toilet necessities, a mirror, and a long pier glass. The cars are finished in vermilion wood, decorated with inlaid mahogany work, and the upholstery on the backs and seats is entirely new and different from any heretofore used, being a sort of a moquette with a dark green border and a center pattern of bright color. A similar design of ornamentation has been applied to the ceiling, giving the car an arabesque effect. They are also supplied with all the modern appliances, such as wide vestibules, anti-telescoping device, air pressure water system and are lighted with Pintsch gas. A very pleasing effect is obtained by the oval windows of opalescent glass, the first that has been used in the construction of the sleeping cars.

Patent Office Management. The Inventive Age, published at Washington, D. C. has the following in its issue of October 15, 1898: "The condition of business in the United States Patent Office is deplorable. The only reason why it is not in as bad odor as the Medical and Supply Bureaus of the War Department, is because it is less conspicuous than they are. If the searchlight which is now turning the War Department inside out could be made to bear on the United States Patent Office there would be sensation, consternation and official decapitation."

Personal knowledge of unlawful, arbitrary and seemingly malicious official actions by Commissioner Duell and Assistant Commissioner Greeley seem to warrant us in joining the Age to demand a congressional investigation of the Patent Office management.

STORIES OF RELIEF.

Two Letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. JOHN WILLIAMS, Englishtown, N. J., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot begin to tell you how I suffered before taking your remedies. I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without falling. I had womb trouble and such a bearing-down feeling; also suffered with my back and limbs, pain in womb, inflammation of the bladder, piles and indigestion. Before I had taken one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great deal better, and after taking two and one-half bottles and half a box of your Liver Pills I was cured. If more would take your medicine they would not have to suffer so much."

Mrs. JOSEPH PETERSON, 513 East St., Warren, Pa., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb. I had the backache constantly, also headache, and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I could not do anything."

"I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sannative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me."

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO., 167 Dearborn St., Chicago: DEAR SIR—Your bottle of "5 DROPS" received. It was for an old friend, Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Martinovon, Wis. He has had Rheumatism in his chest, suffering a great deal of pain, so much so that it affected his heart, and he could not sleep on account of a smothered feeling. He had been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but obtained no relief until I gave him a dose of "5 DROPS." He rested well the very first night, and has ever since, and is gaining daily. I myself am 69 years old, and commenced taking "5 DROPS" last April for Rheumatism, which has troubled me for 49 years, also for a weak heart, from which I have suffered since I was 18. Since taking "5 DROPS" the Rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness has gone from my joints and my heart never misses a beat. In all my life I have never felt so well, and I owe my health to "5 DROPS." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard the world over, and could convince every sufferer that "5 DROPS" is all you claim it to be and more.—Mrs. D. T. Carver, Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill. Sept. 9, 1894.

I think the cure must be permanent; but if it should return, I keep "5 DROPS" in the house and I know that would stop it. It is good for so many things no house should be without it. Yours truly, Mrs. D. T. Carver. Sept. 28, 1896.
